VOTE EARLY TODAY!

The immense size of today's general election ballot—there are more than fifty propositions to be voted on in Los Angeles in addition to the candidates—will make voting a slow process. The capacities of all the election booths are very limited and but few persons can vote at a time. It is very important, therefore, that all citizens vote as early in the day as possible. The polls must close by law at 7 p.m., and if you defer voting until late in the day you may find that you will never be able to reach a voting booth in time. On another page of this issue voters will find a sample ballot marked in accordance with the recommendations of The Times. It will expedite voting considerably if this ballot is clipped and taken to the polls. You are permitted to take it into the booth with you for purposes of comparison.

EUROPE EAGERLY AWAITS NEWS OF AMERICAN VOTING

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—An unprecedented vote for an "off year" is destined to be cast tomorrow when the nation chooses the members of the Sixty-eighth Congress, which will convene in December, 1923, unless earlier summoned by the President. In thirty-three States thirty-four Senators will be elected. Of this number, thirty-one will be elected to regular six-year terms, beginning March 4, next, and three to fill vacancies.

One Senator, Frederick Hale, Republican, was re-elected to a regular six-year term in the Maine election September 11, last.

In 431 Congressional districts in the whole country Representatives will be elected, the other four members of the House, all Republican, having been elected in Maine.

While the voters have been reported in an apathetic state of mind in many parts of the country, it is not doubted that the total number of ballots cast in the

Teeth Drawn From Japan's Dogs of War

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Nov. 6.—Four great sea fighters of Japan's imperial navy, marked for the scrap heap by the Arms Conference at Washington, today are toothless dogs of war, with their twelve-inch guns removed and their turrets and mountings torn out, according to official announcement. The ships are the Kashima, Katori, Iodama and Kurama.

On two others, the Aki and Satsuma, the work of the destruction is far advanced, while still other capital ships included in the roster to be set aside will be placed on the forced reserve list.

Ashore, as well as in her navy, Japan is at work making the Washington treaty effective. Port Arthur will pass into history in December and as a result 706 officers will be retired and 15,000 men dismissed, owing to the fact that retiring allowances were not included in this year's appropriations.

RICH PARTY HUNTED ON ATLANTIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Friends of Albert Y. Gowan, Chicago financier, and party of six Chicagoans aboard the inety-eight foot motor yacht Speejacks, fear the party may have met disaster in the recent storm which for several days has swept the barren reaches of the Atlantic.

The party left Gibraltar October 28 last for the Canary Islands. The distance is 705 miles, and as the yacht makes approximately 200 miles a day under ordinary conditions, it is now five days overdue.

More than twice the time has elapsed that should be necessary to make the short run. Friends of the party point out that even if the yacht were compelled by adverse winds and heavy seas to run at half speed, the vessel should have arrived at its destination. Las Palmas, Canary Islands, three days ago.

The course from Gibraltar to the Canaries, say nautical people, lies along the coast of Western Africa, where the Spaniards have been fighting the Moroccans, and the inhabitants are extremely hostile to white people. Shipwreck in this locality may be expected to be attended with unusual dangers, even in case a successful landing is effected.

Acquaintances of Gowan say this is the first time in the entire trip around the world that the little ship has been overdue more than a day or two, and considering the shortness of the run, five days overdue looks very serious.

A cable from Gowan at Gibraltar, October 28, stated a large supply of gasoline had been shipped by steamer to the Canary Islands, to be taken aboard there for the run to the United States. This gasoline, with other stores and supplies, has been waiting for several weeks.

Farmer Sells Moonshine and Pays Off Debt

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHIPPEWA FALLS (Wis.) Nov. 6.—When a Chippewa county farmer came to a local banker and paid $4000 due on the farm, the surprised banker turned inquisitor.

"How did you do it when the other farmers cannot even raise the interest?" he asked.

"I made it manufacturing and selling moonshine," the farmer replied. "I've got my farm paid for now and I'm through with the game. I wouldn't make another drop of moonshine on a bet."

STORM SWEEPING COAST EXPECTED TO GRIP SOUTH TODAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Storms which since Saturday have brought rain, snow and sleet to Western States, playing havoc with communication and isolating many communities, showed only slight indications of abating tonight. Where storm conditions have subsided the effects still remained largely.

In Pacific Coast States the forecast was for more rain and gales, according to G. H. Willson, district forecaster for the United States weather bureau. High wind warnings have been posted along the coast from San Francisco to Tatoosh, Wash. The storm is expected to reach Southern California tomorrow.

TELEPHONE TROUBLE

The Western Union Telegraph Company tonight reported their wires to be in working condition but the telephone Companies were experiencing considerable difficulty still in making connections with Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, Colo.

Associated Press wires were normal tonight in the West but only limited service between San Francisco and Chicago was available. Reconstruction crews were working over the West repairing wire damages and promised virtually normal conditions within another 24 hours.

It rained intermittently in San Francisco throughout the evening and the rains were heavy. An inch of rain fell here during the day.

HOOD RIVER (Or.) Nov. 6.—The mid-Columbia was in the grip of winter tonight. Snow flurries prevailed at intervals throughout the day. Higher levels back of White Salmon, Wash., were white topped. Indications pointed to snow in lower levels of the orchards before morning. Many orchards contain unpacked boxes of apples. No damage will result unless freezing the precipitation.

MEDFORD, (Or.) Nov. 6.—Adventurous Medford people who have returned from a trip to Crater Lake Sunday report twenty inches of snow there. Supt. Alex Sparrow has discharged all of his employees for the season except one ranger and has returned to the city for the winter, leaving Crater Lake lodge in the hands of a caretaker and the national park in charge of the one ranger.

REDDING, Nov. 6.—Heavy rains have drenched this section of Northern California throughout the day. Snow is falling heavily in the mountains and indications are this region will have a stormy election day tomorrow.

ALLIES FIRM WITH TURKS

Do Not Intend for Present to Lose Military Grip on Constantinople; Parley Postponed

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 6.—Though the Nationalist civil power is in control in Constantinople, the Entente does not intend for the present at least to lose its grip on the military authority. Great Britain and France are in accord on the point that the Turks must live up to the convention drawn up at Mudania and it is not doubted that the other interested countries will fall into line with this policy.

There is a desire, however, to meet Turkish aspirations within proper limit and to this end the Allied commissioners today issued the following statement:

"The inter-Allied high commissioners are firmly resolved to observe strict impartiality with regard to events which concern the internal policy of Turkey. The Allied governments will continue to apply the clauses of the Mudania convention and maintain

Hold-up Men Busy

Two silent-footed hold-up men last night relieved Joe Kuschner of $49.50 in a doorway at Brooklyn avenue and Breed street, the victim reported to Boyle Heights police. Kuschner stated that he was returning from a picture theater when he felt two guns thrust against his back and heard a quiet admonition to step into the darkened doorway and to make no noise. The footpads missed a wrist watch in their haste. All night Kuschner rode with the auto patrol in an attempt to locate the thugs.

Mrs. Hammerstein Missing

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of the noted impresario, disappeared today from the home of Miss Julia Farley, a trained nurse with whom she had been stopping three weeks. In a note she left for Max Rubin, a Columbia student, who had befriended her and visited her daily, was written:

"My dear Mr. Rubin: Thank you so much for all you have done for me. I am very tired and I don't think I can stand it any longer."

Man and Woman Robbed

Mrs. R. Rixon of 936 Potter Park Place was held up in front of her home at 9:45 p.m. yesterday by a man who, after robbing her of $5, attempted to tear the diamond ring from her finger. Mrs. Rixon's screams frightened the hold-up away.

At about the same hour, Fred Zellobach of 2647 South Harvard Boulevard was stopped at the corner of Adams street and Harvard Boulevard by a man in a gray sweater, who got away when Zellobach resisted his hold-up attempt.

Man Hit With Hammer

William Miller, 32 years old, a plumber, of 1212 Sunol Drive, Belvedere Gardens, was taken to the Receiving Hospital late last night suffering from severe lacerations about the head. According to friends, Miller was wrestling with a man by the name of Durant, who lives in the 6500 block on Whittier Boulevard, when the latter, losing his temper, picked up a hammer and struck Miller on the head, knocking him unconscious. Miller was treated by Police Surgeon Charles Sebastian, and Detective Dryden was assigned to the case.

RESCUERS BRING THIRTY-ONE FROM GAS TOMB ALIVE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPANGLER (Pa.) Nov. 6.—Between fifty and sixty miners were killed in the Reilly mine of the Reilly Coal Company, near here, this morning, according to an official estimate made public at midnight by rescue workers and company officials. This estimate was arrived at after rescue workers who had searched the explosion-wrecked mine for two hours reported they believed there were no more survivors in the working. Thirty-one rescued men are in the Spangler hospital.

Officials of the company are still uncertain as to the exact number of men who went to work just a short time before the blast.

They believe that the total was between ninety and ninety-five.

Rescue men who had attempted to count the bodies they stumbled over in the workings declare they counted approximately fifty, but said it is probable that a few more men perished in the unexplored chambers. They decided at midnight to remove the bodies before daybreak.

Scores of women and children who had been at the mouth of the mine since early morning were induced to return home tonight.

Examination of the mine workings by experts tonight caused officials of the company to announce that the property damage in the explosion was very small.

ISSUE NO STATEMENT

No statement will be issued regarding the cause of the explosion until tomorrow at least. It was announced that a safety expert had made a trip through the mine a short time before the men started working today and he reported to the company that the workings were free from gas.

The rescue men all told the same story as they came to the surface. They declared that bodies were scattered through the workings for more than 500 feet.

Mike Whalen, a cager, was working with his coupler, a lad named Cavendish, at the bottom of the shaft when the explosion occurred. Seizing the boy, Whalen put him on his back and started hand-over-hand on a water pipe for the surface, when almost half way up someone at the top started the cage from the bottom and waiting his opportunity, Whalen jumped to the top of the cage and rode with the boy to safety.

IN CHARGE OF RESCUE

J. J. Bourquin, in charge of the Bureau of Mines force, took over the rescue work on his arrival here this afternoon. The fan house, which had been wrecked by the explosion, was quickly repaired and the fans started to clear the workings of black damp. Mules were sent down on the cage to assist in the distribution of quantities of lumber used in the building of brattices.

Many of the rescuers suffered from gas and numbers of them were brought to the surface where, after receiving first aid, they insisted on returning to the workings.

EMBEZZLED MONEY FOR RACE BETS

That Henry J. Kaschub, former cashier in the engineering department at the City Hall, stole more than $11,000 of public funds entrusted to his care and squandered the money "playing the races," as he explained it, became known last night after Kaschub, from his sick bed at the County Hospital, had made a full sworn confession to the police, and had signed the confession when it was read to him. Kaschub's condition is said to be critical. He told the police that he made the confession "just to clear my conscience."

Detective Bean and a stenographer visited Kaschub at the hospital, and as Bean asked questions, the stenographer took them down together with the answers.

GAMBLING FOUR YEARS

"I have been gambling four years," said Kaschub in his confession. I have been short in my accounts about two and one half years. On Friday evenings I would study the race charts, and do my betting on Saturday afternoons.

In all those years I did not win more than $300 or $400.

When asked what amount he thought he was short in accounts, Kaschub said the last time he looked over his memoranda he thought he was about $3000 short. Detective Bean told him that the correct amount of his shortage, as so far discovered by the audit of his books, was $11,321.66.

"As I got deeper into the betting game," confessed Kaschub, "I would have done anything to get out of it. I first started to play the races for the fun of it. As I got deeper into it, I would have given a banquet to all of the boys in the office if I could have found a way to get out of it and to get my accounts straightened out. My wife knew nothing about it."

TELLS SYSTEM

RED ARMY POTENT FORCE

BY GEORGE SELDES

PETROGRAD, Nov. 6.—Where once ermined Romanoffs stood and reviewed processions of their imperial army a group of 200, representing forty-five countries, watched the army of the Red revolution march through the square of the Winter Palace today.

Among those who saluted the Red colors were a dozen American delegates to the Third Internationale, which is meeting in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the Russian revolution.

These Americans today saw a sight they never will forget. It was a metamorphosis of Leon Trotzky's army. From the rags of two years ago, from the remnants of men and material which have been at war at home and in foreign fields for seven years almost continuously, there arose today a new army of Trotzky. And the navy, too. A new cavalry, of which Gen. Budenny is still the head, galloped by, the officers and men shouting wild Cossack yells, waving white swords, which flashed golden in the feeble northern sun.

British armored cars and light French tanks followed. A sample was offered from all branches of service.

Each man had a new long coat. Each man of a regiment was dressed alike and the rhythm of marching feet, the snap of salute, the unison of faces turning toward the reviewing stand and the maneuvering within the square spoke of the discipline and order of a well-trained European army.

Overhead, ten army planes flew in formation, while a heavy seaplane dropped leaflets.

The display of material was prodigal. It was many times as impressive as that of war machinery, guns, armored cars, tanks and antiaircraft, being mostly war booty made in England and France and captured from Gen. Denikine and other leaders in the civil war.

The cavalry on fierce little horses with flags and many colored pennons, with a great waving of swords, furnished the thrill of the body. Of the 50,000 which paraded, 5000 were sailors and in memory of the men of the cruiser Aurora, which fired the first shot into the Winter Palace, and the sailors who spread the revolution, at sight of these civilians and reviewers burst into loud, long applause.

The 50,000 workmen with a military guard of honor, who paraded yesterday, today were onlookers. The shops were shut. The adherents of the soviets did not seem to care what the bourgeoisie thought about them or their show.

FORESEE DEFEAT OF POWER ACT

All Sections of State Are Against Measure

Proponents Release a Huge Slush Fund

Sprecksels Henchmen Launch Final Effort

In a desperate last-minute effort to put over the $500,000,000 Water and Power Act, the proponents of the plan yesterday pulled the purse strings of a huge slush fund by which they hope to turn enough votes to win.

Thousands of dollars were spent in Los Angeles and other cities of the State for full-page newspaper advertisements asking support of the dangerous measure. Misleading propaganda making a strong sentimental appeal but failing to give the text of the measure was distributed broadcast and paid speakers addressed many meetings.

An unbiased canvass of Los Angeles and all Southern California counties shows that the $500,000,000 bond issue will be snowed under by a four or five-to-one vote. Northern California is also expected to return a majority against it.

In the advertising put forth by the Sprecksels cohorts yesterday was a list of names of persons supporting the act. An analysis of the list shows that a large percentage of those who desire adoption of the measure are politicians, many of whom hold office at the present time and others having held office until recently.

Practically all of the business men of California, home owners, taxpayers and working people who would be called upon to pay the millions in interest on the half-billion dollar bond issue have gone on record as being opposed to it.

THE FACTS

In a final statement issued by the People's Economy League these salient facts were given:

"Adoption of the victous act would increase the bonded debt of California more than seven times, making it 50 per cent of the combined debt of all the other States in the Union.

"It would impose an added debt of more than $700 on every average-sized family in the state.

"Voting for this measure would be like dropping a mortgage for $700 on the value of all your real and personal property into the ballot box.

"The act calls for a bond issue for $160,000,000 more than it cost to build the Panama Canal.

"It gives a board of thirteen politicians $500,000,000 of the people's money to spend without check upon when, where and how it pleases.

"The finance committee, which issues and sells the bonds, must do so when requisitioned by the politicians. This committee has no check system in the matter—simply issues the face of printing and the bonds when ordered to do so.

"All issues, all details in printing and interest on the $500,000,000 bond issue must be paid by the people. The board may take money from the State Treasury in taxes imposed and principal payments, which will amount to $40,000,000 a year when the bonds are issued, or it may borrow the money by taking from the State Treasury the people must be taxed to make up the losses. If more bonds are issued the State will soon verge upon bankruptcy through the pyramiding of one bond issue upon another.

NOT PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

"Remember, this is not public ownership. The people cannot elect members of the board. They are appointed by the Governor. The people cannot vote upon any project to be developed nor can they prevent the undertaking of any project no matter how wasteful, unwise or extravagant they deem it to be. The people have no voice in this $500,000,000 experiment—they merely foot all bills.

"This is not like the Ontario, Can., hydroelectric system. There the people control the commission and all of its expenditures.

"This has nothing to do with the Boulder Canyon Dam. That is a project to be undertaken by the Federal government and it will be paid for by the government—not by California. Therefore, do not heed misrepresentations made by proponents of the Water and Power Act to the effect adoption of the act will aid in the building of Boulder Dam.

"Returns from the State-wide canvass indicate a landslide against the Water and Power Act. We hope that every citizen having the best interests of California at heart will get out and vote 'No' on this dangerous measure. The fastest upon the public by a group of politicians who seek to feather their own nests.

"While there is every reason to be optimistic, do not let the prospect of victory keep you away from the polls. It is the duty of every citizen to vote and an overwhelming defeat for the Water and Power Act will serve as a rebuke for those responsible for placing it upon the ballot.

"Vote early, and vote 'No' on No. 19."

OFFICIALS WILL ASSIST VOTERS

County Counsel Hill Says His Office Will Solve All Questions

Announcement was made yesterday by County Counsel Hill that his office would remain open all day today to aid voters in determining their rights at the polls. Deputies will be on hand during the entire day and voters who are in doubt may have their questions answered over the telephones. The phone numbers are 60831 and Main 7200.

REPUBLICANS TO CARRY TICKET

is anticipated. There are more than 1,500,000 voters registered for today's election, of which more than 961,000 are Republicans and 319,000 are Democrats. In Los Angeles county the total registration is 647,319, of which 359,557 are Republicans, and 73,975 are Democrats.

Opponents of the proposed $500,000,000 water and power act predict defeat for the Socialistic measure by a vote of five to one.

In Los Angeles city today the vote will be approximately 180,000—approximately 60 per cent of the city's total registration of 246,000—according to City Clerk Dominguez. It is thought that the percentage of the total vote in the county may be even higher than in the city.

The proposed increase in pensions for firemen and policemen is expected to bring out a large vote, due both to the merits of the measure and the active campaign that has been conducted in its behalf.

The general election campaign has been a hard-fought battle for virtually all contested offices, particularly in the campaign for Governor. The campaign of Friend W. Richardson, Republican nominee for Governor, has been handled largely by the country newspapermen of the State and by the State and county Republican central committees.

Thomas Lee Woolwine, Democratic nominee, evading specific comments on the issue of governmental economy and efficiency, has sought to bring support to himself by advocating a return of light wines and beer and by heated attacks on the Ku Klux Klan.

It is the conviction of close observers of the gubernatorial race that Mr. Woolwine's strength was greatest about two weeks ago and that his candidacy has been declining steadily in popularity since that time. This is believed to be due generally throughout the State to a recognition by the voters that the interests of the State will be better served by the election of Richardson, who has guaranteed to reduce governmental costs in the State and overthrow the wasteful machine that has been in existence in California for many years.

Because of the energetic work of various judicial candidates and their supporters the fight for four vacancies on the Superior bench, six justices of the peace and five police judgeships has been especially brisk. Virtually all candidates for the bench did not conclude their campaign efforts before midnight last night.

HOT "DRY" FIGHT

A close result is expected on the proposed prohibition amendment to the State Constitution, known as the Wright Act, which would instruct State courts and officers to co-operate in enforcing the Volstead Act.

At the conclusion of an unusually bitter contest in the Ninth Congress District, where the incumbent Republican nominee, Congressman Lineberger, is opposed by Charles H. Randall, backers of Mr. Lineberger expressed a conviction that the Congressman will win by several thousand votes.

The election of Assemblyman Elmer P. Bromley in the Seventy-third District and of Henry E. Carter in the Seventy-first District seems assured, although the contests in these two districts have been energetic. A majority of the legislative members from this county were elected in the primary election.

The polls open at 6 a.m. today to remain open until 7 p.m. Due to the large number of candidates and measures on the ballot results will be slow in coming in. The Times will furnish returns by stereopticon bulletin service and by radio. First returns will be flashed on The Times screen at First and Broadway within a few minutes after the polls close.

ROADS ASSERT OIL RATES REASONABLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Carriers responding to the petition of California producing oil companies for a readjustment in rates to Arizona points contended today before Examiner J. O. Cassidy of the Interstate Commerce Commission that the present freight rates from the California fields are reasonable.

Their attorneys asserted that the price of oil at the wells or at the point of distribution determined the volume of business, rather than the freight rates. The railroads are the Arizona Eastern, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the El Paso and Southwestern. Today's hearing concluded the testimony for the carriers.

REPUBLICANS CONFIDENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—With both sides strong in the expectation of victory, the Republicans by an approximate 200,000 majority and the Democrats by 50,000 or more, according to their respective claims, the big political camps throughout the State were resting tonight in anticipation of an epochal battle at the polls tomorrow. The Republican tacticians, Hiram W. Johnson, United States Senator, who is a candidate for re-election, and Samuel M. Shortridge, and Albert E. Boynton, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, held a final conference today preliminary to the election, and announced that a careful consideration of all data available pointed to a big Republican "success."

On the other hand, Frank M. Silva, manager of the Thomas Lee Woolwine headquarters said, after a conference with the party chiefs in Los Angeles, that Woolwine would be elected Governor easily, through the help of not only the Democratic, but the Progressive Republican vote, and that the entire Democratic ticket would go in with banners flying.

Senator Shortridge was of the opinion that the Republicans "will win a splendid victory in the Southland," as a part of the expected triumph of the party, while Silva predicted that the swinging over of the Progressive Republican vote to the Democrats will bring victory to his side.

Friend W. Richardson, Republican nominee for Governor, ended his campaign in San Francisco tonight after talking in Marin county towns today.

CITY CASHIER IS EMBEZZLER

Henry J. Kuschub Confesses $11,000 Shortage

Now in Critical Condition at County Hospital

cashier in the engineering department, handled thousands of dollars in cash and checks daily in fees paid in for city work. These he did not touch, he said, and accurate reports were made to the City Treasurer. He received also regularly checks from the gas, electric and other utilities companies, representing charges made to them by the city for street work done in replacing pavements which had been torn up by the companies in order to lay service pipes to consumers.

Kaschub had a practice of calling at the offices of these utilities companies for their checks, and for these he gave no receipts, as the companies considered their cancelled checks as receipts. When he needed money to place with local bookmakers on horse races, Kaschub said he would call on a gas company, for instance, receive a check for a sum due the city, give no receipt for the check, and no receipt was entered in his cash book at the City Hall.

WOULD CASH CHECK

Kaschub would then cash the check, in the usual way with the other daily batch of checks he turns in at banks, bearing the usual city indorsement, but would keep the proceeds of the check.

That he was able to carry on this system for more than two and one-half years was due to the fact that department cashiers at the City Hall must carry all checks they receive to near-by banks and turn them in and receive in return from the banks cashiers' checks. These are deposited with the City Treasurer daily as departmental receipts. Under the restrictions of the bondsmen of the City Treasurer, the latter is prohibited from receiving and receipting for anything but actual cash or cashiers' checks.

This fact made the presence of Kaschub at the banks with bundles of checks to exchange for cash or cashiers' checks a matter of daily occurrence and no suspicion was aroused when he presented the utilities' companies checks and cashed them, as they bore the usual city department indorsement.

Specific utilities' companies checks mentioned by Kaschub in his confession include one for $4475 drawn by the Southern California Gas Company and another check from the same company for $2764.59, the proceeds of both checks being kept by Kaschub and used by him in playing the races, he said.

The discovery that Kaschub was short in his accounts was made in a most unusual way. One day he fell in a faint at his desk at the City Hall and was carried unconscious to the Receiving Hospital. There it was discovered that in his pockets was currency amounting to several thousands of dollars.

City officials at once started an investigation and found that Kaschub was short in his accounts more than $11,000, and that checks from utilities companies had not been credited to them.

Under instructions from the City Council the Board of Public Works at once laid the matter before the District Attorney. An embezzlement warrant was sworn out and served on Kaschub, who was then unconscious at his home. This was two weeks ago. Kaschub was later removed to the County Hospital, where he is under guard.

Detective Bean has been at work on the case in an effort to secure a confession from the former cashier, and finally when Kaschub was strong enough he signified his intention of telling the entire story.

J. D. Currie, a stenographer, accompanied the detective and P. H. Montgomery, deputy city engineer, to the County Hospital, where the confession was made. It has been filed as a part of the records in the case.

The Board of Public Works has received notice from the company in which Kaschub was bonded that the company will make good on its bond, and the city officials have also examined and taken possession of the contents of Kaschub's safe-deposit box.

The former cashier said in his confession that none of the property in the box was stolen money, as all of the money taken from the city had been lost with the bookmakers.

Thirty Survivors of Mine Explosion Brought Out

Johnstown, and is the center of an important bituminous coal producing district. The Reilly mine was closed last summer by the strike, but resumed operations early in September. Normally it employs about 150 men, but Monday is usually what the miners term a slow day. There are many American-born miners in the working force, numbers of whom were caught in the explosion.

Hope that some of the missing men were still alive was reflected in reports which came to the surface that a brattice had been built of old timbers by the miners after the explosion cut off a part of No. 3 heading to the left of the main entry.

"Look behind this wall" had been burned in a smooth place on a timber by an acetylene lamp. Knowing that experienced miners would take every means to help their rescuers, this startling sentence was taken to mean that the men were still alive.

BRATTICE STILL STANDS

But no attempt was made to tear down the brattice, for the main entries were filled with gas and United States Bureau of Mine engineers feared that such a course would send the deadly poison to where the men, already weakened by hours of anxiety and unprotected by oxygen helmets, were hidden.

They hoped in a short time to have the entries cleared of gas when they said the brattice would be demolished. They determined upon this course after one of their canary birds, taken with them from Pittsburg, had died in the foul air.

At another point in the mine a heavy fall of slate from the roof had completely clogged the entry. Back of it, rescuers declared they could hear voices, and they attacked it vigorously in the hope of finding some of the entombed men alive, although they received no answer to repeated calls.

Rescue forces were made up of skilled miners from Spangler and vicinity in charge of engineers from the United States Bureau of Mines and mine rescue crew of the Cambria Steel Company, which arrived here early this afternoon. They worked unceasingly in short relays, bratticing the workings so as to control the gas and admit the pure air from above.

They gave no intimation as to when the work would be completed, but each relay, as it came to the surface, said they were making progress.

Other volunteers gathered the dead and injured which were scattered in the workings not far from the foot of the shaft. The dead were placed in a subterranean room and the injured, swathed in blankets, were taken to the surface. There a first-aid station had been established by Spangler physicians and the American Red Cross.

The crowd, which assembled almost immediately after the explosion, continued to grow until at nightfall almost the entire population of Spangler and of the surrounding mining villages had assembled.

Linemen and electricians began to string wires and place lights at advantageous points in order that the work might go on through the night.

The drizzling rain which fell throughout the day had no effect upon the crowd, which included the wives and children of many of the entombed miners. Some of them wept, but others stood in stolid silence, closely watching the cage every time it came up the shaft and occasionally thinking they recognized the outlines of a familiar form. They were so far away, however, and the bodies were so carefully covered, that recognition was impossible. But it gave rise to the belief among the people that all of the closely wrapped forms were bodies of the dead and fathered reports that no less than twenty-five of the dead had been recovered.

Mingling in the crowd were the ministers from all the churches of Spangler and a number of near-by towns. Conspicuous were two Roman Catholic priests, Father James Paulding and Father J. D. Cochran, who, wearing raincoats and rubber boots, sought to comfort weeping women.

They were among the first to reach the mine after the explosion, and in a short time were taken down the shaft to give absolution to five men near the bottom.

ALLIES FIRM WITH TURKEY

Replying to the last communication from Angora concerning the Lausanne treaty, the commissioners, while renouncing the wish to interfere with Turkish policy, express the hope that there will be only one Turkish delegation to the conference.

The Turkish Nationalist government earlier in the day handed a note to the Allied high commissioners here to the effect that the warships of all nations must ask it for authorization to pass the straits of the Dardanelles, the Havas correspondent has been informed. They must also salute the new government of Turkey.

So far as can be learned today, the Sultan has not abdicated. It is believed the British authorities are taking measures to protect him and the Prince, his heir.

DELEGATE INSTRUCTED

A telegram from Angora says the grand national assembly has instructed Ismet Pasha, delegate to the Lausanne peace conference, to obtain realization of the points.

(1.) The frontiers of Turkey to be in accordance with the national pact.

(2.) Greece to pay an indemnity.

(3.) Suppression of the capitulations, or extra-territorial rights of foreigners.

(4.) Modification of the frontiers of Irak (Mesopotamia,) and,

(5.) Complete independence for Turkey, financially, economically and politically.

Rafet Pasha, the new Governor of Constantinople has suppressed the Turkish Senate.

The Allied commissioners have refused to discuss the demand of the Angora government that only one warship at a time enter Turkish ports and then only with the consent of the Turkish authorities.

PARLEY POSTPONED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—As a result of the new situation created in Constantinople by the demand of Rafet Pasha that the Allied military occupation of the city cease, the peace conference called to be held at Lausanne, November 13, has been postponed, possibly for a fortnight, it was announced today.

Woman Backs Eyewitness of Jersey Murder

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW BRUNSWICK (N. J.) Nov. 6.—The story told by Mrs. Jane Gibson, woman of considerable mystery, the self-styled "eyewitness" of the double murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills on September 14 last, has been definitely corroborated, authorities said tonight. It also was unofficially reported that the grand jury would be asked to return indictments against a woman and two men. An attorney who has figured prominently in the investigation said preparations were being made already to combat the testimony.

The corroborating witness of Mrs. Gibson's story that she saw the rector and the choir singer slain while she was searching for farm looters on the Phillips homestead, Special Detective James Mason announced, is Mrs. A. C. Fraley, who lives near the scene where the two bodies were found.

Sigourney Smith, grave digger, who boards at the Fraley house, has been arrested by State troopers and the substance of his testimony is being closely guarded. When approached by newspaper writers, Smith declined to talk and has repeatedly declared that the detectives have warned him not to discuss the double murder.

In preparation for presenting the entire case to the jury the authorities today began a general requestioning of all persons who have previously been mentioned in connection with the case.

HARDING'S CALL IS PREDICTED

Tokio Rumors Forecasting Economic Meeting

Also See Fresh Effort to Reduce Armies

Assert Japanese Would Welcome Action

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Nov. 6.—Persistent rumors are prevalent in Japan that President Harding is contemplating calling another world conference at Washington for the purpose of adjusting the world economic situation. It is also said that the conference will not confine itself to attempts aimed at the stabilization of the economic situation, but will also strive to push disarmament a step further by tackling the question of reducing land forces.

No official information is available, but there is considerable discussion among higher officials of the finance department and the Foreign Office on the matter. This leads the press to imagine that perhaps the American President has instructed the diplomatic officials of the United States to seek Japan's attitude on the matter.

MAIN OBJECT

It is thought here that the main object is to hasten the ratification of the naval pacts reached early this year, especially ratification by France. Political students in Japan believe that if a suitable program for the reduction of armies can be worked out at Washington it would meet the excuses France made at Washington with regard to reduction of land forces. The United States holds the trump card, it is pointed out, since Europe must have outside help in reconstruction and America is the only one able to render the needed aid. American aid will be given only on condition that Europe ceases to be an armed camp, it is said.

The Japanese press during the last few days has been discussing the necessity of America aiding Europe, coupling with this the need for Europe reducing her land forces. It is possible they had an inkling of the plans that the State Department at Washington is working out for the summoning of another world conference.

JAPAN PREPARED

Japan is sure to welcome another world conference and will attend it without any of the preliminary misgiving she had when the late Conference for the Limitation of Armaments was called. With regard to the reduction of land forces the War Department has stated that it is not possible for Japan to make any further reduction than she has already planned to do—that is, to reduce her standing army by 50,000. Other government officials, however, think this need not be the last word on the subject and point out that the reduction by mutual consent of land forces among all the principal countries of the world will enable Japan to do so with safety also.

BURLINGTON TRAINS LOST IN WYOMING

BLIZZARD AND CRIPPLED WIRES ISOLATE THE PASSENGERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CASPER (Wyo.) Nov. 6.—Lost—two Burlington trains, Nos. 29 and 30, last heard of early Sunday morning south of Wendover, Wyo.

Somewhere between Wendover and Cheyenne, passengers on Burlington train No. 29, which left Denver Saturday afternoon for Billings, were still snowbound today as a result of the blizzard which swept Central and Southern Wyoming and tied up all traffic. Division headquarters of the C. B. and Q. here denied all knowledge of the whereabouts of the train which should have arrived early yesterday and was overdue some thirty hours at noon today. Train No. 30, which left here Saturday night for Denver, passed Wheatland at 3:30 Sunday morning and is believed to be stalled in the blockade below that point. Wire communication between here and Denver has been cut since Saturday afternoon.

FEAR FOR DISABLED SHIP IS LESSENED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 6.—Improved weather conditions today lessened the danger to the steamship Tomi Maru, disabled in the Pacific Ocean 1800 miles west of Seattle, according to radio advices here, and made it possible to begin repairs to the ship's rudder, broken during a heavy gale Saturday. The Tomi Maru, it was understood, will probably proceed to Japan, convoyed by the steamer Orondo Maru, which is standing by the freighter. The Tomi Maru, operating under charter to the Yamashita Kisen Kaisha, was en route from Puget Sound to Japan when disabled.

Fortune From Alaska Reaches Seattle Banks

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Nov. 6.—Gold bullion valued at nearly $500,000, virtually a ton of the yellow metal mined in the Seward peninsula district of Alaska, arrived here today aboard the Alaska Steamship Company's liner Victoria, making her last trip of the season from Nome and Bering Sea points.

Today's gold shipment brought the amount reaching here from the Seward peninsula during the 1922 season to approximately $1,000,000, it was said. The bullion was contained in steel chests which were carried immediately to local banks after discharge from the vessel.

The Victoria experienced stormy weather during the entire trip and was compelled to seek the shelter of the Inside Passage via Capt St. James ad Queen Charlotte Sound, instead of by way of Cape Flattery and the Strait of Juan de Fuca, her usual route.

GALVESTON IMPORTS OF OIL INCREASE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GALVESTON, Nov. 6.—Notwithstanding the reported decline in the production of oil in the Tampico and Gulf coast fields of Mexico, the imports of the crude product through Galveston for the month of October showed an increase over the preceding month.

The total imports of Mexican oil through Galveston and its subports, Texas City and Freeport, during October were 1,060,000 barrels, as compared with 707,000 barrels during September. Of this quantity a total of 891,000 barrels were imported through Galveston, as compared with 517,000 barrels during September.

Imports from Tampico to Texas City remained the same in October as they did in September, totaling 70,000 barrels in each case. Imports into Freeport, however, showed a decline, totaling 99,000 barrels in October as compared with 120,000 the previous month. Virtually all crude oil imports into Freeport are used as fuel for the big batteries of boilers in operating the sulphur mines in that vicinity. Crude oil brought here from Tampico is used for fueling ships and for local industries.

Coastwise oil shipments from Texas City dropped from 677,000 barrels in September to 332,560 barrels in October the report shows. Coastwise movement from Freeport and Galveston totaled 88,000 barrels, consisting of 18,000 barrels from Freeport and 70,000 barrels from Galveston. Neither Freeport nor Galveston made any coastwise shipments in September.

Exports of lubricating oil from Galveston dropped from 1070 barrels in September to sixty-five barrels in October. One cargo of 30,000 barrels of gas oil from Galveston, however, was recorded during October. The fact that there were no exports of crude oil from Texas City to Canada in October, whereas this movement aggregated 306,100 barrels in September, accounted for the big decline in exports.

HURRICANE DAMAGES BANANA PLANTATIONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONTEREY (Mex.) Nov. 6.—Floods and wind have caused enormous losses of property in Southeastern Mexico, according to information received here. A hurricane swept inland from the Gulf of Mexico, destroying banana plantations, and doing much damage to towns and villages in the States of Campeche, Tabasco and Chiapas. The terrific wind was followed by torrential rains, which caused rivers and smaller streams to overflow and inundate broad stretches of country. Complete reports as to losses to banana planters are lacking, but it is known that many of the larger plantations which were expected to yield large quantities of fruit during the next few months for export are in a state of ruin.

No reports of loss of life have been received.

GERMANS ASK HUGE LOAN FROM ALLIES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Late tonight it is learned that the German proposals which have been submitted to the reparations commission include the following:

An international loan of 500,000,000 gold marks ($125,000,000.) to be raised with the assistance of the Allies and used exclusively for the stabilization of the mark.

Germany pledges itself to raise a similar internal loan, though the amount is not specified.

Germany also pledges itself to stimulate German production.

The formation of an international financial commission to handle the loan in question, as well as the problem of the stabilization of the mark.

The result is that the hens lay their best at the season of the year when fresh eggs are highest and scarcest. WILSON HOME IS MECCA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Woodrow Wilson, if his strength permits, will greet women admirers Saturday in the Armistice Day pilgrimage to his home by the same group that led the demonstration Nov. 11, 1921.

Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrams, a leading spirit in the pilgrimage last year, when the war President falteringly bespoke his appreciation amid cheers from the army of well-wishers who gathered in front of the S-street house after his appearance in the "unknown soldier's funeral march is chairman of a committee arranging a similar, but larger demonstration Saturday.

Mrs. Abrams announced tonight acceptance by Henry Morgenthau, former United States Ambassador to Turkey, of an invitation to address Mrs. Wilson on behalf of the visitors. The committee has received word that a large delegation from Baltimore and other communities near Washington will join in the demonstration.

Since 40,000 persons went to the S-street house last year to pay tribute to Mr. Wilson, he has made few public appearances. He greeted delegates to the Pan-American Women's Conference and the American Pen-Women's League last April. Casual visits to capital theaters have followed. No intimation of the committee's plans has been given, but Mr. Wilson's appearance Saturday is anticipated by members who have optimistic reports from his physicians.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Abrams, Mrs. Huston Thompson, wife of the Federal Trade Commissioner, Mrs. Oliver P. Newman, wife of the former District of Columbia Commissioner; and Mrs. Steven Bonsal and Mrs. J. W. Copeland, wives of Washington newspaper correspondents.

NAVAL TRANSPORT CARRIES BIG LIST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6. — The transport Argonne arrived in port this morning from Hampton Roads by way of the Panama Canal and Corinto, and after discharging eighteen naval officers and the families here, left late tonight for Los Angeles Harbor and San Francisco.

The Argonne carried a total passenger list of 1129, the largest on record since the establishment of the Navy's intercoastal passenger and freight service. Included in the number are 1000 enlisted men, the majority of whom are assigned to the battle fleet and will disembark at Los Angeles Harbor.

Among the more prominent passengers on the Argonne were Mrs. Guy H. Burrage, wife of Rear-Admiral Burrage, destroyer force commander, and their two daughters. The family will make their home in Coronado.

CAMPBELL TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Arizona Governor Sanguine Over Future of Colorado River

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Nov. 6.—After casting his vote at Prescott, his "home town," Gov. Campbell, accompanied by Mrs. Campbell, will leave tomorrow evening for Santa Fe, N. M., to attend the meeting of the Colorado River Commission, which convenes Thursday.

"Adjudication of the rights of the several States involved to the use of the waters of the Colorado will be the main business of the meeting. If the conference succeeds in ironing out difficulties which now confront the commission long-drawn-out interstate litigation will be avoided, Gov. Campbell declares.

"The Colorado River project is just in the formative period," the Governor said. "Unless we can put the Colorado River to work we have reached the zenith of our growth. We have passed the high point in copper production and it will be impossible in this State unless we store water to ever increase our agricultural area.

"In Colorado, which until lately I always looked upon as a mining State, they have 2,500,000 acres in agriculture, most of it dependent on stored water. Today Colorado's agricultural and horticultural crops exceed twelve times its mineral production."

IRREGULARS SEEKING TO WRECK ERIN

Arson and Murder Are Tactics Now Employed Against Free State

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, Nov. 6.—Burning of the main postoffice in Dublin yesterday is incidental to a general attack on the essential services in Ireland.

This the irregulars consider a vital part of their plan to wreck the Free State government and break the treaty.

Business generally is being slowly strangled by the guerilla warfare, crime, interrupted communications, loss of credit, loss of confidence and unemployment. There is little buying or building, due to the danger of theft and arson.

Wealth has been leaving the country by millions for months. Railroads are operating about 70 per cent of their mileage and in some areas bridges continue to be blown up as rapidly as they are repaired.

The sex pale, which has protected women working with the irregulars, has been lifted and those caught serving actively in the future are to be imprisoned.

The activities of women have resulted in the success of many attacks costing the lives of a number of troops.

RECORDS LOST IN FIRE AT CONSULATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — All records and other property in the American Consulate at Chihuahua, Mex., were destroyed last night in a fire which consumed the building, Consul Ott reported today to the State Department.

COTTON PROTECTION SOUGHT BY HARDING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President arding has sent the following to Gov. Campbell of Arizona:

My Dear Gov. Campbell:

"Mr. Ely recently brought to my attention your letter relating to the disappointment of your people in Arizona that a protective tariff was not provided on long staple cotton, in the production of which agricultural Arizona was making such notable progress. I share with you the regret that Congress did not see fit to afford this industry encouraging protection. I do not know of any relief for a situation where Congress has neglected to levy any duty, except at the hands of Congress itself. The elastic provision in the Fordney-McCumber Act does not give the President authority to apply a tariff where Congress has provided admission free of duty. I shall share with you the hope that Congress may be duly impressed with the desirability of applying the fostering doctrine of protection in behalf of this agricultural industry.

"I need not renew my assurance to you of my interest in the work of reclamation and the development of the Colorado River Project. These commitments have been made in the fullness of conviction and I hope for the speediest possible working out of the plans which we have in mind.

"Very truly yours,

"WARREN G. HARDING"

Every Sneeze Has a Meaning

When you begin to sneeze, look out! It's a sign that you've caught cold—not just "catching" it. Right then is the time to get busy, if you want to conquer the cold easily, quickly and completely.

Go at once to a first-class drug store and ask for a 50 cent jar or 25-cent tube of "Deo," the famous Dennie Eucalyptus Ointment. Heat a spoonful of "Deo" in a tin plate or cup and inhale the soothing vapor. This will quickly open the air passages and help destroy germs which have attacked the mucous membrane. Repeat the treatment, night and morning, drawing the vapor into the lungs and holding for several seconds before releasing. Place a small quantity of the ointment in the nostrils and snuff up into the nasal cavity. When going to bed, rub your neck and chest with "Deo" and cover with hot flannel.

It is a good plan to carry a tube of "Deo" in your pocket and apply up the nostrils several times during the day. A valuable treatment for colds, catarrh, coughs, influenza, bronchitis, asthma and respiratory troubles. Contains nothing injurious. Guaranteed to give satisfactory results or money refunded. Don't ask for Eucalyptus Ointment—say "Deo" and you'll get the genuine. For sale by druggists everywhere. Dennis Mfg. Co., Makers, Berkeley, Cal.—[Advertisement.

MOSLEM WORLD FLABBERGASTED

Final Ousting of Sultan is Declared Wrong

Called Most Important Move Since World War

Proposed Caliph is Pawn of Nationalists

BY SAMUEL DASHIELL
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

PARIS, Nov. 6.—The decision of the Turkish National government to retire Mohammed VI and elevate their own Caliph as the spiritual leader of the hordes of Islam is considered here as forecasting the most important development since the European war.

Although the Sultan virtually has been deprived of power since the National Assembly met in 1919, the confirmation of the decree which separates state power from the Caliphate and which will install a new Caliph either at Constantinople or Angora, is regarded by European nations as the most consistent move which the awakened Moslem world could have made.

RELIGIOUS ONLY

It was admitted today by the diplomatic envoy of Mustapha Kemal at Paris that henceforth civilization will see a succession of Princes of the Mohammedan faith who will be shorn of all temporal power but whose relative world importance will compare with that of the Pope at Rome.

As outlined by the Kemalist representative the new Turk movement together with the rise of all Mussulman peoples through the East will be followed by the creation of a purely spiritual head. That leader, it was indicated, will most likely be the cousin of the outcast Sultan, Mejid Effendi, and who will be raised to the high office by a decree of the religious commission of the National Assembly.

WAIT FOR LEADER

The Kemalist official said:

"The Sultan at Constantinople has been deposed for more than three years and subjects of Mohammed have been waiting patiently for a leader. Control of Constantinople by the western powers has united the Moslems rather than weakened them. We believe that the separation of political power from the religious chief with the embodiment of the Mohammedan doctrine in the true succession of Prince of Mohammed would be supported by all people of the faith from Africa to India.

"The ideals of the Moslems have been expressed in the recent action of the Turks in throwing off foreign domination and the election of a Caliph by the Angora government is the only logical development."

It is noted, however, that the proposed Caliph, Mejid Effendi, is generally considered as one of the Turkish Nationalists so his election to the Caliphate will keep the spiritual prerogative within the political control of Angora. Whether that will be disputed by other Mussulman people of Arbia, Egypt and India who are outside of Ottoman, remains to be seen.

INDIANS ASTONISHED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ALLAHAB, Nov. 6.—Indian Moslem leaders are astonished by Angora's decision to abolish the Caliphate and compel the abdication of the Sultan. That the handful of 300 deputies sitting in Angora and representing most of Asia Minor could seriously believe they had the power and authority to shake the foundations of the Islamic world was at first not taken seriously by the Indians. But today an undeniable confirmation gave no choice but to recognize the truth. As a result, the feeling is already turning somewhat against Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who has been regarded as a hero of Islam.

Some quarters take a pessimistic view that no section of the Mohammedan world is strong enough to oppose the Turks' action and it will succeed in spite of every protest, although probably not without internecine strife.

Others are loud in their denunciation of the Angora assembly's high-handed action and are determined to resist.

The announcement followed a meeting of representative fruit men held here for the purpose of determining what action should be taken. A committee of three was named to call on the Governor Wednesday.

The States to be invited to enter the association with California are: Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

COMMUNISTS PLAN FIGHT ON SOCIALISTS

SOVIET COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN PROMISES ULTIMATE VICTORY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PETROGRAD, Nov. 6. — Addressing the delegates to the Third International which opened its fourth annual congress here last night, M. Zinovieff of the soviet central committee, declared that the chief aim of the Communists in the future will be to fight all other Socialist parties. He said he considered them as the reactionary force of international Bourgeoisie.

"We guarantee the proletariat of the world that sooner or later we shall bring them to the expected goal," he said. "Russian workers impatiently await to see the first spark of the uprising blaze in other countries."

Clara Zetkin of Germany, called the congress to order in her native tongue and then summoned Zinovieff to nominate him chairman of the session.

With searchlights in the gallery playing upon them, the soviet leader and feminine radical from Germany were given tremendous receptions.

CANADIANS MAY USE STATE MARKET PLAN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KINGSTON (Ont.) Nov. 6. — Co-operative marketing as is used in California was urged for the farmers of Ontario by Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, at a meeting here today. The Minister pointed out that unless there is co-operative marketing the farmers cannot expect to get what they should for their product.

A. Sapiro of California also spoke, reviewing the work of the farmers in California in establishing co-operative markets.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

Construction of New Line Now Planned

Plans for the new Pacific Electric line through the Glendora foothill section call for the construction of five miles of track at an approximate cost of $400,000.

The line, upon which work will be commenced as soon as the consent of the State Railroad Commission can be obtained, will supply direct passenger and freight service from South Pasadena, Monrovia and Azusa to San Dimas, Pomona, San Bernardino and Riverside.

D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the company, states that plans, which were made for the project before the war, were discontinued because of the attitude of the Railroad Commission at that time.

CABINET IN BRITAIN SMALLEST IN YEARS

PREMIER BONAR LAW DECIDES ON SIXTEEN MEMBERS; NO ALLIANCE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 6. — Premier Bonar Law today announced the appointment of the remaining members of his government. He has decided that his Cabinet, including himself, shall consist of sixteen members. This will be the smallest Cabinet of recent years, except the war Cabinet, which was a kind of inner Cabinet.

The Cabinet includes the Minister of Labor, which is a plain intimation that there is no intention to abolish the Labor Ministry.

The Right Hon. H. H. Asquith, in a speech in London tonight, took occasion to deny rumors of a possible new alliance between the Asquithian Liberals and the Conservatives in the event the Conservatives fail to secure enough seats to command a majority in the new Parliament. He described the idea of such an alliance as wholly fantastic.

NO EMBARGO ON CANADIAN GRAIN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTIN, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.) No embargo on Canadian grain is probable despite the demands of the American Farm Bureau Federation and other farm organizations. This is the information which is given out here unofficially from sources intimately in touch with the situation. It is pointed out that to embargo Canadian grain now, inasmuch as there are thousands of Canadian cars on this side of the line, probably would mean retaliation should the United States desire to move grain through Canada, as it sometimes does.

Moreover, United States railway lines promise soon to relieve the congestion of grain at the small elevators in the West and Northwest, and say they are near the end of the worst of their car shortage.

BASED ON SPOKANE

The Commission based its conclusions chiefly upon facts brought out by the investigation of conditions at Spokane, where the investigators found that a city had practically grown up around the right of way of the Northern Pacific, making the lease privileges on the land of railroads as well as others valuable.

Besides instructing the railroads hereafter to fix rentals on the actual basis of the value of the land rented, the commission also forbade inclusion in the leases of provisions requiring the shipper tenant to route traffic over the railroad renting the land.

MEDIUM OF CONCESSION

"The facts disclosed by this investigation, said the commission report, strongly points to the conclusion . . . that railroad leases of land not used for railroad purposes have often been a medium of unwarranted concessions to shippers. Effective public supervision in this matter is obviously very difficult, but we have reason to believe that this investigation and the publicity attendant upon it have in themselves led to improvement in the practice of carriers.

"We have in the past referred to the Department of Justice for appropriate proceedings in cases which seemed to warrant such action. In this connection shippers and others who believe they are subjected to undue prejudice and disadvantage can be of assistance by bringing such situations to our attention."

WATER BOND PASSAGE IS PREDICTED

Mulholland Sees Large Majority if Supporters Rally at Polls

The $5,000,000 water-bond issue, appearing as proposition No. 19-A on the ballots of today's election, will pass by better than a two-thirds vote of the people if supporters of the issue rally to the polls, according to Chief Engineer William Mulholland of the city bureau of waterworks and supply.

"The bond issue, which is absolutely essential for the continued efficiency of the water department," said Mulholland, "has received the indorsement of every civic and business organization of the city which has given the matter consideration. It is significant that not one organization has interposed objections against the bond issue. Wherever discussion has arisen on the subject foresighted citizens have expressed their wholehearted support of the bond issue.

"Particular encouragement has been given the issue in view of the fact that the Public Service Commission has guaranteed that in event of its adoption there will be no increase in the municipal tax rate. The department will advance funds from its revenues to cover interest and retiring charges against the bonds, thereby making unnecessary any assessment in the tax rate for this purpose."

Mr. Mulholland urged the necessity for voters to throng to the pools in support of the bond issue.

PLEA FROM HENEY FOR RICHARDSON

Lawyer Flays Woolwine as Insincere Candidate With Sinister Backing

"After studying the political situation at first hand in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, Fresno and other cities and towns throughout our State, I earnestly urge every progressive voter, whether Democrat, Republican or Non-Partisan, to vote for Richardson for Governor. Richardson, in his newspaper and individually, actively supported the movement that commenced in 1907 to kick the Southern Pacific and allied public utility corporations out of control of our State government.

"I have investigated the charge that Richardson's primary campaign fund was furnished by public utility corporations, and find that, while they did spend money to defeat the nomination of Stephens, they did not contribute anything to Richardson's campaign. Moreover the public utility corporations have not contributed a single cent to Richardson's campaign fund since the primary election.

Richardson is still making a poor man's campaign with organized vice and greed against him.

During the past sixteen years Richardson has consistently supported every progressive measure and candidate. Whereas, during that same period, Woolwine has never given the aid of either his voice or pocketbook to a single Progressive measure or a single Progressive candidate. I challenge him to name one instance. When the initiative, referendum, recall and woman's suffrage amendments to our State constitution were before the voters for adoption or rejection, Woolwine did not make a single speech or contribute a single dollar in advocacy of their adoption. He does not believe in any of them.

In 1912 Woolwine, who says he is a Democrat in national politics, refused to either speak or contribute a dollar in the favor of the election of Woodrow Wilson for president. Of course he did not support Roosevelt. In 1916 Woolwine again refused to make a single speech or contribute a single dollar for the election of Woodrow Wilson as president. Of course he did not support Hughes. In 1918 Woolwine was a candidate for the Democratic nomination of Governor. He then asserted vigorously that none but a dyed-in-the-wool regulation Democrat ought to receive the nomination because it was an important partisan office and that he was the only simon-pure Democrat seeking the nomination.

Of course, a considerable number of earnest, sincere partisan Democrats are supporting Woolwine, and some few sincere Progressives of both political parties are mistakenly doing likewise; but, it is a sad truth, nevertheless, that if successful, Woolwine will owe his election to the fact that every criminal out of jail, every political grafter, every ex-saloon-keeper, bartender and brothel owner, as well as every gambler, race horse tout, dope fiend and prostitute in the State is actively working for his election. It is strange how such a vigorous and impartial prosecuting attorney as he describes himself to be can have earned such support. My own experience was directly to the contrary.

State Returns Arranged by Republicans

Republican leaders throughout the city will gather at the party headquarters in the Angelus Hotel tonight to receive election returns from all sections of the State, according to a statement made last night by Ralph Arnold, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee.

A special leased wire connected directly with the State committee headquarters in San Francisco was installed yesterday and the results of the election will be announced as soon as they are received. Arrangements have also been made to keep in close touch with the results of the local precincts and a special staff will compute the Los Angeles county returns as they come in.

The leased wire will also receive returns from elections being held in all parts of the country, particularly the most important eastern Senatorial and gubernatorial contests.

All Republicans have been invited to be present this evening. Announcements of the returns will commence shortly after 7 o'clock.

LESS LITIGATION LESS LAWYERS' FEES

In their fight for "The Lawyers' Bill" the lawyers have attacked the Banks and the Trust Companies for drawing Wills and Trusts which the lawyers rarely break.

It is TRUE that the administration of property by a bank or a Trust Company very rarely leaves any sort of a handle for LITIGATION.

So far as these air-tight, long-term "trusts," about which the lawyers have been attempting to make capital, are concerned the plain, cold facts are these:

1. The Bill has nothing to do with this.
2. The number of these trusts is small.
3. They are undertaken at the request of men and women who know that they or their families need the efficient business help and unequaled responsibility of the Bank or Trust Company.
4. There is less litigation in the Courts and less trouble with the heirs when a Trust Company handles a trust than when individuals do so.
5. The cost is reasonable and usually fixed in the Will.
6. Many MORE Wills are probated, drawn by Lawyers, in which LAWYERS are named as Executor, Guardian or Trustee, than Wills in which Banks or Trust Companies are named.
7. THE PROBATE RECORDS prove these facts.

All this ranting about the "dangers" of the Trust Companies is only a "smoke screen" to cover the real attack—to prevent YOU—the ordinary citizen—from getting a good, safe service, without high cost or inconvenience, and with the highest financial responsibility behind it; an attack to make YOU unwillingly patronize lawyers.

Si Puede, Wilson Saludará a sus Admiradoras

WASHINGTON, nbre. 6—Woodrow Wilson, si su salud lo permite, saludará el sábado a sus admiradoras, en la peregrinación que hará a su casa en el aniversario del armisticio el mismo grupo que dirigió la demostración el 11 de noviembre de 1921.

La Sra. Kate Trenholm Abrams, espíritu director de la peregrinación del año pasado, en la que con voz inegura expresó al Presidente de la Guerra su agradecimiento entre los aplausos del ejército de sus simpatizadoras reunidas en frente de la casa de la calle S, después de que él apareció en la marcha funeral al "Soldado Desconocido", es presidenta del comité que está organizando para el sábado una demostración análga, pero en mayor escala.

Gran Número de Mineros Enterrados Vivos

SPANGLER (Pensilvania) nbre. 6.—Catorce de los noventa y cuatro mineros enterrados en la mina de la Reilly Coal Company de esta ciudad, por una terrible explosión, poco después de las 8 a.m., han sido rescatados vivos. No se sabe aún el paradero de cincuenta y cinco hombres, y es incierta la suerte que hayan corrido.

Las cuadrillas de rescate violentamente improvisadas y que trabajan con febril energía, encontraron a los catorce supervivientes en los pisos superiores de la mina, hoy a las 5 p.m. Todos ellos habían sido seriamente lastimados por la explosión, y fueron llevados inmediatamente a hospitales cercanos. Esta tarde renació la esperanza de encontrar más mineros vivos, cuando las cuadrillas de rescate encontraron un tabique hecho de viejos palos, y viendo para la izquierda de la entrada principal. Este tabique fué construido después de la explosión por los mineros enterrados, y en uno de los maderos lisos que forman el tabique, se habían marcado a fuego estas palabras: "Busquen detrás de esta pared". Las letras habían sido grabadas con una lámpara de acetileno, y esta frase dió frescas esperanzas de descubrir aún vivos a los mineros guarecidos detrás de dicha construcción.

Los Republicanos Están Confiados

Anoche, al caer la bandera de la campaña de 1922, los proponentes de cada una de las medidas y de cada uno de los candidatos, con muy pocas excepciones se precipitaron al frente para hacer predicciones más o menos optimistas acerca de su victoria en los comicios de hoy. Estos vaticinios variaban en categoría desde "una avalancha" hasta un "margen importante", según el profeta y los merecimientos de su candidato.

Era de observarse, sin embargo, que los candidatos republicanos, con una ventaja algo mayor de 3 por 1 sobre los demócratas, tenían en su favor las mejores profecías.

En la sede que en el Hotel Hayward tiene la Comisión de Periodistas Partidarios de Richardson para Gobernador, se predijo que el candidato referido se llevará el Estado por cien a doscientos mil. Este cálculo está basado en comicios confidenciales practicados en todas las regiones del Estado.

Fricke Trata de Desacreditar al Alienista

Ayes tarde intentó el Teniente Fiscal Fricke desacreditar ante los jurados la sinceridad del testimonio del Dr. Edwin Hoag, el primer alienista de la defensa llamado a declarar que la Phillips está demente.

El repentino asalto del Acusador al perito testigo de la defensa vino después de una serie de discusiones acerca de la pregunta hipotética de 20 páginas del Abogado Herrington, que va a ser planteada a todos los alienistas de la defensa.

Después de leída la pregunta hipotética el Dr Hoag, basando su opinión únicamente en esa larguísima interrogación, manifestó que a su juicio, Clara Phillips está loca.

ACCUSE GIRLS OF BOOTLEGGING

Fresno Maids Taken Before Juvenile Court

Officer Obtains Liquor of Younger Sister

Issue Warrant for Arrest of Father

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Nov. 6.—Two girls, Florence Renna, 11 years old, and her sister, Rosalia, 16, faced juvenile court this afternoon charged with selling illicit liquor. Officers raided the home of J. G. Renna, 1254 D street, following the asserted purchase of illicit liquor by a special officer at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Officers are holding the bath water taken from the tub in which one of the girls was bathing. The liquor was purchased from Florence, a dimpled, olive-skinned little girl.

"Some one knocked at the door. I got out of bed in my nightie and answered, and a man gave me a bottle and said: 'Here, fill this.'" Florence said this morning.

"I didn't know what to do, but thought that papa had sent him, so I filled it and he gave me some silver money. I don't know how much. The police came in."

Rosalia said that she was in the bedroom taking a bath when the officers came.

"They told me to come out," she said. "I told them I would come out as soon as I could get dressed. I did. They took some of the water out of the bath tub."

Rosalia's black eyes flashed as she told the story. Little Florence tried hard to smile, but a tear would come

"I don't want to go to the detention home," she said.

Mrs. Renna said that she had returned from a hospital Saturday afternoon following an opperation. Mr. Renna, she said, had been hunting from Saturday afternoon until Sunday and was much surprised to hear of the raid when he returned.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of the father this morning, charging him with possession of illicit liquor. He is a delivery wagon driver. The raiding squad was headed by Captain Ben A. Wickstrom and Lieut. Miles R. Linkous.

To Investigate Complaints of Egg Throwing

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, Nov. 6.—Police and school authorities were today reported to be conducting an investigation into the asserted activities of a group of local youths in showering visiting rooters with eggs of questionable age, following the Pomona-Chaffey High School football game here.

A handsome new sedan motor car driven by Prof. H. P. Reynolds, principal of Pomona High School, is reported to have been literally spattered with eggs hurled by boys in the vicinity of C street and Euclid avenue. It is said that several other Pomona machines and a number of local cars, the latter probably through error, were also made targets.

Activities of the egg throwers were reported to the Ontario police by Principal Reynolds and several officers were detailed to the scene, but were unsuccessful in their attempts to arrest any of the participants. It is said that Chaffey rooters suffered a like fate at the hands of Pomona a year or two ago and that the affair here is believed to have been in retaliation.

Merton E. Hill, principal of Chaffey High School, is reported to be attempting to sift the affair to the bottom, but many high school pupils profess the belief that the egging was not the work of students, but of boys about town.

AWAITS TRIAL FOR MAKING MOONSHINE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, Nov. 6.—Unable to produce $500 bail Warren Gomes was sent to the County Jail to await preliminary hearing. Judge George R. Holbrook fixed amount of bail after the man had been arraigned on a charge of having a still for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor in his possession.

Gomes was arrested yesterday and a complete liquor still was taken into custody following a raid on a house occupied by him in the Guasti district. The arrest was made by Officers Arthur Axley and Mathias Martinez.

WILD PARTY ENDS IN COUNTY JAIL

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

FRESNO, Nov. 6.—Following an attempt to shoot up the town of Del Rey, near here, in true western fashion, four men and a woman are held under arrest in the County Jail here.

Riot calls were sent out when the alleged "rioters," following a midnight party at Del Rey, became too boisterous in their celebration and proceeded to discharge pistols with all the reckless abandon of a forty-niner.

No one was injured, according to the Del Rey authorities.

DISCHARGED RANCHER HELD FOR ASSAULT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6.—Accused of having attacked Rose Golvay, 18 years of age, at her home at Encanto today, Andy Forest, 43, a discharged employee on the ranch operated by the girl's father, was cornered in a nearby building and arrested. He is being held pending an investigation.

The girl said she was alone in the house when Forest attacked her, and that she succeeded in beating off his advances. When he fled she telephoned for the police.

MacSwiney's Sister Now on Hunger Strike

BY PAUL WILLIAMS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, Nov. 6.—Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, who starved himself to death in a British prison, has been on a hunger strike since she was incarcerated in Mountjoy Saturday morning. She declared that unless she was released that she would die as did her brother and that she welcomed an opportunity to join in the way.

In the first attack upon the civic guard replacing the old Royal Irish constabulary throughout the twenty-six counties, armed men took the overcoats, private clothing and money from the detachment at Lough Glynn, County Roscommon.

The Irish guard so far has not been armed. It is understood on good authority that following this attack the guards are to be armed thus forming a material support for the army.

MEXICAN .. BEAUTY .. WINS .. VOTES

Calexico Queen Contest International Affair

Maria Louisa Flores

CALEXICO, Nov. 6.—With the race for regal honors extended until Thursday, the contest for queen of the International Cotton Pageant and Industrial Show has resolved itself into an international battle between the rival border cities of Calexico and Mexicali. So intense has become the interest in the voting for favorite daughters that the lead shifts almost daily, but the latest ballot count revealed that Miss Helen Rieder, American beauty, was leading Senorita Maria Luisa Flores by a slight margin.

A large touring car is at stake as the first prize in the race, and supporters of the rival candidates are eager that their favorite shall have not only the coveted honor of reigning as queen, but also the pleasure of winning this car. Hundreds of thousands of votes have been cast in the contest, in which twenty-three pretty girls were entered at the start, and the leaders now have nearly 100,000 votes each to their credit.

The first three days of the first international cotton pageant have been a tremendous success and the grounds have been thronged each afternoon and evening. The water beauties show, the cotton palace and field, and the amusements have been the centers of attraction. Band concerts by the famous Mexican military organization of the northern zone of Baja California also have won popular favor.

Extensive preparations are being made for Thursday, which will be known as Los Angeles Day. Some 300 pilgrims from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, en route in their special train of Pullmans to Arizona, will arrive in Calexico Wednesday afternoon and, after an inspection of the pageant grounds and attractions, will be entertained by the Calexico and Mexicali chambers of commerce at an international banquet, during which famous dishes of American, Mexican and oriental foods will be served. The Angelenos will leave Thursday after taking part in the Los Angeles Day festivities.

The pageant will close Saturday night following a big demonstration by the American Legion posts of the Imperial Valley in honor of Armistice Day. A '49 camp, huge military and civic parade and the coronation of the queen and establishment of her royal court will mark the final day of the pageant, which is being promoted by the Calexico Chamber of Commerce under the direction of William H. Rice, who staged the famous water beauties spectacle at the Los Angeles Pageant of Progress.

WAR RECORD RAISES POLITICAL QUESTION

STATUS OF CANDIDATE IN HAWAII WHO FOUGHT FOR CANADA SOUGHT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HONOLULU, Nov. 6.—Whether an American citizen who joined the British forces during the World War forfeited his right to run for a seat in the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii is a question that has just bobbed up in local politics.

In 1914 William K. Hussey, a young part-Hawaiian, enlisted, in the Canadian forces and went overseas. Hussey acquitted himself well, coming back wounded from Saloniki and with decorations.

He recently ran in the Republican primaries for a seat in the lower house of the Territorial Legislature, and although a newcomer in politics, he headed the ticket.

Now that he is campaigning for election, the question has been raised whether or not he expatriated himself when he joined the Canadian forces and took an oath to fight for the British flag.

WORK FOR ALL, SAYS OFFICIAL

Present Prosperity Due to the Efforts of President Harding

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6.—Establishment of a separate immigration district to embrace Southern California, with San Diego as the headquarters, has been practically decided upon, according to E. J. Henning of this city, who is assistant secretary of the Federal Department of Labor. Mr. Henning addressed a group of business men and former associates at a homecoming affair today.

That the United States during the last eight months has come through the greatest industrial crisis of its history while other nations have failed, Henning declared was due in greatest part to President Harding, to whom he paid a glowing tribute, likening him to Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt.

"Out of the crisis, America has come to an industrial expansion that is bound to settle into years of continued prosperity," declared Henning, who recited figures of the bureau of labor statistics and stated that there is no unemployment in America today and 50,000 more men are wanted for jobs than there are to fill them. This situation, he compared with the high mark of unemployment in July, 1921, when there was 5,000,000 idle men in the country. The present business expansion is working westward and doubtless will reach California this winter, Henning said.

Girl Says She Was Kidnaped Across Border

Vivian Van Puyle, 16, who has been missing from her home, 429 Rosebury street, Huntington Park, since the 4th inst., returned today. She told the following story.

While walking from Bell Station to Huntington Park with a girl chum, Ila Lee, also 16, they met a Mexican in an automobile who offered them a lift. She accepted, leaving the other girl. The man pulled a gun and said she would have to go with him. The girl declares she was taken to a place forty-five miles south of San Diego, into the mountains in Mexico.

After a time, the girl says she made her escape from the mountains and climbed down to the trail, where she met a white man in a machine. He gave her a ride into San Diego and also $2.50 with which to pay her fare home.

The girl was taken by a policewoman, Mrs. Georgia Robinson, to the juvenile bureau, where she will be examined today.

The other girl, Ila, has also disappeared and has not been found. Her mother is reported to be dying.

This new Freight Terminal, the finest in Western America, has just been completed by the Union Pacific System at a cost considerably in excess of a million dollars, in order that our Los Angeles patrons may enjoy the very highest degree of CONVENIENCE and ECONOMY in the handling of their freight.

In the Heart of the Shipping District

The convenient location of the new terminal at Ninth and Alameda streets is but a few minutes' haul from the Wholesale, Retail, Manufacturing and Industrial Districts and the saving in trucking expense to shippers will amount to a large sum annually.

Built entirely of brick and concrete, the new terminal is absolutely fireproof. It was designed by expert Terminal Engineers who have provided every known device for the rapid and economical handling of inbound and outbound freight.

Among the conveniences which are unusual are electric automatic scales, pre-cooling rooms for perishable and semi-perishable freight, concrete pavements to all team tracks which have a spotting capacity of 42 cars, and an automobile dock which is a marvel of convenience.

The office arrangement is such that the business of the terminal may flow through in an uninterrupted stream without the annoying and expensive delays encountered in less modern terminals.

The building of this new terminal is in line with the UNION PACIFIC POLICY of providing the utmost in SERVICE to its patrons. The public is invited to inspect this model terminal which opened for business Monday, November 6th.

[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

ROME, Nov. 6.—Punch—that is Premier Mussolini in one word. There is punch in his eye—and the darting punch of a rapier. There is punch in the light, springy step with which he carries his well-built body—the punch of a pugilist. There is punch in his heavy brow, in the firm unsmiling lines of his mouth and especially in his grim jaw—the punch of a bludgeon.

Like father, like son. The Fascisti—sons of the Mussolinian idea—are characterized by the rapier softness of their movements. Bludgeons have become, by their every day use of the weapons, as synonymous for them as the big stick to T. R.

There is Rooseveltian punch to Mussolini's speech—his followers roll his phrases over their tongues gleefully. "Did you hear what the 'duke' said at Naples? 'The time has come when the arrow must fly from the bow or the cord breaks.' In his orders and replies to questions there is a "veni, vidi, vici" parsimony of words which is not among the Roman traits most Italians have inherited.

STACCATO TONES

He speaks with a rather harsh voice, his powerful jaw drawing out the words staccato-like, as bullets fired from a machine gun, punctuating his speeches with abrupt pauses.

"What do we intend to do? We don't mince words—we do good to those who do us good, evil to those who do us evil."

"What is our foreign policy? We have been friendly to the powers controlling raw materials we need."

One doesn't wonder that this man did not long remain a professor of French. One does wonder whether it was Danton's canon: "Be bold, again be bold, always be bold," which helped him leap from academical circles to the forefront of Red revolutionists. Certainly one is inclined to think there is much of Danton come to life again in this man—with even a hint of physical resemblance.

WOUNDED IN WAR

With the coming of war he broke violently with the Socialists, saying that Italy should intervene. When she did he volunteered, was wounded and then started his paper. He savagely fought against the influence of the Socialist organization Aventi, which he had formerly deserted and after the war, little by little, built up the Fascisti organization.

With such brutal directness does he go to the point, with such tenacity does he hold it that one might think he had a single-track mind if it was not for the fact he is an Italian. For one of the strong points of the Italian is his rigid logic in thinking, often coupled with marvelous elasticity in applying his theories—a trait which helped to make the bloodless revolution possible.

Premier Mussolini already has frequently shown that consistencies are no bogobgin for him. It will not be surprising if some of his more fanatical followers now will have occasion to realize this.

ADMIRES KEMAL

This second great leader that the post-war period has produced is a great admirer of the one who preceded him to fame. He told a Turk envoy who went to Naples to see him that Mustapha Kemal's success had been a source of encouragement to him.

Some American and English observers conclude from Mussolini's bearing and some of his acts that he is a poser, that success has gone to his head. But it should at least be noted that what strikes the unemotional Anglo-Saxon as theatrical and affected may be very real to the passionate Italians. So dominating and driving is Mussolini's personality that one does not expect a joke from his lips nor find a twinkle in his eye.

One looks at his gloomy, glowering face and wonders if it was he who chose black shirts as the color for his followers.

HAWAII TO PRODUCE MOLASSES FOR FEED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HONOLULU, Nov. 6.—A new industry, the supplying of molasses as stock feed, is developing in Hawaii, with Seattle capital interested. The company is the Hawaiian Molasses Company, headed by Charles H. Hamilton and A. R. Shay. Hamilton is to arrive soon to negotiate contracts for the molasses.

It is estimated that there are 380,000 dairy cows in the State of Washington and that 1000 pounds a year is the proper "molasses ration" per cow.

Hawaii normally ships about 60,000 tons of molasses a year but this is not the total molasses production as a by-product of raw cane sugar. Many plantations have not found it worth while to store and ship their molasses. The Seattle company is said to be undertaking an advertising campaign to create a large market for the molasses as a stock food.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 6.—The State Supreme Court this afternoon overruled the motion of Luther Nickels for leave to file a mandamus application seeking to require the Dallas Court of Civic Appeals to vacate its order denying a motion for rehearing and its order dissolving the Groesback injunction suit.

A motion for a rehearing in the Corsicana Mayfield injunction case was overruled by the Court of Appeals.

Telegrams advising of the decision this afternoon and that the name of Earle Mayfield, Democratic senatorial nominee, should be placed on the ballots for tomorrow's general election were dispatched to all counties in the State by Chief Clerk C. W. Bayne of the Secretary of State's office this afternoon following the court's decision, on advice of the Attorney-General's department.

BAD ACCOUNTS

A credit man from Philadelphia was talking shop yesterday. He said that the losses of his firm would be larger than usual for the current year. The statement seemed out of line with conditions in this district, where members of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association assert that the reverse is true. It developed, however, that in the case of the easterner, his house had not completely charged off losses in 1920 and 1921 and would be forced to add these to the bad debts for 1922.

It is a too common failing for business organizations to attempt to show a profit by not reflecting the true conditions concerning accounts receivable. This, leading credit men here assert, is a serious mistake. Some concerns, if they incur an exceptionally heavy loss, will charge it off over a period of from two to five years, a policy not within the bounds of good accounting principles and one misleading to credit granters or to stockholders.

When an account becomes doubtful, say these wiseacres, it should immediately be placed in suspense, and if it proves uncollectable during a reasonable period should be included in the profit and loss record of the year. It is the custom of some concerns to set up a definite reserve for bad debts, and it certainly is a far better policy to over-estimate bad debt losses than to carry a portion of this deadwood as good accounts receivable.

BASIC STRENGTH

The National City Bank of Chicago says, in its current financial letter, that there are excellent grounds for believing that business will continue to improve and that industrial activity will be materially increased. The general bond market, although in some respects not quite as active as formerly, reflects a strong investment demand from all groups of bond buyers. There are still important financial operations to be put through in connection with the consolidation of various railroad properties and industrial enterprises. Various foreign governments as well as foreign industrial properties are seeking loans in the United States, and the chances are that if the foreign situation remains as favorable as it now is, there will be a good deal of financing of this character after the year-end settlements have been adjusted. The situation is very interesting and, while there are still many problems to be solved, the outstanding fact is that the country is making definite progress in strengthening its business and financial position.

FIRST HOLIDAY

This is the first of three holidays for November. A general election will be held today in most of the States, and banks and exchanges together with brokers offices and all the many appurtenances thereunto appertaining will be closed. Accordingly no market quotations will be established. Armistice Day, which falls this year on Saturday next, is a legal holiday in California and a number of other States, while Thanksgiving Day which comes on the last day of the month is a general holiday observed by business suspension in nearly all lines throughout the United States.

BRANCH BANKS

Los Angeles bankers have stopped worrying over the branch bank question, but in the East and Middle West it seems to be a vital issue about which financial writers are turning out reams of debate. Under a ruling of the Comptroller of the Currency and the exigencies of the world's fastest growing community these branches are being established in Southern California whenever, wherever, as and if needed, and the whole matter is sifting down to one of business expediency. In the Twin Cities—St. Paul and Minneapolis—the fight is still waging more or less merrily with the smaller banks vigorously opposing the granting of a charter to be owned and operated by the Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul. While this fight was going on interests connected with the First National of Minneapolis bought the controlling interest in the Penn Avenue State Bank. Both sides are said to be belligerant. The antis back up their arguments with the declaration of the American Bankers' Association against branch banking, and the pros bring forward the ruling of the Comptroller under which Los Angeles institutions are proceeding. From this distance and in the light of local experience it looks like a tempest in a teapot.

BEST STORY OF DAY IN TRADE

During the twelve months ending June 30, 1922, our foreign trade suffered in common with the general world depression. The monetary value of our exports and imports during the period in question, in comparison with the previous fiscal year, is shown in the following table:

	1920-21	1921-22
Imports	$ 5,604,470,598	$3,506,275,902
Exports	8,216,310,032	3,771,296,435
Total foreign trade	$13,170,980,270	6,870,365,430
Balance exports over imports	2,562,630,387	1,162,397,420

The fall in the monetary value of imports was therefore 35.4 per cent, in exports 42.1 per cent, and in total trade 37.9 per cent. The great decline in value from the previous year was due in a large degree to a fall in prices rather than in quantities, as indicated by the tables of quantity movements of larger commodities in this statement. From these tables it will be seen that our agricultural exports were actually larger in quantity during the year of depression, although they decreased in value by about $700,000,000. A study of the whole export and import list so far as quantitative statistics are available indicates that roughly our trade in 1922, if it was valued at 1921 prices, would have shown a decrease in exports of 13 per cent, an increase in imports of 29 per cent, or an increase in total trade of roughly 2.7 per cent.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

One Million Fewer Burlap Bags This Year

New Financing Features Early Activities

Jewelry sales in Los Angeles are estimated to be 15 per cent ahead of 1921, and for the Christmas trade, it is expected that the increase will be much higher. Eastern jewelers report a much greater percentage of increase over last year, but it is asserted here that business in the East last season was in the doldrums while Los Angeles jewelers were having a good volume of sales. Eastern jewelers, especially in New York, are more dependent upon the activity of the stock market. A big day in the market, it is said, is mirrored directly in the sales of the large stores catering to the purchasers of the higher-priced goods.

An interesting development of current trade is found in changing wedding ring fashions. The season's bride is wearing a slim carved platinum ring barely discernible to the naked eye so cleverly is it concealed in the shadow of the more pretentious engagement sparkler. The fad is more or less of a puzzle to the jewelers, but the fashion has come into active vogue as is shown by the sales records of Los Angeles houses.

The ring itself has been a gradual development, but this season, it has taken more complete precedence over the older-fashioned plain gold ring, according to dealers. It is of carved platinum and fits snugly beside the diamond solitaire, which is equipped with a shank to hold the smaller ring in place, and incidentally almost out of sight. Sales in the new rings are growing steadily in volume, and are expected to be especially heavy during the Christmas season.

In contrast to the modesty of current feminine taste in jewelry, men are going to the other extreme. Instead of purchasing gifts of the usual standardized type, husbands are packing home expensive claret or cordial sets of gold-plated sterling silver, or liquor containers made of German pottery and fashioned in the shape of kegs, with sterling silver stoppers. For personal use pocket flasks running in price as high as $1000 are in fair demand.

The wrist watch for men is being forced gradually out of style, and pocket watches, much smaller than the pre-war timepieces, are being demanded. A more expensive watch is usually purchased to replace the less costly war-time piece. Diamond wrist watches are the favorites with women who can afford such baubles.

Shortage of crops in Southern California has militated against the sale of burlap bags this season as compared with normal years, according to dealers in this city who supply the grain, bean and walnut growers in the territory adjacent to Los Angeles. Cotton bags sold to flour millers and cement and plaster manufacturers are running about normal.

Prices on burlap bags have averaged approximately 10 cents as against 7 cents in 1921 and 11 cents in 1920. The new tariff on importations of burlap bags from India of 1 cent per pound specific

UNSOUND FINANCE

BY JOHN H. PUELICHER

President American Bankers' Association and President Marshall & Ilsley Bank, Milwaukee

The major business question before the United States is not whether the country is going to be prosperous or not. Prosperity is here and is bound to increase. The great question is whether there is going to be a fair distribution of the fruits of property among all the people in keeping with their deserts.

When I say a period of growing prosperity lies ahead for America I do not mean to imply the belief that a boom is coming. I mean that a period of general business welfare is to be expected.

Our financial system is in a sound condition. Our manufacturing, transportation and merchandising systems are efficient. In the domestic markets the mutual demands of the people for each other's products are great, while in the foreign markets there is a slow recovery, in the ability of foreign nations to engage in reciprocal trade with us.

The United States is in position to insure the production of enough wealth to give, if equitably distributed, every man, woman and child in the country a comfortable and happy living. That is what I call prosperity.

• • •

It is, of course, true that there are many individual cases in our communities, and there undoubtedly are some classes in the population that are not at present receiving a relative reward for the fruits of their endeavors as are others. The perfectly equitable distribution of opportunity and reward is a social ideal impossible of absolute attainment. But nevertheless it is a goal toward which we should earnestly strive.

The practical approximate approach to this ideal of absolute social justice in economic reward is a condition in which the greatest possible good of the greatest possible number is served, and there are some very definite ways to promote this.

The banker, through strict adherence to sound banking policies, as distinguished from speculative inflationary practice, can insure a steady and balanced activity of the nation's agriculture, industry and commerce. This will make for the production of ample physical means to supply the needs and comforts of the people.

An attitude of fairness on the part of business men, manufacturers and workers alike in respect to prices and wages will make for an equitable distribution of these physical means of a prosperous national life among all classes of our people.

There are instances where this equitable distribution is now being impeded by wages somewhat higher than are warranted by the economic value of the services rendered to general society. There are other cases where depressed prices, notably for some agricultural products, give the producers less than the value their contribution to economic society warrants.

It is not only through the equitable distribution of physical goods that the nation's prosperity is to be shared among all the people. It is also through giving all an equal opportunity for self-advancement by means of education and contact with cultural influences. I know of no surer safeguard for prosperity and social equity than the broadening of vision and the deepening of understanding in the true values of life that will come through continually raising the general level of knowledge regarding business fundamentals by means of more universal economic education.

This will help business men and the general public alike to see in their true light selfish business practices, narrow social viewpoints and unsound financial policies, which substitute speculation and inflation for the creation and productive employment of real wealth.

An era of unsound finance and business speculation invariably benefits certain classes of the community at the expense of others. In other words, it produces a distorted distribution of wealth such as occurred in the war and post-war booms. It is against false prosperity of that type that we must guard. We have had plenty of the hectic prosperity of inflation and speculation. Some benefited, but many suffered. Let us put ourselves on guard against this now at the threshold of this era of new prosperity.

How the People Make Power Possible

THE people believe in Hydro-electricity. They support its development with their funds. They look upon it as one of the necessities of every-day life.

Electric lights and domestic appliances at home are a matter of course where current is available. The California farmer pumps irrigating water and drives farm machinery with "juice" from the power company's wires. Present-day efficiency in our factories demands individual electric motors for each unit of machinery. Engineers are pioneering the field which will make power the better servant of the people.

But the development of power was mis-named years ago. It was christened "private enterprise." It was considered the job of individuals with benefits to the few. That stage grown when the industry its infancy.

Today the greater power companies are virtually owned people. The securities of companies have provided sands of people with ment and profitable for their funds. In so have contributed to the tial growth and development the Hydro-electric

A credit man from Philadelphia was talking shop yesterday. He said that the losses of his firm would be larger than usual for the current year. The statement seemed out of line with conditions in this district, where members of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association assert that the reverse is true. It developed, however, that in the case of the easterner, his house had not completely charged off losses in 1920 and 1921 and would be forced to add these to the bad debts for 1922.

It is a too common failing for business organizations to attempt to show a profit by not reflecting the true conditions concerning accounts receivable. This, leading credit men here assert, is a serious mistake. Some concerns, if they incur an exceptionally heavy loss, will charge it off over a period of from two to five years, a policy not within the bounds of good accounting principles and one misleading to credit grantors or to stockholders.

When an account becomes doubtful, say these wiseacres, it should immediately be placed in suspense, and if it proves uncollectable during a reasonable period should be included in the profit and loss record of the year. It is the custom of some concerns to set up a definite reserve for bad debts, and it certainly is a far better policy to over-estimate bad debt losses than to carry a portion of this deadwood as good accounts receivable.

BASIC STRENGTH

The National City Bank of Chicago says, in its current financial letter, that there are excellent grounds for believing that business will continue to improve and that industrial activity will be materially increased. The general bond market, although in some respects not quite as active as formerly, reflects a strong investment demand from all groups of bond buyers. There are still important financial operations to be put through in connection with the consolidation of various railroad properties and industrial enterprises. Various foreign governments as well as foreign industrial properties are seeking loans in the United States, and the chances are that if the foreign situation remains as favorable as it now is, there will be a good deal of financing of this character after the year-end settlements have been adjusted. The situation is very interesting and, while there are still many problems to be solved, the outstanding fact is that the country is making definite progress in strengthening its business and financial position.

FIRST HOLIDAY

This is the first of three holidays for November. A general election will be held today in most of the States, and banks and exchanges together with brokers offices and all the many appurtenances thereunto appertaining will be closed. Accordingly no market quotations will be established. Armistice Day, which falls this year on Saturday next, is a legal holiday in California and a number of other States, while Thanksgiving Day which comes on the last day of the month is a general holiday observed by business suspension in nearly all lines throughout the United States.

BRANCH BANKS

Los Angeles bankers have stopped worrying over the branch bank question, but in the East and Middle West it seems to be a vital issue about which financial writers are turning out reams of debate. Under a ruling of the Comptroller of the Currency and the exigencies of the world's fastest growing community these branches are being established in Southern California whenever, wherever, as and if needed, and the whole matter is sifting down to one of business expediency. In the Twin Cities—St. Paul and Minneapolis—the fight is still waging more or less merrily with the smaller banks vigorously opposing the granting of a charter to be owned and operated by the Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul. While this fight was going on interests connected with the First National of Minneapolis bought the controlling interest in the Penn Avenue State Bank. Both sides are said to be belligerent. The antis back up their arguments with the declaration of the American Bankers' Association against branch banking, and the pros bring forward the ruling of the Comptroller under which Los Angeles institutions are proceeding. From this distance and in the light of local experience it looks like a tempest in a teapot.

BEST STORY OF DAY IN TRADE

During the twelve months ending June 30, 1922, our foreign trade suffered in common with the general world depression. The monetary values of our exports and imports during the period in question, in comparison with the previous fiscal year, is shown in the following table:

	1920-21	1921-22
Exports	$ 8,664,486,366	$3,500,778,023
Imports	5,616,610,052	3,777,596,430
Total foreign trade	$14,170,590,370	6,270,368,430
Balance of exports over imports	2,952,650,297	1,168,307,420

The fall in the monetary value of imports was therefore 32.7 per cent, in exports 61.1 per cent, and in total trade 57.8 per cent. The great decline in value from the previous year was due in a large degree to a fall in prices rather than in quantities, as indicated by the tables of quantity movements of large commodities in this statement. From these tables it will be seen that our agricultural exports were actually larger in quantity during the year of depression, although they decreased in value by about $700,000,000. A study of the whole export and import list as far as quantitative statistics are available indicates that roughly our trade in 1922, if it was valued at 1921 prices, would have shown a decrease in exports of 17 per cent, an increase in imports of 39 per cent, or an increase in total trade of roughly 17 per cent.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

New Financing Features Early Activities

Jewelry sales in Los Angeles are estimated to be 15 per cent ahead of 1921, and for the Christmas trade, it is expected that the increase will be much higher. Eastern jewelers report a much greater percentage of increase over last year, but it is asserted here that business in the East last season was in the doldrums while Los Angeles jewelers were having a good volume of sales. Eastern jewelers, especially in New York, are more dependent upon the activity of the stock market. A big day in the market, it is said, is mirrored directly in the sales of the large stores catering to the purchasers of the higher-priced goods.

An interesting development of current trade is found in changing wedding ring fashions. The season's bride is wearing a slim carved platinum ring barely discernible to the naked eye so cleverly is it concealed in the shadow of the more pretentious engagement sparkler. The fad is more or less of a puzzle to the jewelers, but the fashion has come into active vogue as is shown by the sales records of Los Angeles houses.

The ring itself has been a gradual development, but this season, it has taken more complete precedence over the older-fashioned plain gold ring, according to dealers. It is of carved platinum and fits snugly beside the diamond solitaire, which is equipped with a shank to hold the smaller ring in place, and incidentally almost out of sight. Sales in the new rings are growing steadily in volume, and are expected to be especially heavy during the Christmas season.

In contrast to the modesty of current feminine taste in jewelry, men are going to the other extreme. Instead of purchasing gifts of the usual standardized type, husbands are packing home expensive claret or cordial sets of gold-plated sterling silver, or liquor containers made of German pottery and fashioned in the shape of kegs, with sterling silver stoppers. For personal use pocket flasks running in price as high as $1000 are in fair demand.

The wrist watch for men is being forced gradually out of style, and pocket watches, much smaller than the pre-war timepieces, are being demanded. A more expensive watch is usually purchased to replace the less costly war-time piece. Diamond wrist watches are the favorites with women who can afford such baubles.

Shortage of crops in Southern California has militated against the sale of burlap bags this season as compared with normal years, according to dealers in this city who supply the grain, bean and walnut growers in the territory adjacent to Los Angeles. Cotton bags sold to flour millers and cement and plaster manufacturers are running about normal.

Prices on burlap bags have averaged approximately 10 cents as against 7 cents in 1921 and 11 cents in 1920. The new tariff on importations of burlap bags from India of 1 cent per pound specific

UNSOUND FINANCE

BY JOHN H. PUELICHER
President American Bankers' Association and President Marshall & Isley Bank, Milwaukee

The major business question before the United States is not whether the country is going to be prosperous or not. Prosperity is here and is bound to increase. The great question is whether there is going to be a fair distribution of the fruits of property among all the people in keeping with their deserts.

When I say a period of growing prosperity lies ahead for America I do not mean to imply the belief that a boom is coming. I mean that a period of general business welfare is to be expected.

Our financial system is in a sound condition. Our manufacturing, transportation and merchandising systems are efficient. In the domestic markets the mutual demands of the people for each other's products are great, while in the foreign markets there is a slow recovery in the ability of foreign nations to engage in reciprocal trade with us.

The United States is in position to insure the production of enough wealth to give, if equitably distributed, every man, woman and child in the country a comfortable and happy living. That is what I call prosperity.

* * *

It is, of course, true that there are many individual cases in our communities, and there undoubtedly are some classes in the population that are not at present receiving a relative reward for the fruits of their endeavors as are others. The perfectly equitable distribution of opportunity and reward is a social ideal impossible of absolute attainment. But nevertheless it is a goal toward which we should earnestly strive.

The practical approximate approach to this ideal of absolute social justice in economic reward is a condition in which the greatest possible good of the greatest possible number is served, and there are some very definite ways to promote this.

The banker, through strict adherence to sound banking policies, as distinguished from speculative inflationary practice, can insure a steady and balanced activity of the nation's agriculture, industry and commerce. This will make for the production of ample physical means to supply the needs and comforts of the people.

An attitude of fairness on the part of business men, manufacturers and workers alike in respect to prices and wages will make for an equitable distribution of these physical means of a prosperous national life among all classes of our people.

There are instances where this equitable distribution is now being impeded by wages somewhat higher than are warranted by the economic value of the services rendered to general society. There are other cases where depressed prices, notably for some agricultural products, give the producers less than the value their contribution to economic society warrants.

It is not only through the equitable distribution of physical goods that the nation's prosperity is to be shared among all the people. It is also through giving all an equal opportunity for self-advancement by means of education and contact with cultural influences. I know of no surer safeguard for prosperity and social equity than the broadening of vision and the deepening of understanding in the true values of life that will come through continually raising the general level of knowledge regarding business fundamentals by means of more universal economic education.

This will help business men and the general public alike to see in their true light selfish business practices, narrow social viewpoints and unsound financial policies, which substitute speculation and inflation for the creation and productive employment of real wealth.

An era of unsound finance and business speculation invariably benefits certain classes of the community at the expense of others. In other words, it produces a distorted distribution of wealth such as occurred in the war and post-war booms. It is against false prosperity of that type that we must guard. We have had plenty of the hectic prosperity of inflation and speculation. Some benefited, but many suffered. Let us put ourselves on guard against this now at the threshold of this era of new prosperity.

How the People Make Power Possible

THE people believe in Hydro-electricity. They support its development with their funds. They look upon it as one of the necessities of every-day life.

Electric lights and domestic appliances at home are a matter of course where current is available. The California farmer pumps irrigating water and drives farm machinery with "juice" from the power company's wires. Present-day efficiency in our factories demands individual electric motors for each unit of machinery. Engineers are pioneering the field which will make power the better servant of the people.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Speculators for the decline, finding the stock market in a weakened technical position, as a result of the rapid advance of last Thursday and Friday, today took advantage of the unfavorable Near Eastern news and the unwillingness of traders to carry stock over the holiday, forcing down prices 1 to 3 points.

Uncertainties regarding the outcome of tomorrow's elections and the disposition of traders to await more definite developments in Turkey before extending their commitments resulted in considerably less activity. Total sales aggregated only 704,000 shares, as against the 1,000,000-share average of the last week.

The reactionary movement extended over most of the list, but pressure was concentrated in the last hour on the Erie issues on reports of a strike of employes of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, one of its principal coal properties.

Announcement by the American Railway Association that the demand for traffic facilities had caused the greatest car shortage in history failed to check the decline in the standard rail shares, losses of a point or more being sustained by several.

Chain store shares were bid up in spirited fashion on reports of better business and possible extra dividend reimbursements. Woolworth crossed double par, closing at 204½, a net gain of 17 points on the day.

Copper shares were strong in early dealings, but they forfeited most of their gains in the final reaction.

Dome mines established a new top at 46½ in speculative expectation of an extra cash dividend, but it slumped later to 44.

Profit-taking and short selling in the oil shares caused some substantial recessions. Mexican Petroleum dropped nearly 3 points and losses of 1 to 2 were sustained by Standard Oil of New Jersey, Royal Dutch and General Asphalt. Steels offered better resistance to pressure, most of them yielding only fractionally.

Call money opened at 5 per cent and then advanced to 5½. The time money rate held at 5 per cent with comparatively little business. Only a relatively small amount of new commercial paper is coming into the market.

Seriousness of the Near East situation was reflected in the heaviness of foreign exchange rates. French francs and German marks dropping to new low levels for the year. Demand sterling also reacted.

Sterling also reacted more than 1 cent to $4.44 5-8, a large volume of grain and cotton bills being contributing factors.

ERRATIC DAY ON EXCHANGE

"Political Uncertainties" Are Argued as Cause

Latest Move of Insurgent Turks Also Cited

Foreign Exchange Market Falls in Sympathy

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—For the irregular downward reaction which occurred on the Stock Exchange today, but which was mostly fractional, there was some attempt on Wall street to argue "election uncertainties" as a cause. The explanation was largely pointless and on the whole superfluous. It may be doubted whether there is such a thing as "uncertainties" in the results of tomorrowers polling, unless by that term is meant the scope of the political reaction which is certain to be shown from the vote of 1920. The course of the day's foreign exchange market suggested a different possible influence in the new move of the insurgent Turks. How far our market was actually disturbed by that occurrence, may perhaps be doubted; the cables reported firmness on the London and Paris stock exchanges, which had the news all day and which would naturally have been most upset by it, if the Turkish demonstration had been taken with all seriousness. The day's bond market was irregular; foreign securities moving much as they did last week and Liberty bonds slipping off a fraction from the prices reached on Saturday.

Since foreign exchange has ever since the war been peculiarly the field for speculation on the result of political events, it was not surprising that the Turkish Nationalists' rather insolent note should affect the market. It did so today, to the extent of bringing francs to [illegible] price, cancelling all the recovery [illegible] of last week and causing sterling a reaction of 1¼ cents from Saturday and of 2 cents from last week's best price. No one ascribed the German mark's new low level of depreciation to the Turkish incident; indeed, it was hardly necessary. That the mark, measured in hundredths of a cent as usual, should have gone to 1 7-16, as against 2 1-4 the week before and 4 5-8 a month ago, was a perfectly logical response to today's Reichsbank statement of paper currency issues in the last week of October.

It is quite impossible to discuss these performances any longer as a serious chapter in the history of currency. For the edification of the curious, it may be remarked that the Reichsbank printed 59,483,517,000 paper marks that week, thereby more than redeeming its recent promise of raising the daily output to 3,000,000,000. The best previous weekly record was 35,477,000,000. Anyone who is still interested in the statistics of this week's progress may be interested on learning that the paper currency was increased 14 per cent in the week, 60 per cent in the month and 413 per cent within a year; that continuance of this pace would provide nearly three trillions of paper circulation by next November; also that the fantastic inflation of the last week of October was accounted for by more than 71,000,000,000 marks increase in discount; mostly of treasury bills to make up the current public deficit. This exhibit of worthless paper and reckless public finance is the basis on which the German government is asking for a foreign loan of 500,000,000 gold marks, or $119,000,000, declaring that otherwise it must let the printing press go on.

PRODUCE MARKET

Trading yesterday was fairly brisk in all lines. Most fruits are moving well, although many grapes show poor quality and are selling at a discount. On account of the popular weather hearts, cucumbers and squash are scarce and sellers slightly higher. The tomato market is lower as much poor stock is on the market and is depressing prices. Peppers are scarce and higher, as there is a good demand both for local consumption and for shipping.

DAILY MARKET REPORT

These are the actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles wholesalers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, etc., as compiled by the United States Bureau of Markets. OHIO VOTE SCANDAL AROUSES CITIZENS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 6.—Former Judge A. Z. Blair of Portsmouth, who directed the prosecution of Adams county vote sellers several years ago, has been retained by a citizens' protective committee of Pike county to assist in the investigation of an election scandal in which five men are charged with attempting the purchase of absentee votes from former Pike county residents now living in Scioto and Ross counties.

One arrest has been made and warrants have been issued for the other four accused men.

SOVIET CELEBRATES REVOLT ANNIVERSARY

DELEGATES FROM FORTY-FIVE COUNTRIES ATTEND SESSIONS.

BY GEORGE SELDES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PETROGRAD, Nov. 6.—In celebrating the fifth anniversary of the Russian revolution, soviet leaders declared that their experiment has been a success and they prophesied that the coming five years would mark successful revolutions in other countries. German delegates to the celebration declared that there would be a red revolution shortly in Germany.

Under the chairmanship of M. Zinovieff, the third Internationale held a session in the People's House this evening, following a day of parades outside the winter palace. Forty-five countries were represented and there were numerous American visitors as well as ten delegates. Premier Lenin sent greetings and regrets that he was not able to attend.

Clara Zelkin, who is to Germany what Emma Goldman was to America before her trip to Russia, ably seconded M. Zinovieff's call to arms. She electrified the audience of 5000 when she declared that Germany was especially ripe for a proletariat revolution on account of the conditions imposed by the victors in the war and on account of the monarchist movement.

Before Fraulein Zelkin's announcement the Congress listened to reports of the Italian delegates who declared that there had been a reactionary victory in their country.

M. Zinovieff accused the American government of jailing the best communist workers and he attacked the socialists.

"The chief aim of our epoch," said M. Zinovieff, "is to fight the Socialist parties of the Second Internationale which are the reactionary forces of the international bourgeoise."

M. Katayama, whom the Japanese government banished on account of his radicalism, congratulated the red army for its victories.

BIG PARKS AN ASSET

Government Playgrounds Attract Great Throngs of Visitors; Other News Notes

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 6.—Col. John R. White, superintendent of Sequoia and Gen. Grant National parks, in an address to the directors of the Porterville Chamber of Commerce, cited the wonders of the parks and their possibilities as scenic and cash assets. He declared them the most wonderful parks in the world from a scenic standpoint, but declared he believed their money value was not even dreamed of by residents of the county and valley. He stated that at least $800,000 was left in Tulare county by the 8000 families that spend from one to three weeks in the parks instead of going to the seashore. This sum was aside from that spent daily by visitors.

Accessibility of the parks is spreading their fame afar and 19,776 automobiles were admitted to them last year, exceeding the record of either Yosemite or Yellowstone. It is but twelve miles from Three Rivers to the gate of Sequoia and these parks are more easily reached than any other national parks in the United States.

Col. White intimated that much of the traffic could be diverted through Porterville, Lindsay and Exeter, as these towns are on the logical route from Southern California points, from which much of the tourist travel to the parks comes. The "Orange Belt Route" is also one of the most scenic in California. A sign at Delano directs travelers along it.

In view of the growing importance of the parks to the valley, Col. White believes that business men would find a good venture in providing more adequate facilities for guests at both places. Among other improvements will probably be that of a small church edifice for use of various denominations during vacation seasons.

CATTLEMEN'S FEAST

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 6.—A big feast, with barbecued beef the piece de resistence, will mark the annual convention of the Cattlemen's Association of Deer Creek. Fragrant stew will be served for those who do not desire broiled steaks and chops and other barbecue. Great cans of coffee and jugs of cream will add to the enjoyment. A general invitation has been extended to friends of the cattlemen. A business meeting of the association will be held during the day and a dance at White River in the evening will close the festivities.

RECESS HEARING

VISALIA, Nov. 6.—Trial of the water case of the Tulare Irrigation District against the Lindsay-Strathmore Irrigation District has recessed until November 13, following a night session. This session was held to permit L. Ward of San Pedro to conclude his testimony that he might report back to his station in the Navy. Ward was formerly associate engineer with the defendant district. The case has recessed over election week.

THIEVES AT WORK

TULARE, Nov. 6.—Raisin thieves are again operating in this locality after several weeks of quiet. Several thefts have been reported to Constable J. N. Allen during the last few days, the latest being the theft of about 300 pounds of Thompson seedless from the trays on the Dan Kasarian ranch, a half mile west of Tulare.

A number of weeks ago Kazarian lost several hundred pounds of Muscats drying on the trays.

IT'S BETTER HERE

TULARE, Nov. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones of Tulare have returned to Tulare after an extended visit in Europe. While abroad they visited England, Scotland, France, Germany, Italy, Holland and Switzerland.

Mr. Jones states that they returned with many rich experiences, and that after seeing Europe, they are convinced that America is the best place on earth and California the most blessed.

GOOD QUAIL SHOOTING

TULARE, Nov. 6.—Tulare nimrods, who have taken advantage of the first few days of quail hunting, report fair success. Though the birds are not as plentiful as in former years, good shooting is to be found on several of the larger ranches near here. The foothills afford the best shooting and local experts are planning a big shoot this week end. Reports from the mountains indicate that an unusual number of quail infest the foothills districts this season.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENT

TIPTON, Nov. 6.—C. H. Dunn of Santa Susana and John H. Bennett of Bakersfield suffered severe bruises and lacerations when their car skidded in the sand on the State highway near here and turned turtle. The accident occurred as the men were attempting to pass a truck. They were picked up by a passing northbound stage and brought to Tulare for medical attention. The car was badly damaged.

PACIFIC FLEET TO TEST GUNS

Dreadnaughts to Work Off San Clemente Island

Important Changes Made in Fleet Personnel

Transports Are Coming With New Men

Dreadnaughts of the Pacific Fleet will start their third round of target practice and gunnery exercises next week on the drill grounds off San Clemente Island, it was announced on board the flagship California yesterday. The fleet will round out two weeks stay in port, next Saturday, during which the ships have undergone complete machinery overhaul, the crews also receiving training in a number of new phases of gunnery and ship operation.

IMPORTANT CHANGES

The month will also see several important changes in docking and overhaul schedules of the dreadnaughts in order to conform with the requirements of the winter cruise to Panama. The superdreadnaught Pennsylvania, originally not scheduled for overhaul until early next year, will sail for the Puget Sound navy yard upon completion of her gunnery exercises, December 18.

The Pennsylvania was originally to have been left in the north when the fleet went to Panama, but it has since been decided to use her, as the flagship of the combined United States Fleet during the joint maneuvers. She will return from Puget Sound late in January.

The Texas was scheduled to leave Los Angeles Harbor for Puget Sound December 1, but because of the amount of work to be done on the big coal-burner, she will not accompany the fleet south. Under the new program she will not sail for the north until Jan. 24, 1923, and before she again rejoins the fleet, will have an entirely new set of 14-inch guns. Her machinery arrangement will also be changed.

The Oaklahoma was also to have been left behind during the cruise, but because she is equipped with an airplane launching catapult she will make the trip. Her overhaul period, originally to have begun Jan. 1, 1923, has been set back until next April.

TENNESSEE COMING

The Tennessee, now at the Puget Sound navy yard, will complete overhaul early next week and is due to sail for Los Angeles Harbor on the 16th inst., arriving on the 23rd inst.

Nearly fifty new officers, several hundred enlisted men and thousands of tons of supplies for the Pacific Fleet during the Panama cruise will arrive next month on the transports Sirius and Henderson. The Sirius sails from Hampton Roads on the 21st inst., and the Henderson on the 28th. Thursday the transport Argonne is due from Philadelphia with passengers and stores for the fleet.

Train Hits Car; Woman Driver Seriously Hurt

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 6.—Miss Julia H. Stocklin of 134-B South Workman street, Los Angeles, a nurse at the Pasadena Dispensary, was seriously injured today when her automobile stalled on South Fair Oaks avenue and was struck by a Pacific Electric Short Line train.

Miss Stocklin, the police report says, swerved to the tracks and stopped to avoid collision with another machine, then could not start again.

She was found unconscious in the wreck of her car and was carried to Pasadena Hospital, a short distance away, where it was found she had concussion of the brain, a possible fractured skull, and many bruises. It is thought she will recover.

HAWKEYES ELECT OFFICERS MAKE PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

The Iowa Association elected officers and new directors in a meeting held yesterday at the Union League Club. Those chosen were Col. A. B. Shaw of Sierra Madre, president; Col. H. M. Biglow and Col. Frank H. True, vice-presidents; Capt. Frank H. Nichols, treasurer, and C. H. Parsons, secretary. The five new directors elected were Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach, Capt. Frank H. Nichols, C. H. The winter picnic will be the twenty-fourth annual affair and a large attendance is anticipated. It is estimated that there are from 225,000 to 250,000 former Iowans in Southern California alone.

DOUBLE TRACK WILL BE LAID ON TEMPLE

LOS ANGELES RAILWAY COMPANY TO BEGIN WORK SHORTLY

Double-tracking of a part of the Temple-street line west of Park View will shortly be begun.

The new double track will be laid from Park View to Fountain and Virgil avenues, where at present a single line operates. The only part of the route that will be left single track is from Fountain and Virgil avenues to Fountain avenue and Edgemont, and the existing track will undergo a reconstruction.

This is the biggest track reconstruction job involving intricate special work undertaken by the Los Angeles Railway since the rerouting of lines in 1920. work will be begun in the near future, and will be carried out at night with the aid of two derricks and a large force of men.

CRYER ASKS VOTES FOR BOND ISSUES

Mayor Calls Upon People to Support of Police and Fire Pensions

Mayor Cryer in a statement issued yesterday urged strong support at the polls today for the fire bonds, (proposition No. 18-A,) the water bonds, (proposition No. 19-A,) and for the firemen's and policemen's pension amendment. (proposition No. 8-A.) The Mayor said in part:

"At this time, when our people are confronted with the problem of how to cast their ballots on the many measures presented to them, it is perhaps not inappropriate for me to direct their attention to certain propositions in which our city is vitally interested.

"I would particularly direct attention to the proposed bond issue for additions to the equipment of the Fire Department, City Proposition 18-A. Also to the proposal to issue bonds to increase the facilities of the City Water Department—City Proposition 19-A.

"It is highly important that these bond issues be authorized. Large sections are inadequately provided with fire protection. The tremendous growth of the city has made it impossible for the Fire Department to keep pace with the growth. In order that the Fire Department may operate efficiently it will be necessary to have a modern fire-alarm system, instead of having to depend upon an overburdened telephone system. No new fire stations or trucks have been provided in the last seven years.

The ever-increasing demands for water for domestic and industrial purposes render it important that we should have additional storage reservoirs. We need enlarged water mains and new installations for water distribution.

"There are two measures on the ballot designed to give added powers to the State Railroad Commission in purely municipal affairs. Both should be defeated. I refer to State Propositions No. 11 and No. 30.

"Number 11 proposes to confer power to regulate the rates to be charged consumers of electricity for city light, heat, power and transportation furnished by municipal plants.

"By No. 20 it is proposed to take from the cities and to confer upon the Railroad Commission the power to 'grant franchises. . . for the construction and operation of street, interurban and suburban railways and for the operation of motor vehicles for the transportation of persons or property for compensation upon the streets or highways,' and to prescribe the terms and conditions of such franchises.

"Vote 'No' on State Propositions No. 11 and No. 30.

"I am in hearty sympathy with the effort to provide for the city policemen and firemen, and trust that our people will take the first step to protect the men who frequently risk their lives to serve the people. Vote 'Yes' on No. 8-A.

"Sincerely yours,

"GEO. E. CRYER,
"Mayor."

PIERCE ASKS VOTE FOR 7-A

City Planning Commissioner Pierce yesterday, in a public statement, urged support at today's election for city proposition No. 7-A, which would increase the salary of the City Councilmen from $2400 to $4200 a year. The statement follows:

"I have been wondering for a long time if a lot of the good people of Los Angeles—including myself—are really honest; if so, why do we continue to vote down amendments which propose to raise the salaries of our Councilmen to something near the value of their services? I, together with quite a number of others who are living in Los Angeles, who have held the position of Councilman, know, when we take into account their arduous duties, that their salaries are entirely too small; $4200 per year, which amendment 7-A proposes to raise it to, is very inadequate; let us do that much, though, toward righting it.

"Of course, none of them are perfect; neither do they always vote just as we think they ought to; but after following them very closely for the last three or four years, I think they are generally about as near right as we would be if we were in their places.

"The salaries of the County Supervisors are now $6000 per year. You will be permitted to vote on an amendment raising their salaries to $7500. It should be carried, but is it logical to expect the members of our City Council to work for just one-third of what the Supervisors will get if this amendment carries and 7-A fails to carry. I venture to say that the duties of the Councilmen are as exacting as those of the Supervisors; so vote for 7-A and thus do the square thing by our City Councilmen."

CLOSES DEAL ON BROADWAY SITE

A. C. Blumenthal

GIRL ARRESTED ON MAIL CASE

Mrs. Hazel Hause, indicted by the Federal grand jury last Friday for using the mails in a scheme to defraud, was taken into custody yesterday by Postoffice Inspector Webster. Her bond was fixed at $2500. The woman operated what the Federal officials assert to be a fraudulent establishment in the Lankershim Building.

The plan was that upon the payment of 10 cents and the date of the applicant's birth, there would be sent an accurate forecast of the future life of the applicant. It was to be a trial reading, with payments of $4 for a full reading, all along the lines of astrology. It was not necessary to give the sex, color, where born, or any intimate knowledge of the hour or minute when the birth took place. The readings were by the signs of the zodiac, and would apply to any individual according to circulars sent, it is charged.

It has been held by the Federal Courts that casting the horoscope under certain conditions is legal, but it is also asserted that Mrs. Hause departed from the lines of safety. The woman is 23 years of age and divorced. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Warn, on West Temple street.

Mrs. Hause did a large business with the unsophisticated, and her mail was heavy, according to the statements of those who have been investigating her activities.

FEDERAL OFFICES CLOSED

There will be a total cessation of all public business at the Federal Building today, on account of the election, with the single exception of the postoffice, which will be in operation as usual. There will be no court in either department.

RECORD REALTY DEAL IS MADE

Mercantile Place Sold to Syndicate

Consideration to Involve Millions

Building, With Arcade, is Planned

What constitutes probably the largest cash realty transaction in the history of Los Angeles, the sale of Mercantile Place, extending from Spring street to Broadway, between Fifth and Sixth streets, to a syndicate of San Francisco business men for a consideration reported to be more than $2,500,000, was closed yesterday. With contemplated improvements, comprising a twelve-story class A building on both the Spring and the Broadway frontage, the transaction will represent an investment of between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000.

PICK UP R O PAGE THREE

The purchasing syndicate is headed by A. C. Blumenthal, president of A. C. Blumenthal & Co., while the seller in the transaction just closed was Adolph Ramish, local theatrical man. Mr. Ramish bought the property in the latter part of 1919 from the Board of Education for $1,155,000.

The property has a frontage of 120 feet on both Broadway and Spring streets, with a depth of 320 feet. A great arcade building, the first of its kind on the Pacific Coast, and the only large one west of Cleveland, is to be built by the new owners. Through the center of the property from Broadway to Spring street there will be a twenty-eight-foot tiled walk, with a twenty-two-foot entrance at each street.

SPACE FOR SHOPS

At both the Broadway and the Spring street ends of this walk will be erected a twelve-story class A office buildings, 120 by feet. These buildings will be duplicated in design. Connecting the two office buildings will be built a three-story structure, flanking both sides of the walk, and devoted to small specialty shops, of which there will be thirty in all. The upper floors of the connecting building will also be designed for specialty shops, and along the second floor, on each side of the central walk, there will be broad walks, with connecting bridges, spanning the central passageway. The upper floors of the arcade portion of the building will be served by elevators or escalators.

The exterior of the buildings, throughout, will be finished with terra cotta. The shops will be uniform in design, and they will be flood-lighted at night. The office building on the Spring street side will be designed for occupation by lawyers and by financial houses, while the Broadway office building will be used for a more general class of tenants.

TO RUSH CONSTRUCTION

While tentative plans have been made, the architects have not as yet been selected. It is planned to hold a competition among architects of San Francisco and Los Angeles in order to obtain

BUILDERS TALK NEW HOME

Proposal to Construct Edifice Downtown Takes on Definite Form at Meeting

Fifty leaders of the building industry of Southern California met yesterday to formulate plans for the erection of a structure to house offices of the industry's departments. The meeting was held at the Hotel Clark at noon. A motion was adopted providing for the formation of a legal body to prepare for the erection of the edifice.

A mass meeting is to be held within the next few days at which the complete plans for the building will be presented. The structure is to be called the Construction Industries Building.

The project has been under way for sometime.

HAS BACKING

It is being backed by the Associated General Contractors, the Builders' Exchange and the Building Materials Dealers' Credit Association. The plans as they have been considered thus far provide that a modern office structure shall be built somewhere near the center of the city. In this building architects, contractors and supply dealers and manufacturers will have their offices. The building would serve as a capitol for the building industry in the Southwest.

While there has been much discussion regarding the structure, no definite plans have as yet been worked out. Those who are backing the project seem united in the belief that a building erected in the shopping district will be desirable. It is reported that a site at Eleventh and Broadway is being considered. Other locations near the Plaza are being investigated as well, it is said.

PROMINENT MEN

The persons backing the project have selected Walter Simons as chairman of the committee making the plans. E. Earl Glass, secretary of the Associated General Contractors, is secretary. The assistant secretary is Roy Brown, secretary of the Builders' Exchange. Richard J. O. Culver is the attorney for the group.

The general committee working on the project is made up of H. W. Biddle, Edgar R. Perry, Emil Brown, R. H. Hubbard, M. G. Watkins, Paul H. Ehlers, J. G. Hanley, J. J. O'Connor, E. A. Pozzo, Hubert Ferry, G. P. Griffith, Ralph Homann, Sidney Graves, H. H. Filmore, J. H. Clark, G. E. Anderson, A. T. Wintersgill, Mary Louise Schmidt, J. A. Taylor, C. S. Van Brandt, H. G. Stone, Paul Davidson, L. B. Weber Webster, Z. V. Germain, Godfrey Edwards, Thomas Haverty, J. F. Atkinson and J. F. Blee.

DEATH BREAKFAST GUEST

Flow of Carbon Monoxide From Heaters Overcomes Man and Wife; Neighbors Find Bodies

Death in the form of carbon monoxide gas late last Sunday morning came to the breakfast table of George K. Brierley, 68 years of age, just as his wife, Mrs. Belle Brierley, 65 years old, called him to the meal in their home at 244 West Fifty-second street. Late yesterday morning the bodies of the aged couple were found by neighbors in the gas-filled house.

Mrs. W. C. Hagen and H. A. Savoy of 246 West Fifty-second street, neighbors and friends of the aged couple, were the first to discover the tragedy. Together they fought their way into the poisoned air of the apartment occupied by the Brierleys and turned off two gas heaters which were burning in the front and rear rooms of the establishment. They found the bodies on the floor of the kitchen beside the breakfast table.

Police notified by Mrs. Hagen learned from Mrs. J. E. Pequegnat of 240 West Fifty-second street that she had been disturbed by a strange noise in the Brierley home at about 10:30 Sunday morning. She notified her husband and stated that she thought that someone was groaning.

GROANS HARD

After some time they came to the conclusion that the Brierleys were still sleeping and that one of them was snoring. The sounds heard by the Pequegnats were the death struggles of the aged couple.

Indications found by the police in the Brierley home showed that the aged couple had lighted both gas heaters as soon as they got up Sunday morning. After the stoves had been lighted Mrs. Brierley went to the kitchen and prepared breakfast while her husband was taking a bath. All the windows in the house were closed and the doors locked.

Just as Mrs. Brierley placed a platter of ham and eggs on the breakfast table and called her husband the police say she must have plunged headlong to the floor beside the table. Alarmed by the sound of the fall Mr. Brierley probably rushed from the bathroom only to collapse beside his wife. The two died almost at once, according to police physicians who examined the bodies.

NEIGHBOR OVERCOME

When Mrs. Hagen and Savoy, alarmed at the absence of the aged couple, broke into the house yesterday morning they were both almost overcome by the carbon monoxide gas that filled the rooms. Throwing open all the doors and windows the two rushed from the house. Mrs. Hagen collapsed on the front porch but recovered before the police, who had been notified by other neighbors, arrived.

From the neighbors the police learned that Mr. Brierley and his wife came to this city from Dayton, O., about eight months ago. The couple leave a son, William Brierley of 1736 East Twenty-second street, Cleveland, O., the owner of the Brierley Machine Works of that city; a daughter, Mrs. Frank A. Anderson of 120 Broadway, New York City, and Mrs. Olive C. MacFarland of 724 Rosal avenue, Oakland, the dead woman's sister. There are also several grandchildren. Mr. Brierley was the foreman in a local radiator company.

The bodies were removed to the Bramble Funeral Home. Coroner Nance announced that no inquest will be held.

Aged Couple Poisoned in Home by Gas

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Brierley

HAD an artist stepped into the women's quarters of the City Jail yesterday he would have found a model for a picture that might be captioned, "Beauty and the Drug." And perhaps, had he plied his brush on canvas, he would have painted in unmistakable tones and tints a masterpiece for the carefree person to take a lesson from; an example of what is always at the end of the trail for a dope addict.

Late Sunday detectives of the narcotic squad and Inspector Earl of the State Board of Pharmacy raided a room at Sunset Boulevard and North Spring street. They arrested one woman and a man on violation of the state poison law, and four other men as vagrants. They broke up, they declared, one of the most prosperous drug rings that ever operated in Los Angeles. In a "plant" in a flower pot they found, they said, $1500 worth of morphine. The woman was Mrs. Ruby Ruiz, aged 22 years. When taken to the City Jail she was laughing and buoyant. She admitted, according to the officers, that she had just decided to go for a ride in a $3000 automobile which she said she owned when she was arrested.

Yesterday on a cot in the City Jail the smile and buoyancy had disappeared. The dark eyes which had the day before sparkled with vivaciousness were dully covering a hidden fire. The woman, according to the head matron, lay on her bed savagely kicking the mattress with her slippered heels and constantly bemoaning the fact that in jail they would not allow her to have a "shot." Her hair was disheveled, her hands opened and closely nervously.

In answer to a question she said simply, "Yes, I guess they've got it on me. I know I'm good looking. My husband is in Mexico, but I don't care for that. Oh, I am so sick, if they would only give me a "shot."

TODAY'S BIBLE TEXT

DO GOOD TO ALL MEN—Let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

DECISION HITS CITY OWNERSHIP

Right to Condemn Gorge at Owens River Denied

Federal Appellate Judges So Decide

Corporate Rights Vital to Public Service

Plans for municipal distribution of light and power received a severe setback yesterday when the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in reversing a decision of the U. S. District Court, ruled that the city Los Angeles had no right to condemn a power site in the Owens River gorge owned by the Southern Sierras Power Company.

The court's decision upheld the company's contention that the right of the city to condemn was not superior to the company's right to maintain and improve the holding. The District Court had decided against this view.

The site, which is held to have great potential value, is a strip of land approximately a mile long along the Owens River gorge, appraised at $525,000. The use to which the land is put by the utilities company was held by the lower court to be less necessary than the use to which the city proposed to put it. The holding was considered a necessary part of Los Angeles' plan for light and power under municipal ownership.

The decision stated:

"The properties of the defendant have been appropriated to the public use of other counties, municipalities and incorporated cities and towns and their inhabitants and not for the city of Los Angeles nor its inhabitants.

"We must hold that it was the purpose of the Legislature to provide that property of a private corporation as well as property of a municipal corporation appropriated to public use in one county may not be appropriated to public use by any other county or city and county while such property is so applied and used."

Sixteen municipalities in Southern California are served by the Southern Sierras Power Company, including the counties of Inyo, Mono, San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial and Kern, the county of Riverside deriving its power solely from the company.

The Mono Light and Power Company, predecessors of the present holders, were the original defendants in the suit, which was filed in 1920.

Burglars Make Second Raid on Home in Venice

VENICE, Nov. 6.—For the second time in three months thieves entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Barnes at 103 Grand View Boulevard, Ocean Park Heights, last night and stole approximately $1000 worth of wine and other articles. The thieves also took three books of cancelled checks belonging to Mr. Barnes.

SANTA FE TO FIX CROSSINGS

Concessions by Railway Officers Made

Line to Los Angeles Port Assured

Favorable Recommendation to Come Soon

That the public utilities committee of the City Council will within one week present to the City Council a report which will be adopted by the Council recommending that the application of the Santa Fe for a franchise to extend its line from El Segundo to the Los Angeles Harbor district was indicated yesterday afternoon following a hearing at the City Hall at which valuable concessions were made by the railroad to co-operate with the Councilmen in their desire to protect the public from dangerous grade crossings on the extension and on the existing right of way on Slauson avenue over which Harbor-bound traffic will pass. Following the receipt of the statement in writing from the Santa Fe agreeing to conditions to be incorporated in the franchise, Chairman Sanborn of the committee said:

ONE OBSTACLE

"There is only one other obstacle that stands in the way of the granting of the franchise, and that is this: Will the Santa Fe agree in the future to work with the city toward finding a new route for its harbor traffic, should these harbor trains reach such a number that they will constitute a grade-crossing menace on Slauson avenue?

Attorney M. W. Reed, representing the Santa Fe, answered this question in the affirmative, saying:

"Most assuredly, the Santa Fe will work with the city toward finding a new route for its harbor-bound traffic in the future if it is found that the number of our trains are blocking the Slauson-avenue crossings and are dangerous to the public. We are willing to co-operate with the city in every way and have shown it by the concessions we have already made."

FEDERAL APPROVAL

The committee then took the matter under advisement and is expected to make an early, favorable report. The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington last Saturday issued the Santa Fe a necessary certificate to build the harbor extension, thus approving the project, and the California Railroad Commission will do likewise when the company files its application, which must be accompanied by the franchise granted by the City Council.

The letter of the Santa Fe to the Council agreeing to the conditions in its franchise was as follows:

MILLION PAID TEACHERS

Salaries for One Month Reach New Record Figure of $1,011,744.27, Local Board Announces

For the first time the monthly teachers' pay roll for Los Angeles reached the million-dollar mark, Elliot Craig, chairman of the finance committee of the Board of Education, announced last night when he read the report of Auditor C. F. Lenz.

The total amount paid teachers for services during the second month of this school year was $1,011,744.27, as follows: Elementary teachers, $583,194.93; kindergarten teachers, $43,948.20, and high school teachers, $384,601.15.

The largest amount paid during any month last year was $930,000. Approximately 6000 positions were covered by the pay roll. The increase in the size of the pay roll represents additional teachers, and not larger salaries.

FRIGHTENED AT $50,000

M. C. Bettinger, a member of the board and a veteran in the Los Angeles school service, recalled the feelings of the board in 1904 when it was announced that the monthly teachers' pay roll had reached what was then considered the stupendous figure of $50,000.

A site for one of the new junior high schools to be erected soon was decided upon last night by the Board. The new school to cost approximately $250,000, will occupy a large tract bounded by Hooper, Parmelee, Sixty-seventh and Seventy-first streets. Work on it will be begun next June and it will be ready for occupancy about February, 1924. It has not yet been named.

Work on about $2,000,000 worth of new buildings made possible by the $17,400,000 bond issue voted last June will be begun next month, all legal doubts as to the validity of the bonds having been disposed of.

LIBRARY HOURS SET

The Los Angeles Public Library and its various branches will be closed for circulation on Armistice Day. At the Main Library the reading and reference rooms will be open from 1 to 9 p.m., and at the branches the reading rooms will be open from 2 to 6 p.m. This is purely for reference purposes—no books may be taken home.

Utilities Board to Make Survey of Traffic Need

A request for an appropriation of $331 was tendered to the City Council by the Board of Public Utilities at a special meeting of that body yesterday morning. The money is to be used to make a check of general traffic conditions in order to determine the public necessity and convenience of additional bus lines to operate between Hollywood district and Los Angeles proper.

A great number of applications for permits to operate bus lines have been received by the city in the last few weeks and before any decision can be reached it is necessary for the Board of Public Utilities to make an accurate check of the existing traffic conditions. It is arranged to start the check Thursday morning if the City Council approves the requested appropriation.

POLICE SCOUT LAD'S MURDER

Long Beach Shooting Case Held an Accident

Accept Salmon Girl's Story of Boleyn's Death

Funeral Services to be Held Wednesday Afternoon

"Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 6.—Indications that Long Beach had furnished Southern California with a new murder mystery were dispelled here today when Chief of Police Ben W. McLendon notified the Coroner's office that the death last night of Dana G. Boleyn, 14-year-old high school boy, was "purely an accident."

Young Boleyn, the son of Mrs. Laura Hyden Boleyn, prominent politcal leader and manager of the Charles H. Randall campaign, shot himself through the head after dusk last night while sitting beside Miss Dorine Salmon, 17 years old, in his father's automobile. The tragedy occurred beneath a pepper tree in the rear of the Boleyn residence, 1029 American avenue, the Randall campaign headquarters here.

At first accepting the story of the Salmon girl that Boleyn had shot himself while endeavoring to prove to her that his weapon, a .38-caliber revolver, was "not loaded," police began a thorough investigation after it was discovered that the revolver was missing. An hour later the revolver containing one exploded cartridge was found beneath the cushion of the rear seat of the Boleyn automobile. Convinced that it could not have found its way there without help of human hands, Chief of Police McLendon and Detective M. B. Richardson and Malcolm Kirkpatrick quizzed members of the Boleyn family and others who were first to arrive at the scene of the tragedy.

WEAPON DISAPPEARS

Dana Boleyn, father of the dead boy, who removed the lad from the car and carried him into the house, declared that he did not see the weapon. Miss Salmon against whom the limp body of the boy fell following the shooting told police she did not see the weapon after the shot was fired, and did not know whether it remained in young Boleyn's hand or fell to the floor. Miss Salmon told police she leaped from the machine and ran to the house as soon as she could push Boleyn's body away from her.

A report made to the police that two young men were seen to pass the car while Boleyn and Miss Salmon were sitting in it developed a theory that a jealous rival for Miss Salmon's affections may have shot Boleyn and then hid the revolver beneath the rear seat. This was later disproven, however, and police began working on the theory that some one who arrived on the scene right after the shooting found the weapon and hid it to save the Boleyn family from disgrace in the belief that Boleyn committed suicide.

POLICE SATISFIED

The investigation came to a halt this morning when Chief McLendon declared himself satisfied that the revolver was flung from Boleyn's hand as the bullet entered his head and that it landed on the rear seat. He advanced the theory that in the excitement attendant upon removing the lad's limp body from the car that the rear cushion was moved sufficiently to permit the weapon to slip beneath it.

According to the story told the police by Miss Salmon young Boleyn had driven to her home shortly before dusk and had taken her to his home for supper preparatory to driving to church. Boleyn drove the car into the yard in the rear of his residence and parked it beneath a giant pepper tree, whose branches almost hid the automobile from view. The couple talked for several minutes, Miss Salmon said. The conversation finally turned to her hair which had been recently bobbed.

Opening her vanity case to look at her hair in the small mirror, Miss Salmon displayed a letter which aroused Boleyn's curiosity, she said. She told him it was from a boy friend and Boleyn playfully pretended to become jealous. It was a moment after that, she told police, that the lad drew a revolver from beside him in the front seat and proudly displayed it to her.

"Put it away, Dana, I don't want to see it," Miss Salmon said she told the youth.

"It's not loaded Dorine, see," she says Boleyn replied, and pointed the weapon upward in the general direction of his head. "There was a flash and a loud report," Miss Salmon told the police, "and for a moment I thought some on outside the car had fired."

Sparks of powder struck my cheek and Dana fell over onto my shoulder. I think I screamed and then I saw blood on his face, and I pushed him away from me with all my might. His body fell limply over the steering wheel, and I jumped out of the car and rushed to the house.

"Mr. Boleyn came out just then and he and Mr. Brown carried Dana into the house and sent for a doctor. They tell me Dana died about ten minutes later. Some one took me home in his automobile."

Unless Coroner Nance directs that an inquest be held, funeral services for Dana G. Boleyn will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Byrum & Peek undertaking parlors. Interment will be in the Sunnyside Cemetery.

REALTY DEAL SETS RECORD

the best possible design and arrangement. Work will be started as soon as possible, but it is not expected that building can commence for four months, since the present tenants require 30 days' notice. McDonald and Kahn will be given the contract for construction work, which will be rushed by double shifts of day and night workmen.

The basement, for which leasing negotiations are already under way, will be occupied by a cafeteria, the largest restaurant of its kind in the world.

Mr. Blumenthal yesterday expressed the opinion that this transaction gives to the seller the largest profit on any sale of real estate, held for a two-year period, in the United States. During the time which Mr. Ramish held the property it practically doubled in value. The location of the property, between the two Pacific Electric stations and in the downtown section most heavily traveled by pedestrian traffic, insures the stability of its value, Mr. Blumenthal said.

ONCE SCHOOL SITE

With the erection of the new buildings, one of the few remaining landmarks of the downtown district will pass. The property was bought in 1883 by the Los Angeles Board of Education as a site for a school building, but the expansion of the business district to the southward caused this plan to be abandoned, and the property was held for investment. Negotiations for its sale were opened in 1918, when the school board offered it for slightly more than $900,000. In November of the following year it went to Mr. Ramish, the highest bidder among five contestants, for $1,155,000, which was considered a good price for it at that time. Mr. Ramish was induced to make the investment through Mr. Blumenthal, finally closing the deal through R. A. Rowan & Co., local realtors.

While this is the largest cash transaction to be handled by the Blumenthal Company in Los Angeles, the firm has closed a number of big realty deals since November of 1921, when its offices were first established here. Among the largest of these was the leasing of the Letts property at the southwest corner of Seventh and Broadway for a ninety-nine-year period at a total rental of $12,000,000. Later, a syndicate formed by Mr. Blumenthal purchased the corner of Seventh and Hill streets from Mr. Letts for $1,500,000.

PLANS ANNOUNCED

Other deals handled by the Blumenthal Company include the leasing of the Cunningham property on Hill, between Seventh and Eighth, for ninety-nine years; the sale of the Consolidated Realty Building at Sixth and Hill streets to a San Francisco syndicate for more than $1,500,000; the sale of the Winter Garden property on Spring, between Fifth and Sixth, for a consideration reported at $1,500,000; the sale of the Gilman property on Hill, between Eighth and Ninth, for $160,000; and the purchase of the Earl C. Anthony homesite at Wilshire Boulevard and Bernado street for the erection of a twelve-story class A apartment-house, to cost about $1,000,000. In all of these transactions San Francisco capital was heavily interested.

In the sale of Mercantile Place, both parties were represented by the Blumenthal Company, which is also handling the leasing negotiations, now under way, for space in the building. It is the intention of the owners, Mr. Blumenthal said, to install a great variety of shops in the building, so that the prospective patron can purchase almost any article he desires in the arcade stores.

CLARA'S WITNESS IS DISCREDITED

tical question composed by Clara's lawyer was read to him. All other alienists, both for the defense and prosecution, were present.

The question, which after its reading was the center of a series of attacks launched by the prosecution, was a compilation of practically all of the evidence submitted by the defense, containing all names, dates and skeletons of the testimony of the defense witnesses and depositions touching upon the mental conditions of Clara's father, mother and brother.

At the conclusion of the question, Dr. Hoag was asked:

"Upon these facts, doctor, which we will accept and assume to be true, together with the opinions of intimate acquaintances, as to the mentality of the father, the mother and the brother, I ask you, what is your opinion as to whether or not Clara Phillips was sane or insane at the time Alberta Meadows suffered the injuries that resulted in her death?"

Before Dr. Hoag was permitted to answer, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke entered a storm of objections to many portions of the hypothetical question. He objected to the language used, in reference to the request that the doctor form an opinion upon the opinions of other persons mentioned in the question. His objection was overruled.

Dr. Hoag testified he had interviewed Clara Phillips on three occasions during the past week.

"Did you gather anything in those interviews that throws any light on the question of the sanity or insanity of the defendant?" Attorney Berrington asked him.

"VERY IRREGULAR"

"She tested out as very irregular," the doctor replied. "I gave her the various standardized questions, and she answered them irregularly, one of the recognized occasions of an epileptic constitution. Her mentality seemed to vary at times."

Dr. Hoag further testified, basing his conclusions upon the hypothetical question, that John Weaver, Clara's father, was insane at times because of epilepsy. The question signified to him that John Weaver had a violent and frequent uncontrollable temper and variant lapses of memory.

Clara's mother, he stated, was "a classic picture of epilepsy." Her brother, "a perfect picture of feeble-mindedness, with some things pointing toward epilepsy."

In the doctor's opinion, Clara could not distinguish the difference between right and wrong at the time Alberta Meadows was murdered. He also testified that a crime of such extreme and unnecessary brutality as the killing of Alberta Meadows was nothing more significant than the fact it was an epileptic murder.

Asked by Fricke what bearing frequent outbursts of temper and temperament would have with his diagnosis of a person so afflicted, Hoag answered: "I would suspect any person having frequent outbursts of temper and temperament as being epileptics."

TELLS OF TESTS

Hoag recited briefly the various tests he had given Clara to ascertain her mental status. She was asked where New Orleans was. She answered: "In Louisiana because I have been there." She declared Detroit was in Michigan because she had a friend in that State with whom she corresponded. She said she didn't know whether the population of Los Angeles was more than 50,000 or not, but she was sure that it was more than 10,000.

"She answered some of the questions very well and others very unsatisfactory," Dr. Hoag testified. "I found that she was very unreliable as to her memory. The questions I asked her could have been answered by an 10-year-old child."

"You mean to say that her mental status is not in excess of ten years?" Fricke questioned.

"I have an opinion as to her mental condition relative to age which, of course, would be susceptible to change upon further examination if I learned additional points. My opinion now is that she has the mentality of a child somewhere around the age of 10 years."

"When did the psychic epilepsy, if Clara Phillips was the victim of such a thing, occur relative to the killing of Alberta Meadows? Was it before the assault was committed or was she seized with the spell after she struck the first blow?"

"I don't know I'm sure."

ON LAST LAP

After a delay of an hour and a half devoted to clearing the court calendar, Attorney Herrington started on the last lap of Clara's defense program, that of insanity.

Supporting the defense's contention that Clara Phillips is insane, Dr. Ernest D. Hoag, the first of the defense's four alienists, was called to the witness stand. Fifteen minutes of the half-hour morning session was taken up with a recital of the witness's past experience with mental and nervous diseases.

Dr. Hoag, who is official mental examiner for the Juvenile Court, a former member of the Lunacy Commission, and a lecturer on mental and nervous diseases, defined the various kinds of epilepsy, which shows itself by violent spasms and a total or temporary loss of consciousness; psychic epilepsy, with an absence of convulsions and a malady, the victim of which may commit acts without remembering these acts afterward; Jacksonian epilepsy, affecting a single or huge group of muscles; and the ordinary variety of epilepsy, commonly known as "fits," in which the victim may not have convulsions and very infrequently remembers or has a hazy memory of what had occurred during the seizure.

TWENTY-PAGE QUESTION

Following Dr. Hoag's lecture on epilepsy, Attorney Herrington prepared to ask his twenty-page hypothetical question. He was halted by Superior Judge Houser, who called a recess until 2 p.m., when all alienists, both defense and prosecution expert witnesses, were instructed to be in court, when the reading of the hypothetical question was to be begun.

Dr. E. H. Anthony preceded Dr. Hoag in the witness chair. Dr. Anthony is the physician attending Mrs. Anna Laura Weaver, Clara's mother, who is said dto be a victim of epileptic convulsions. He testified that he had attended Mrs. Weaver last Saturday night, when she was said to have been seized with epileptic convulsions.

Under a rigid cross-examination by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke, Dr. Anthony admitted he was not a specialist in the treatment of nervous diseases, but was merely a family practitioner.

LOS ANGELES AND SANTA FE HARBOR RAILWAY COMPANY
I. L. Hibbard, President.

PROPOSED FRANCHISE

Those appearing yesterday in opposition to the granting of the Santa Fe's application included J. S. Horn, representing the Central Labor Council, and George E. Preston, Dr. J. W. Oakley, Patrick Campbell and others who are seeking a change of route of the extension in Bixby Slough so that this section of the harbor, including Harbor City, can be developed. The Oakley group also filed a petition with the Council yesterday asking that an improvement district be created around Bixby Slough so that $2,000,000 in bonds could be issued against the property owners there, a new channel created and this section opened to development. Officials of the Santa Fe said that they doubted the feasibility of a profitable development of Bixby Slough in the near future, nevertheless the company would, should the development come, be willing to move its line at Bixby Slough at its own expense and exchange its right of way for a new one, so that the Santa Fe harbor extension would serve and not block this extension. It developed during the hearing that the Oakley interests are hoping that steel plants will be established in Bixby Slough and spend $75,000,000 there.

DE COO NOT TO RESIGN, HE ASSERTS

Police Commissioner Says His Domestic Troubles No Reason for Quitting

"Mayor Cryer intimated to me a number of months ago that it might be wise to resign from the Police Commission. The matter was spoken of at the time that Mrs. De Coo first filed an action for separate maintenance. I did not resign at that time and do not intend to now."

This is what Police Commissioner De Coo said yesterday when questioned regarding his future actions as a Police Commissioner. He also declared that after his conference with the Mayor he visited a number of big business men in search of advice and was told that there was no reason for his resignation.

"I see no reason why my domestic troubles should be dragged into this matter," stated Commissioner De Coo yesterday. "My wife has filed a separate maintenance suit and I have filed an answer and a divorce complaint. What connection this has with the fact that I am a member of the Police Commission is more than I can see.

"Mayor Cryer and his secretary hinted to me some time ago that I had better write out my resignation. I did not comply with the suggestion and have heard nothing more about the matter. I do not intend to resign. I do not even intend to discuss the matter any more," decalred Mr. De Coo.

Mayor Cryer yesterday stated that he had intimated to Mr. De Coo that his resignation should be handed in but stated that at present the matter would not be pressed.

PLANS FOR ROAD WORK APPROVED

Five Projects to Involve Expenditure of $150,000 Announced

The Board of Supervisors after conferring with the Board of Public Works yesterday announced that it had agreed to spend $150,000 to improve main traveled highways leading into Los Angeles.

Specifying the details of the project and the cost entailed in each instance, the board stated that the Cahuenga pass grade would be lowered because the heavy traffic leading to Ventura, Ventura and Santa Barbara. The improvement will cost $100,000. The rest of the expenditures are listed as follows: Glendale Boulevard, $10,000; Palms and National Boulevard, $10,000; Western avenue, $7000; Indiana street, $15,000 and Alhambra avenue, $5.

The board passed a resolution in which it agreed to carry one-third of the cost of building a new bridge at Pacoima, estimated at $52,000, providing the city of Los Angeles and the State will assume two-thirds of the expenditure. Construction will be started immediately after the necessary organization has been effected.

DRUG PEDDLERS ARE CONVICTED

Convicted before Police Justice Richardson of violations of the State Poison Act, six men were yesterday afternoon sentenced to serve a total of 1140 days in the city jail. All of the men, according to the police, were drug users.

Juan Rojan and Y. Martinez, charged by the police with having been drug peddlers, were sentenced to serve one year in the City Jail each. Marion Rice was sentenced to serve 140 days, while Vesus Basquez, Anson Salazar and Juan Sandover drew ninety days in the City Jail each.

CRONIN'S WRIT INVESTIGATED

Robert Cronin, who was discharged as County Jailer after charges filed by Sheriff Traeger, in his attempt to recover his position by a writ of mandate filed yesterday a copy of the court proceedings with the Civil Service Commission.

Cronin contends that he had no hearing and therefore is not legally discharged. He asks that he receive his salary from October 9 last.

MOTORIST OFFERS CELLULOID REPORT

TAKES PHOTOGRAPH OF TWO AUTOS TO SHOW HE WAS BLAMELESS

PASADENA, Nov. 6.—E. L. Johnson of Los Alamitos goes prepared for all emergencies when he starts out in his car. He carries a couple of spare tires, a tow line, a water bucket, extra gas, oil and water and a camera.

Mr. Johnson demonstrated the usefulness of the latter tool today when his car had a collision with that of Mrs. Alma B. Terry of Primrose avenue, Pasadena. To prove that the accident wasn't his fault, Mr. Johnson took a picture of the position of the two machines before they were separated.

And in his report to the police, he stated that a picture of the accident would be furnished as soon as the films were developed. The police told him to never mind.

WRIGHT ACT CHIEF TOPIC OF WOMEN

Club Federation President Declares Large Majority Will Put Measure Over

"The women of California are going to be a leading factor in carrying the Wright Enforcement Act at the polls next Tuesday," declared Mrs. J. C. Urquhart, president of the Los Angeles district of Federation of Women's Clubs, last night.

Mrs. J. C. Urquhart

"Club women from the northern to the southern boundary of the State are concentrating now in the work of organizing automobile squadrons to take women voters to the polls on election day," continued Mrs. Urquhart. "We know if the majority of the supporters of the enforcement law go to the polling booths, the majority they will pile up for the measure will be a stunning blow to the bootlegging interests.

"California women are going to vote for the Wright amendment, above all other considerations, because it is simply carrying out the desire expressed in the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution, and to uphold our Constitution is the fundamental upon which this country has been builded. Enforcement of the nation's laws is an absolute necessity, as upon full observance of national measures depends the stability of the United States. Not to sustain the Constitution in these ways would mean that the door would be left wide open for vitally harmful work by the Bolsheviks in this country."

BEACH POLICE SEEK LOST TOT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Nov. 6.—Police of the Bay Cities are making a widespread search for two-year-old June Knotts, who was lost from her mother's side Sunday afternoon in the throngs of pedestrians on Ocean Front. Frantic appeals to the police by the mother, who lives at 242 East San Pedro street, Los Angeles, started a search for the child that was continuing late today.

LINEBERGER CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Misrepresentation Drive by Opposition Futile, Says Congressman

"In spite of the pernicious efforts that have been made to misrepresent my stand on important issues and to defeat my re-election at any cost and by any means, I am confident that the voters of the Ninth District will return me to Congress tomorrow," was Congressman Walter F. Lineberger's statement made at the conclusion of his campaign for re-election last night.

Maj. Lineberger stated that reports that have reached him during the past week have made him confident of re-election by a substantial majority. Everywhere throughout his district, which includes Long Beach, Pasadena, Whittier, Pomona, Monrovia, Glendale and a large part of Los Angeles, his supporters have noted a decided swing of sentiment in his favor, he said.

"The campaign against misrepresentation that my associates and I have waged during the past several weeks is bearing fruit," said Maj. Lineberger. "We have counteracted the efforts of the opposition to attempt to confuse and deliberately misrepresent my attitude toward important issues. The result seems to be a reaction distinctly in my favor.

"I am standing squarely on my record in Congress as against that of my opponent. I have confidence in the sound judgment of the voters of the Ninth District. I am not in the least worried about the outcome of tomorrow's election. I have every reason to believe that the result will be a victory for the entire Republican ticket, including myself."

VENICE WATERWAYS WILL BE RETAINED

FEW PROPERTY OWNERS WANT CANALS TRANSFORMED TO BOULEVARDS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Nov. 6.—The canals of Venice of America are to be retained and made more beautiful, and will not, as proposed, be converted into a network of boulevards.

This decision was announced today as the result of replies to questionnaires mailed to Venice property owners by the City Planning Board of the Chamber of Commerce. Of two proposals for the future of the canals, that favoring the retention and beautification of the waterways was overwhelmingly strong. Comparatively few property owners were in favor of eliminating the canals to gain automobile roads.

A civic center and a beautiful parkway between the Lagoon and Grand canals are included in plans of the Planning Board and will be worked out in conjunction with the greater development of the

SOON TO OCCUPY POSTAL STATION

Arcade Postoffice Begins Functioning Nov. 15

Survey of Business Shows Immense Growth

New Offices Are Largest in Entire West

In view of the fact that after November 15 the commodious quarters for the new Arcade postoffice station at Third street and Central avenue will be occupied, Postmaster O'Brien yesterday prepared a survey of the growth of the business of the local postoffice since the removal of the general postoffice to its present quarters, twelve years ago.

The postal receipts for 1922 will amount to $5,778,261.18; in 1910 the figures were but $1,476,942.02, or an increase in twelve years of $4,301,319.16, or 291.23 per cent.

SHOWS VAST GROWTH

The employees in 1910 numbered 603; in 1922, 1465, an increase of 862, or 142.96 per cent. In 1910 there were 263 carriers; now 639; in 1910 there were 324 clerks, now 786; in 1910 there were sixteen laborers, now forty.

Postmaster O'Brien says that if, with the postal receipts, the local office was allowed 603 regular employees in 1910, proportionately with the receipts of 1922 there should be 2359 employees.

During the last twelve years the percentages of increase in the respective srevices were: Carriers, 142.96; clerks, 143.59; laborers, 150.

STATION COMPLETE

The new station about to be occupied by the postoffice establishment will be the largest and most completely equipped of any in the West, having a floor space of 150,000 square feet, with a frontage on Central avenue of 532 feet and on Third street of 273 feet. It will have a mailing platform 240 feet long by twenty feet wide, which will accommodate forty-four motor trucks at one time, and 120 feet in addition, where mail cars can be run alongside the mailing room and be loaded or unloaded at the mailing floor.

Besides this, there is another platform ninety-six feet long and twenty feet wide for the handling of parcel post packages by a conveyor system. Adequate facilities have been provided for the expeditious handling of all kinds of postal business at this station, with the single exception of the general delivery service, which will remain at the main postoffice. A large number of lock boxes of all sizes have been installed, and windows for the transaction of registry, money order and parcel post business, and for the sale of postage stamps, both wholesale and retail.

The entire division of mails will be transferred from the main postoffice to the Arcade station, and all mails will be received and dispatched from that station. All collections from the street letter boxes will go direct to Arcade station.

Electric Road Proposes New Freight Line

The City Council's Public Utilities Committee yesterday afternoon considered the franchise asked for by the Pacific Electric Railway Company to operate a freight service at night over the tracks on San Pedro street between Aliso street and Ninth street in order to serve the Westinghouse Company and other industries there, and action was deferred, until it can be ascertained if the Pacific Electric will buy the tracks from the city.

The tracks now there were laid by the city nine years ago as the beginning of a municipal railway to the harbor. When this project was abandoned, the tracks were leased to the Pacific Electric, which now uses them as a part of its suburban passenger lines. If an agreement can be reached between the railway and the city, the tracks will be sold to the company.

WANTS HER DIVORCE

Charging that her husband frequently "became white with rage," Mrs. Mildred Desses filed suit for divorce yesterday against Albert Desses. She also charges him with "pushing her about as if she were a piece of furniture" and with having an ungovernable temper. The husband is also said to have ordered Mrs. Desses from the house.

AWAITING THE AX

Turkey is now reported as very defiant. Wait till Turkey hears the whistle blow for Thanksgiving or Christmas. Then we'll see who gets it in the neck.

WHO BURNT SMYRNA?

We can understand an advancing army burning its bridges behind it, but why should an advancing army burn the city ahead of it that has just come safely into its possession? Yet that is what the Turks are supposed to have done.

THE UNMUZZLING

Dog days seem to be over. The muzzling ordinance is to be repealed and Fido may safely appear in public without having his countenance wired. The gay dogs we have with us alway. Men who lead a dog's life may now come in the front way.

A PROMISING CANDIDATE

Maj. John Jacob Astor, in running for a seat in the British Parliament, is impressing on the electors that he is "bringing American money to their country." How to get more American money to Europe is today the chief issue "over there" still waiting solution. If Maj. Astor can do this he ought to be good for any office he cares to ask for.

RUSSIAN ENTHUSIASM

The Bolshevists are taking no chances on making the celebration of their fifth anniversary a flaming success. Every citizen under pain of fine and imprisonment has been ordered to fly a red flag at least a yard long. The display of brilliant bunting throughout the Russian domain will thus impress capitalistic governments with the complete unanimity of the Russian Commune. Say the soviets in effect to the people, "We will make you free if we have to send you to jail to do so."

CONSTRUCTIVE

The woman with a hammer is one thing, but the man with a hammer uses it for constructive work in this section. With nearly $11,000,000 in building permits for October in Los Angeles the year is certain to furnish the world with a mark to shoot at. All the towns round about are also at high pulse. Glendale at the north gate built $700,000 worth of homes during October and has nearly $6,000,000 in permits for the year. All the other neighbors are going strong. It is a wonder year for the sparkling Southwest.

THE REAL THING

The voter is pleased to know that Friend Richardson is a man of his word. He doesn't have to be taken on hearsay. He is no upstart claimant, but one who has had all the thrills of experience. He has been climbing the ladder and has made good at every round. He brought real economies into the State printing house when he had charge. As State Treasurer he is handling more than twice as much money as when he first went into the office, but he is doing the work of his department at practically the same expense as before. In almost every other department the expenditures have quadrupled within the time. When he says he can save millions he knows what he is talking about and how it is to be accomplished.

GAMBLER'S ITCH

Georges Carpentier and Henri Le Tellier of Paris are said to have obtained the soviet concessions for certain gaming in Russia. They will reopen a couple of the late Czar's palaces as temples of Fortuna. Le Tellier was the friend of Peggy Joyce and already has gambling concessions at a number of European resorts. He would add Russia to his string and figures that Carpentier would be a good associate for the enterprise. It is understood that only Frenchmen, Englishmen and Americans will be permitted to play and then only in gold. The soviet rake-off will be heavy and it is desired that this shall be in American coinage. Then the leaders will know that they have something. Americans who visit any of the Old World capitals are pretty sure to be frisked. Now is the time to see America first.

TREES AND PARKING

The Department of Agriculture is of the benevolent belief that it is as important that a city should see that its streets are shaded as that they are lighted. The citizens should be screened as well as illuminated. Every city should have a program that provides street trees in all residence districts. It takes time to produce a real tree and the beginning should be early. It has been noted that tree planting has been neglected in the Los Angeles district in recent years. In the subdivisions platted some years back some system of planting for shade was usually provided. The trees were set out before any attempt to sell the lots was made. In most of the subdivisions platted within the last year no effort is made to provide a shaded parking. The matter is left to the buyer of the lot. Usually he is neglectful about the details. If he does plant a tree it may not be a wise selection or in conformity with the rest of the district. Those streets are the most beautiful and desirable in which a definite program of planting has been provided and carried out. It manifestly adds to the value and desirability of the property and can best be undertaken when the tract is being opened.

THINK RIGHT; VOTE RIGHT

Nothing remains now but to vote.

Right-thinking citizens are not accomplishing much in the way of good citizenship by agreeing with the wife over the breakfast coffee and toast that Richardson is the man for the job; that the single-tax amendment is a menace and that the power and water proposition is a public peril and that the policemen and firemen deserve justice in the way of adequate pensions.

Think right.

THE MASQUERADER

It is too bad that great wrongs should be able to noisily masquerade as great reforms. Under the pretext that it is a measure for the general good and a sane step in the direction of public ownership the proposed $500,000,000 water-and-power-bond act is in reality the greatest adventure in absolute political autocracy that was ever attempted in the State.

The public will own nothing; the public will have no voice in the management or direction; the public will derive no benefit; the public will be as remote as the moons of Jupiter. The entire project is under the complete domination of a commission that is purely political in its origin and, once established, is not answerable to the people, the Legislature, the courts or any authority other than its own. The taxpayers obligate themselves and their property to the extent of $500,000,000 and hand the proceeds over to a band of political pirates. They may happen to be worthy business men and patriots, but the powers conferred upon them should never be bestowed upon any group of human beings.

Not only does this piracy commission have sole command of the expenditure of the $500,000,000, but, if the enterprise fails; if it shows a deficit or if the interest must be defaulted, further demands upon the public credit are authorized. The people must dig down deeper and deeper and may not even question the acts of the management. A more complete surrender of the popular will was never suggested. In the days when Tammany held the city of New York by the throat there was never the brazen effrontery to attempt such a vast political escapade as this. The people are not only asked to affix handcuffs to their wrists and the ball and chain to their limbs, but they are urged to smile and look pleasant in the doing.

HOW MUCH WE OWE

Now and then some curious-minded official takes time to inquire into the affairs of the taxpayers of the State; John Mitchell, a member of the Board of Equalization from the Second District, has done this with surprising results.

His investigation shows that the total indebtedness of the State and its various divisions on June 30, 1922, was $522,149,144, which is $200,000,000 more than was indicated on the 30th day of June, 1921.

The total assessed value of all property in California, including operative property, for the year 1921-22 was $4,686,066,656 and the total indebtedness amounted to 11.1 per cent. Inasmuch as the limitation of debt is 15 per cent of the assessed valuation, it is easily seen that we are rapidly reaching the final maximum fixed by law.

Public bonds are exempt from all forms of taxation, Federal, State and local. Upon the basis of our taxation it is evident that California is losing $9,000,000 annually. Congress and President Harding have the question of exempt bonds up for consideration now and it seems more than likely that some kind of legislation will be had to put an end to this kind of Federal financing.

Too many people are taking advantage of the exemption offered to escape the duty of helping to support the government on an equality with those who are not so fortunate as to own bonds. The actual interest paid upon all the public bonds of the State is apparently 5.05 per cent, but this rate, plus $1.75, money invested in exempt bonds, is equal to $6.80. The bonded indebtedness of the State and its political subdivisions is, therefore, approximately $200,000,000 in excess of the published reports, and the rate of interest is really 6.80 if the loss to the people on exempt bonds is included.

RADICAL LABOR REBUKED

Labor extremists just now seem to be entirely out of favor with the plain people. On the top of the extraordinary triumph of the Fascisti in Italy over the radicals and Socialists comes news of the municipal elections in England which have nearly obliterated the British Labor party. In 1919 Labor won 573 seats in the London councils, it retains only 383. Never before in so short a time has a British electorate so completely reversed itself.

At last the tired taxpayers are speaking their minds. Costly Socialistic experiments that do nothing but spread idleness and poverty and discourage thrift and effort have worn out the patience of the British burden bearers. Dangerous Communistic doctrines that led to the illegal seizure of factories and workshops and disorganized industry roused the wrath of the young bloods of Rome. In both cases radical propaganda has recoiled on those who attempted to throttle individual enterprise by forcing extreme measures on the people.

The most enthusiastic supporters of Socialistic experiments and hare-brained theories of government are the quickest to experience a change of heart when it is brought home to them that they must help pay the bills for running the show and playing the new game.

It is one thing to express an extreme opinion on public rights and private wrongs. It is something quite different to back up those opinions with half your own earnings. The truth of this has come home to the British taxpayers.

FACETIOUS FASCISTI

Italians sometimes display a primitive brand of humor very refreshing to those jaded by a too-long contemplation of the serious. Moreover, they cater to a sense of the ridiculous that is sometimes the best weapon for advancing solemn and purposeful ends.

There was nothing funny about the way in which the Fascisti seized the reins of government in Italy, and the results of this seizure may be far from comical for the balance of power in Europe. Yet by interjecting some jazz passages into their grand-opera movement the Fascisti have, without a doubt, toned up the whole composition.

Thus when they chevied the Communist deputies through the streets, shaved their Bolshevist whiskers and painted their shorn pates with the national colors they probably did more to knock out anarchy in Italy than the soviets did to promote it in Russia by terror and bloodshed.

They have made their adversaries look ridiculous in the public eye. In addition they have escaped the pit into which the too melodramatic D'Annunzio took an incontinental header.

After all, it is better policy to cut off an enemy's beard than to cut off his head. The first makes him look foolish, the second makes him look like a martyr. Had Oliver Cromwell cut off King Charles's beard instead of his head England today would probably have been a republic.

BATHERS AND TANKERS

Pouring oil on the troubled waters isn't always a good practice—at any rate, our Southern California beach resorts don't appreciate this pouring when it takes place within the five-mile limit. It doesn't still their troubles, it only adds to them.

Beach town property owners are naturally more interested in surf bathing than in bilge pumping, but masters of tankers find cleaning tanks and pumping bilge in the still waters off shore very suitable to their conveniences. Hence blobs of black grease are strewn along the golden sands and sometimes by attaching themselves to the bodies or bathing suits of swimmers or beach Valentinos, spoil the pleasure of sporting on the seashore.

The superintendent of Los Angeles Harbor, backed by the oil and refinery companies, is doing his best to prevent the masters of tankers from cleaning up within the five-mile limit and promises to take drastic measures to put an end to the practice. The ocean for ships and the surf for bathers seems an equitable division of the gifts of the sea.

Anyhow, tankers being so inconspicuous a minority compared to bathers, they should not grudge the extra trouble of proceeding beyond the five-mile limit before sprinkling the clean waters of the Pacific with the refuse of their oil tanks. The chief parties interested should be able to adjust such matters amicably without having to resort to either court proceedings or prohibitory injunctions.

A GREAT PROJECT

Los Angeles is the citadel and stronghold of the cinema industry. It is in the land of the great outdoors. We have had much in the way of pageants, processions and festivals, but it must be remembered that much is expected of the community. We have more than 1000 new visitors every day and most of them expect to be entertained. About nine out of eight of the arrivals appear to be heartily interested in the movie industry. They can't all see how pictures are made, but they want to gather some close-up ideas. They have asked why it is that when we do have a big parade or celebration the screen is not adequately represented. They insist that the film industry could of itself present a spectacle that all America would be eager to spy.

Now the picture producers indicate a willingness to respond to this thought. They offer to present an annual pageant or exposition that would be to Los Angeles what the Mardi Gras is to New Orleans, the Veiled Prophet to St. Louis or the Rose Tournament to Pasadena. It would convey the carnival spirit of America and at the same time exploit that which is beautiful and worthy.

As evidence of good faith the directors indicate a willingness to present a pageant or series of street pictures commemorative of the centennial anniversary of the enunciation of the Monroe Doctrine, which was distinctly established in President Monroe's message to Congress in 1823. The doctrine is now 100 years old and able to walk alone. It is capable of inspiring a historical pageant of great beauty and of international importance. Such a presentation could be better made at the hands of the picture industry than any other source on earth. Here is something worth while. It would be a wonderful thing for the screen industry as a whole and worth millions to Los Angeles.

Child of Age Favored

Careful research is said to have established the fact that the child of a father over 50 years of age has ten times as good a chance of becoming eminent as he would have if his father were a young man.

Word from An Expert.

REPUBLICANS SAVED MONEY

During the first year all the departments of government were in exclusive control of the Republicans.

The public debt was reduced $1,014,068,844.

The public expenditures were reduced $1,742,319,789.

This is the greatest reduction of public debt and public expenditures any nation in the world has made since the armistice.

The Republican Congress appropriated one-third of a billion dollars less for ordinary expenditures this year than were appropriated last year and over $1,000,000,000 less than were appropriated two years ago.

During the period (following the 1918 elections) the Republicans had control of Congress, while the Democrats still controlled the executive departments the Republican Congress reduced requests of Democratic executives for money in the sum of $3,890,000,000, or more than enough to run the government for the present fiscal year.

The Budget Bureau, the creation of which is the greatest piece of constructive business legislation of a generation, was created by an act of this Republican Congress early after it convened in special session April 11, 1921. The Republican Congress enacted a similar budget law in the previous session only to have it vetoed by President Wilson.

The fact that this Congress reduced the estimates sent it by the Budget Bureau in the sum of $172,533,046, or more than 7 per cent, proves it was not a spendthrift body.

The annual fixed charges as a result of the war are over $1,675,000,000 more than they were prior to the war, which shows it is impossible ever to reduce public expenditures to a prewar basis.

RIPPLING RHYMES

WHAT'S THE USE?

I read the books the boys produce and sadly murmur, "What's the use?" No doubt there are in modern towns all kinds of sapheads, boors and clowns who do not know a noble play or painting from a bale of hay. Why drag them from their humble nook and boldly place them in a book and say, "These tinhorns re-present our country, to the bow-wows bent; these freaks, as drawn by gifted pen, are portraits of our fellowmen; they're all as much alike as peas and they are all composed of cheese." No doubt they are such tawdry skates, poor fish and mental featherweights; but why in novels turn them loose? Again I query, "What's the use?" The pessimists these days are young, bright lads whose withers are unwrung; why should they write such grouchy tomes, despairing plays and sorehead poems? When graybeards take their pens in hand to prove that all things should be canned, that culture's perished from the earth and all they see has little worth, and paint a future black as pitch, they doubtless have the gout or itch. But why should youth waste priceless ink to show the world is on the blink, that man is but an ape or goose? I rise to ask you, what's the use?

WALT MASON.

OPTIMISM OF OLD AGE

Former Senator Cornelius Cole exemplifies the optimism which seems to be the common characteristic of centenarians. They leave to youth the worries of life and its pessimistic forebodings. "I hear much alarmist talk," says the lively and alert old Californian. "Sixty years ago men said the country was going to the dogs, but it didn't seem to, somehow."

He could find numerous current examples to controvert his cheerful theories. Certain countries of Europe appear, outwardly at least, to have gone to the dogs. And there is a sufficiently substantial basis to a large amount of "alarmist talk."

But almost any kind of reversal of human conditions is possible in a century, and the opinion of a man who has lived that length of time is to be received with due regard for that fact. Sixty years ago the country which men said was going to the dogs had just begun the Civil War, which, so far from ending it, was to unite it to enjoy a new prosperity. What sixty years may do for the rehabilitation of Europe may be left to the prophets of pessimism to predict and to the centenarians of future generations to controvert.

At least the time has not yet come for Macaulay's New Zealander to muse on the ruins of London Bridge. And as against the dire forebodings of Mr. Wells it is profitable to cite the hopefulness of this centenarian optimist.—[New York World.

Whenever the government changes the designs of postage stamps it cleans up a big profit from the stamp collectors. Recently these collectors purchased 12,581 of the new motorcycle stamps in one week. This was a clear profit of $1255.10 to the government outside of the bare cost of paper and printing.

WOMEN MURDERERS

BY MILTON SILLS

[Mr. Sills, now a well-known motion picture star, was formerly Fellow in Philosophy, University of Chicago.]

Women murderers!

The juxtaposition of these two words strikes the mind with so much strangeness and horror that the fact they represent seems to demand an explanation.

Why this sudden recrudescence of primitive crime in the midst of our apparently advanced civilization?

Whence this hideous anomaly startling us morning after morning as we stare at the headlines over our trembling coffee cups? Here a woman on trial for killing her husband, there one in prison for slaying her lover, here another who has poisoned her rival!

Is it all due to the new freedom which women have gained during the war? May we account for it by the fact that the invention of steam and modern machinery has taken away from women many of their ancient occupations? Or is it due perhaps to some vast cosmic change that must also account for wars, pestilences and revolutions? Personally, I think it is none of these.

* * *

It is true that modern woman is the growing point of the race. Speaking in terms of revolution, the flapper is our biological mutant. She represents mankind changing before our very eyes, developing perhaps into the superman and woman of the future. As such she is in a state of unstable equilibrium, a fact admirably screened by Mr. C. B. DeMille in his forthcoming Paramount production entitled "Adam's Rib." But I cannot believe that this natural development is accountable for the nauseating degeneracy of our female murderers. As for modern industry, I believe that women have a wider field of work than they have ever had before. And the cosmic explanation is too vague and mystic for the scientific mind to accept.

* * *

I would suggest that the solution of the problem is far more likely to be found in mental and physiological defects, due to far different causes.

During the last century our race has been breeding more prolifically than ever before in history. We have spawned over all the continents.

Competition in the struggle for existence has grown extremely intense. Life is infinitely more difficult than it used to be. People by the thousand are succumbing to the overstrain of our civilization. Our insane asylums are filled to overflowing, our sanatoriums are populated by nervous wrecks, our prisons take the remainder of the jetsam of modern life.

Criminologists find that our idea of crime must be revised.

The criminal in the vast majority of cases is not a normal human being; he is not insane, but belongs to an intermediate stage that we usually label degeneracy. This degeneracy is eight cases out of ten is not so much physical as mental.

The criminal psychologist finds that most of our felons are morons. We are beginning to meet with this word in the newspapers, but most people are still unfamiliar with its meaning.

A moron is, physically, an adult man or woman, but mentally a child aged 13 or thereabouts. The moron is a case of arrested mental development.

During the war the army mental tests revealed an appalling percentage of this element in our population. Most of our women delinquents of all kinds belong in this class. Mental tests would doubtless reveal that the woman murderer is almost invariably a moron.

* * *

In my opinion this is due to the breeding of the unfit; physically overworked and nervously overwrought parents bring these creatures into the world. And the only way this condition can be cured is, not through the agency of the prison and the scaffold, but by treating that most precious thing called humanity with the scientific care and solicitude with which we breed our prize game cocks, police dogs and race horses.

Parents should undergo mental and physiological tests; they should pass an examination before they are allowed to have children; in short, parenthood should be licensed. Above all, the unfit must not be allowed to breed.

Society's responsibility, however, does not cease even here. In addition to "nature" there is that most important thing called "nurture" to be considered. After the fit child is born he must, like our select domestic animals, be raised and educated with the utmost care. When society handles the whole matter of breeding and education wisely and scientifically then our moron class will disappear and along with it that hideous freak, the woman murderer.

PRINCE SAW THE DANGER

Sensational Revelations Are Found in Some Old Letters

That Austria-Hungary might never have begun the war with Serbia nor supported Germany if Crown Prince Rudolph had lived to influence his father or ascend the throne will be revealed in a sensational publication to appear shortly containing the Prince's letters to an intimate friend, a Jewish journalist named Maurice Szepa. The letters cover the period between 1882 and 1888. The last was dated about a month before his death with Baroness Vetsera in a forester's lodge at Meyerling, which remains one of the unsolved royal mysteries of Europe.

Prince Rudolph in that letter makes the following significant comment on the former Kaiser:

"Wilhelm prepares himself. He probably will soon make a great rumpus in Europe. He is just the man to do it; energetic, stubborn and thinking himself a great genius. In the course of a few years he probably will bring Hohenzollern Germany into the position she deserves."

Rudolph's profound uneasiness regarding Germany's plans was also shown in these words to his friend: "There is much talk that Germany will fall upon France, but she should take heed. France is much more dangerous than in 1870. To make war simply because the Kaiser and his junkers dislike their republican neighbor and think it only a promenade to Paris is dangerous. The real reason, of course, why the Kaiser wants war is because of the disaffection in the Bavarian and Saxon armies. They need new glory."

Rudolph's admiration for France was expressed as follows: "I have great sympathy for France. We certainly have to thank her as the source of all liberal ideals and institutions. What is Germany compared to France? Nothing but a soldier dictatorship. What will become of today's Germany if it looses the battle against republican France? Her people will be singing the workers' Marseillaise."

The young Crown Prince also foresaw the danger in his own country. "I wonder how long it will take this tough old structure to crack all in parts and finally collapse?" he wrote in 1883. It was, perhaps, this pessimistic presentiment which led him to write another letter deprecating the proposed plan for the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Prince Rudolph's death in the Meyerling tragedy removed the only direct heir to the throne and opened the way to Franz Ferdinand, who was murdered at Sarajevo. Prince Rudolph alone of all the Archdukes was Liberal in his sympathy and advocated liberty within the empire against militaristic Prussia.

DO AMERICANS LIKE NOISE?

Famous Essayist Writes of Curious Phases of Modern Life

BY AGNES REPPLIER

[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

Henry Adams, with whom dissatisfaction was the rule of life, wrote of the year 1905 in these disparaging terms: "Prosperity never before imagined, power never yet wielded by man, speed never reached by anything but a meteor had made the world irritable, nervous, querulous, unreasonable and afraid."

How very old-fashioned it sounds!!! What did the public of 1905 know about power, prosperity and speed? Since that day the United States has become the benevolent autocrat of the world. Since that day Mr. Rockefeller and Mary Pickford have been rolling up their millions as King Midas rolled up gold.

Since that day traveling by air has made traveling by land more like the progress of a tortoise than a meteor. Since that day humanity has been keyed up to such a pitch that the earth rocks with the fluster of every new discovery and invention.

Sound, which once belonged to the spot where it rent the air and which died in the act of rending, is now gathered up, canned for future generations, carried on magic currents over land and sea, harnessed up to other sounds and let loose upon a world which has no asylum from its pervasiveness.

Mrs. Asquith says that Americans make noise because they like noise. The infernal din of their big cities is agreeable to their taste. Perhaps we tolerate danger because we like danger. Saving ourselves by a narrow margin from the perils which beset our daily path adds to the zest of living. But that some of us have grown "irritable, nervous, querulous, unreasonable and afraid" it would be idle to deny.

Needless noise and needless danger are uncivilized things, and civilized men cannot suffer them without some loss of mental balance, some disintegration of their moral being. Prosperity, power and speed are helpless to heal these hurts. We want an enjoyable rather than a wonder-working world. Regard for our neighbor's pleasure, to say nothing of respect for our neighbor's rights, should joyment.

The Lewis and Clark expedition reached the Pacific Ocean at the mouth of the Columbia River in the year 1805. Capt. Meriwether Lewis, Lieut. William Clark and thirty-four other men constituted the exploring party. They started from Washington and traveled altogether over 4000 miles.

Gen. William Henry Harrison won the battle of Tippecanoe in the year 1811. With 1200 Americans he completely routed the Indian confederacy led by Tecumseh and his brother, "The Prophet."

Elijah P. Lovejoy, editor of an antislavery paper published at Alton, Ill., was shot while defending his printing press against a proslavery mob in the year 1837. He was the first martyr to the abolition cause.

It is announced that President Harding will name George R. Martin of the United States Court of Customs as presiding judge to succeed Marion de Vries, resigned. Martin is an Ohio man and has for years prominent in local politics in Lancaster, the town that was once the home of William Tecumseh Sherman, who marched to the sea.

Of course, it is none of our business and possibly we should say nothing about it, but if we were David Lloyd George we would be having been kicked down the steps of the Carleton Club and should have told the whole organization to go out and chase themselves and see how they like the country. No campaign for us. We'd have to go to Wisenheimers go to it.

GREAT IS TRUTH

Here in this little bay,
Full of tumultuous life and yet repose,
Where twice a day
The purposeless glad ocean comes and goes,
Under high cliffs and far from the huge town
I sit me down.
For want of me the world's course will not fail;
When all its work is done the truth shall rest;
The truth is great and shall prevail,
When none cares whether it prevail or not.

NEW TRAFFIC LAW PLANNED

Mayor Certain to Veto Bill Recently Passed

Osborne Submits Reports on Crossings

Council Will Not Override Cryer, Belief

While Mayor Cryer is considering the ordinance adopted by the City Council placing downtown pedestrian traffic under police regulation, the Los Angeles Traffic Commission is considering ways and means of meeting the objections in the proposed ordinance, which will probably be vetoed by the Mayor.

If he does decline to give his approval to it because of his belief that pedestrians will be endangered by vehicles making right-hand turns into heavy crowds of walkers crossing the streets, then it is expected the Council will reconsider the ordinance and redraft it to meet the Mayor's objections.

Chief Engineer Osborne of the Board of Public Utilities has submitted to the Traffic Commission plans for the regulation of pedestrian traffic which he believes will overcome the objections to the present ordinance and speed up traffic, vehicular and pedestrian, with safety to all concerned. Chief Engineer Osborne, in a report to the commission, outlined his plan as follows:

OSBORNE'S REPORT

"At the present time there is a traffic interval when the traffic signs register 'Stop' at all four corners. This interval is five seconds and could be increased to from ten to twenty seconds if the pedestrian traffic were regulated, which would probably suffice if the trial of the plan recommended in my former report is adopted. If the time interval as recommended is set aside for the exclusive crossing of pedestrians in the intersection—all objection is removed as far as permitting the turning to the right of automobiles, when in the lane adjacent to the curb, when the vehicular traffic is moving in either direction. I recommend that this phase be considered by the Transportation Committee, to which the report was made.

"In addition, I also recommend that the Transportation Committee consider the suggestion of Albert Abbott, which was sent to me and is briefly as follows:

"First: Eliminate all existing obstructions at the street corners, to permit the free flow of pedestrian traffic, placing all fire hydrants, mail boxes, etc., in the middle of the block, where congestion is at a minimum.

MAGIC SQUARE

"Second: Place a square monument to act as a 'magic square' to guide the streams of traffic and eliminate confusion as far as pedestrians are concerned, at street corners. On the face of these squares will be placed the 'Keep to the Right' slogan, a small but substantial monument to be illuminated at night.

"Third: A suggestion which should be considered by the Transportation Committee in the regulation of pedestrian traffic was submitted by Mr. George M. Babcock, as follows: Pedestrians to cross in the middle of the block—the traffic aisles to be designated by painted lines or by permanent markings. In this connection the same committee might consider a suggestion of Mr. John P. Kennedy of the Board of Public Utilities, that aisles of safety be built to right and left of these pedestrian traffic lanes to be used for the loading and unloading of street cars, such loading to take place in the middle of the block instead of at the street intersections as at present.

"Respectfully submitted,
"H. Z. OSBORNE, Jr.,
"Executive Chairman of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission."

Investigation of Railroad Plot to be Resumed

Federal investigation of the asserted Needles conspiracy that resulted on August 10, last, in the abandoning of a transcontinental train over the Santa Fe line, will be resumed by the local authorities tomorrow.

Hiram C. Todd, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, who presented the case against the strikers that resulted in the indictment of C. J. Fox, E. H. Reynolds, L. E. Woodbeck, E. F. Frazier and C. E. Holley, on the charge of conspiracy, will conduct the inquiry before the grand jury. Additional indictments are expected.

In connection the argument of the demurrer to the indictment against the defendants named will be argued before Judge Bledsoe tomorrow morning by Mr. Todd, with Jud Rush representing the defendants.

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—[Advertisement.

Law to Compel Gathering Milk Bottles Asked

The City Council's public safety committee yesterday recommended that the Council instruct the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance compelling the milk distribution companies to collect milk bottles. The Council has received many complaints that large numbers of bottles are permitted to accumulate on the streets, sidewalks and parkways of the city and that the bottles are broken, the pieces strewn about and result in cutting automobile tires.

Brothers and Sisters Lose in Will Filed

Stating that he was intentionally leaving two brothers and five sisters nothing, the will of the late John D. Philbrick was filed for probate yesterday.

By his document Mr. Philbrick disposes of $25,000. Of this sum $10,000 is left in trust to the New Jerusalem Church. The residue is left to "my dear friend, Ruben M. Lusch."

HARBOR HEAD HOME

President McKee Back on Job After Hawaiian Trip

President McKee of the Board of Harbor Commissioners yesterday assumed his duties at the harbor offices after his three weeks' trip to Hawaii with Mrs. McKee as a guest on board E. L. Doheny's yacht Casiana, the yacht having reached Los Angeles Harbor on Sunday.

The official brought home a large quantity of Hawaiian fruits and flowers, but these the Federal immigration inspectors pitched overboard, fearing that the vegetation might conceal the Mediterranean fly, which is death to oranges and other fruits and which the Federal authorities are determined to keep out of Southern California.

President McKee said that he enjoyed his trip and that he found everyone in Hawaii delighted over the establishment of direct regular steamship service between the islands and Los Angeles Harbor.

AL IS KIDDING MOVIES AGAIN

"That Son of a Sheik," the comedy attraction at Grauman's in connection with Wally Reid's "Clarence" is a pretty good example of how modern-day comedy ideas are born.

Last spring Al Christie was returning home from Santa Barbara when he stopped off near Oxnard to call on his friend, George Melford, who was there making "Burning Sands."

Christie saw flocks of camels, stars, Arabs, sand dunes and potted palms all over the landscape. During the conversation Christie learned that seven or eight other dramatic companies were headed for Oxnard or had already been there to produce desert pictures.

"That's a lot of desert dramas," thought Christie. "Here's where I have some fun with their 'sheik' stuff."

Christie returned and called in his director and the scenario staff to dig up their funniest ideas about sheiks and sheik-struck maidens, following up his idea of kidding the movies themselves which he started in his "Cold Feet," which spoofed the good old melodrama of the Northwest.

FIND RIVAL FOR RODOLPH?

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—When the steamship France arrives Saturday it will bring Charles De Roche, 30 years old, a Frenchman, who is to take the leading part in the important Famous Players-Lasky motion-picture "A Spanish Cavalier," a part which originally was given to Rodolph Valentino.

Valentino, who rose to fame through his appearance in "The Four Horsemen" and several subsequent films made by Famous Players, is definitely "out" as a Famous Player star. He voluntarily left the organization a month ago.

The company now has asked for an injunction to prevent him appearing in other pictures. This injunction will be heard in the appellate division of the Supreme Court in about two weeks.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation will attempt to transfer to De Roche the popularity already attained by Valentino. In order to give this venture every possible opportunity for success a nation-wide publicity campaign will be launched for the young actor shortly after he begins work on his first film here, "The Law of the Lawless," with Dorothy Dalton. This picture will be made at the Long Island studio.

De Roche first came to the attention of the Famous Players company several months ago when a motion picture called "Spanish Jade" was shown here. Officers of the company in New York telegraphed Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the company, who was in California, to see his work. This was prior to public knowledge of difficulties between Valentino and his employers.

Mr. Lasky agreed with the New York executives and a quiet investigation was made of the possibilities of engaging him. When Mr. Lasky was in Europe late this summer he contracted with De Roche to come to New York and appear in "The Spanish Cavalier," taking the part which had been allotted to Valentino.

De Roche is said by picture men here and abroad to be a handsome chap suited perfectly to step into parts laid out for Valentino. He is unmarried.

Two thousand two hundred and ninety-four men were interviewed, a figure which surpasses that of any previous month by more than 500.

Jane Novak's Daughter Will Appear in Picture With Mother

Virginia, the 5-year-old daughter of Jane Novak, star of Chester Bennett's production of "Thelma," plays the role of the daughter of the famous star in Marie Correlli's great love story now being produced at the Powers studios.

"Where can we find a little girl who looks like you to play the part of your daughter?" queried Director Bennett while preparing the story for production.

"We might use my own little girl," replied Miss Novak, simply enough. Upon being interviewed, little Miss Virginia readily agreed to play the part provided a goodly supply of candy was forthcoming. The deal was closed.

COURT CASE SETTLED

Kats vs. Peterson Action is Taken from County Books

The litigation involving malicious prosecution and conspiracy to extort money from Harry I. Kats has been settled. Yesterday in Judge McCormick's court it was announced that the suit brought by Kats against Guy Peterson and Grover Peterson had been settled out of court.

Kats charged that he was arrested without cause for embezzlement and was released after a hearing in the Justice Court. The Petersons declared that they laid the facts before the District Attorney and that that office issued a complaint.

POWELL ASKS RISE FOR HIS DEPUTIES

City Treasurer Powell yesterday requested small salary increases for the principal deputies in his office, pointing out the large sums that had been added to the city's revenue from interest earned on loans of idle city funds under a system inaugurated by him. He also called attention to the fact that these increases would not necessitate any apropropriation, as they would be paid from departmental earnings.

FISH INDUSTRY IS RECOVERING

Recovery Remarkable After Import Duty Change

Last Half of October Held to High Figures

Barracuda Topped List of All Catches

A remarkable recovery, following the partial removal of the import duty on fish caught in Mexican waters, was staged by the Southern California fishing industry in October, according to a report just issued by C. S. Bauder, head of the California Fish and Game Commission at the port. The report shows that 1,648,228 pounds of fish of all varieties came over Los Angeles wharves in October as compared to 1,117,785 pounds during September.

LOW RECEIPTS

Receipts during the first half of October fell far below the average, Mr. Bauder said, on account of improper construction placed upon the new import tax by government officials. The final half of the month, however, was a record-breaker.

Out of thirty-five varieties of fish caught by the local fleet, barracuda topped the list with 310,973 pounds, or approximately one-third the total catch. The catch of white sea bass again was second, 274,301 pounds of the deep-water denizens entering the port wholesale markets. The catch of yellowtail tuna was third, being 166,525 pounds. The total catch, by species, fololws:

Secretary Davis to Arrive Here From Bay City

Secretary of Labor Davis is expected to arrive in Los Angeles today from San Francisco on a general inspection tour. He will remain here ten days.

Yesterday in San Francisco he announced plans for abolishing Angel Island and the transferring of immigration quarters to San Francisco.

Mr. Davis has been speaking before various organizations, including the Loyal Order of Moose, of which he is a director, on the question of a living wage for workingmen. He declares himself firmly against labor wage reductions, contending that the American workman must have sufficient earnings to provide for the education of his children and at the same time build up a savings account.

SUES .. FOR .. SUM .. LOST .. BY .. FORGERY

Woman Testifies Deposit Withdrawn by Man Later Sent to San Quentin

Mrs. Elsie Meyer

ARGUMENTS were concluded late yesterday in the suit of Mrs. Elsie Meyer against the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank to recover $3700, which she asserts was withdrawn from her account by forgery.

The trial is before Judge Freeman of Riverside, sitting in Judge J. Perry Wood's court. The plaintiff testified that she had $5500 on deposit in the bank. When she went to withdraw the account she discovered the $3700 shortage. It was later learned, according to the testimony, that the money was withdrawn by Fred Berthold, who is now serving a sentence for forgery in San Quentin.

Mrs. Meyer was represented by Attorney John H. Foley.

South Pasadena Building Record Despite Dispute

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 6.—Breaking all existing records, building permits for October climbed to a total of $206,610, it was announced today. This despite the fact that at least half a dozen expensive business blocks are being held back pending the City Council's action on the report of the City Planning Commission as to the creation of a new business district on Fair Oaks avenue.

One prospective builder, Robert E. Austin, impatient over what has become a six months' delay, has applied for a writ of mandamus to force the City Council to give him a permit.

Added interest accrues to the Austin suit as he is also attorney for E. O. Wickizer whose asserted defiance of the city building laws in the section affected precipitated the present row with the City Council. Mr. Wickizer also has applied for a writ to force the city to grant him an electrical inspection.

Date Set for Third Trial of Maybelle Roe

Maybelle Roe, charged with the murder of McCullough Graydon at Venice, appeared yesterday before Judge Houser, who set her third trial for January 2. The case has been tried twice, with one conviction and one jury disagreement. Following her conviction the verdict was reversed by the District Court of Appeals, and this action was upheld by the State Supreme Court. Her plea for bail will be heard Monday.

Women Are Not for the Lawyers' Bill

(Proposition 24)

Women, more than men, benefit by the present practice of bankers and business men giving free advice in practical matters of business even when knowledge of business law is involved.

In the case of Trusts---not affected in any way by this bill, but dragged in by the Lawyers in their "smoke cloud" tactics to blind the real issue---what woman is there who would not prefer that her property be handled by a Trust Company or a Bank under heavy bond, reliable, experienced, responsible---than by any individual, even a lawyer?

The records show that since the establishment of the present Bank Act in 1909 there has not been ONE instance wherein a Bank or Trust Company has been removed by any court from acting as trustee or executor, not one claim has been presented for any shortage, not one accusation has been filed with the Superintendent of Banks of any misconduct or defalcation on the part of any bank or trust company acting as trustee. This ABSOLUTE SAFETY is invaluable to women, and is not found elsewhere.

Conforming to a recent Supreme Court decision, Trust Companies are not now drawing wills. If any new legislation is needed to prevent abuses in drawing wills it should prevent LAWYERS from drawing Wills and naming THEMSELVES or other attorneys as executors or trustees

THE RECORDS SHOW THAT LAWYERS NAME THEMSELVES OR OTHER LAWYERS AS EXECUTORS IN WILLS THEY DRAW IN A LARGER NUMBER OF CASES THAN DO TRUST COMPANIES

The Banks have published their record as Executors. Now let the Bar Association produce the record of Lawyers as Executors and let the Women of California decide whose "protection" they prefer.

NONE OTHER THAN PENN STATE WILL REPRESENT EAST ON NEW YEAR'S

CONFERENCE STICKS TO ITS ORIGINAL SELECTION

Pacific Coast Eleven to be Named on Saturday Preceding Thanksgiving Day

Penn State's football team will positively represent the east in the New Year's Day game at Pasadena on January 1. As much was definitely settled some time ago and was confirmed in a loud tone of voice last night by Leslie J. Ayer, secretary of the Pacific Coast Conference. Hence all the efforts of the volunteer selection committees who have been choosing unlikely from Washington and Jefferson to the San Diego Army and Navy Military Academy have gone to waste. Mr. Ayer issued his statement at Seattle last night.

The Pacific Coast Conference is on record as desiring a representative eastern team with high athletic and scholastic standing," said Mr. Ayer. "Penn State is one of those thirty colleges which have been placed on the eligibility lists of Washington and Jefferson and will not be considered in any way. If there were some reason for substituting another team for Penn State—which there is not—Ayer and Darwin Meinert, graduate manager of the University of Washington, also announced that the Pacific Coast team has not yet been chosen and for the reason that the University of California made a special request for a postponement of the decision. The team will be chosen at a meeting or caucus between conferences on the Saturday preceding Thanksgiving.

"Should California requested a postponement of the choice is not granted Mr. Ayer expects to decide California's attitude when the team arrive in Seattle day after tomorrow to meet the Washington team, the only other likely team outside of the University of Southern California.

STUDENTS MAKE TRIP TO NORTH

Three Hundred Trojans, With Band, Migrate to Palo Alto for Big Game

When the whistle blows on the field of the Stanford Stadium there will be at least 300 loyal Trojans in the big structure. In fact there are so many students making the trip that Henry Monahan, district passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, has arranged to run a special train to Santa Barbar where it will join the Lark as second section for the rest of the trip. The train will leave Los Angeles at 7 o'clock Friday evening and will reach Plao Alto at 10:30 Saturday morning.

En route the train will pass through the Santa Cruz big trees, where it will stop for half an hour that the passengers may see a little of the forest. The train will also stop in Santa Barbara long enough for the Trojan rooters to put on a snake dance that will make the natives set up and take notice. The band willlead the festivities at tis stop. The train will probably leave Palo Alto Saturday night and arrive in Los Angeles Sunday morning.

Plotting the Downfall of the Trojans

Stanford Coaches Thinking Up a Plan of Campaign

Here we have Tiny Thornhill and Andy Kerr, leaders of the Cardinal gridiron horde, going over the plans for the big Stanford-U.S.C. fracas, which takes place at Palo Alto this Saturday. Thornhill was down to see the California-U.S.C. game and thinks the Cards have a lot better chance than most of the folks down here seem to think. [P. & A. Photo.]

CARD STOCK LOOKING UP

Stanford Prospects for Next Year Brightened by Performance of Freshman Eleven

Stanford may not have such a varsity this year—although nobody has been able to prove that point so far—but there's nothing wrong with the Cardinal prospects for 1923. The Stanford freshman crew that wrecked U.S.C.'s peagreens, 10 to 9, in the most exciting struggle of the local football year last Saturday, is a sight to delight the eye of any coach.

The weakness in the Cardinal backfield, of which so many have complained, will certainly be somewhat assisted by such young men as Wild Bill Cook, late of Anaheim; Fred Solomon, late of Poly, and Gordon Faust, who kicked the winning field goal with about fifteen seconds to play. And they do say that Ernie Nevers, the 191-lb. fullback, who wasn't much in evidence Saturday, is the best of the lot.

FINE GAME

With all due respect to the splendid California-U.S.C. game of recent memory, the Cardinal-U.S.C. freshman combat, which preceded the U.S.C.-Occidental massacre, was without question the finest football game of the year from the standpoint of the spectator. U.S.C.'s fight to overcome the Stanford lead of 7 to 3 in the third quarter was only surpassed by Stanford's uphill battle to beat U.S.C.'s lead of 9 to 7 in the last session.

Undoubtedly Stanford's last minute field goal that won the game was as sensational a play as has ever been seen on a local gridiron. With a score of 9 to 7 staring them in the face and only a few minutes to play, the Cardinals worked the ball to the U.S.C. twenty-yard line. Here the Trojan yearlings stiffened their defense and repulsed the Cardinal onslaught. Faust stepped back for a place kick and missed by inches, and apparently the last chance of the Cardinal freshmen had gone glimmering.

But the Trojans had forgotten about Wild Bill Cook. Dorsey punted a high twisting spiral from his own goal line which Cook caught in midfield. The red-shirted Stanford freshman swerved and sidestepped through the entire U. S.C. team until he was cut down squarely in front of the goal posts on the U.S.C. twenty-yard line, almost the identical spot where the ball had rested when the Cards missed their previous trial for a goal.

This time Faust booted the pill squarely between the posts, and Stanford had only time to kick off when the final whistle was blown.

Casaba Teams In Whirlwind of Big Games

If things continue the rest of the season as rapidly as they have the past few days, the basketball fans of Los Angeles will have little time to take a breath. Already more than a score of teams have signed up for games. At Long Beach alone there have been formed twenty-four teams. The three best bets in this league are the Shell Oil, Standard Oil and the T.M.C.A. Bears.

The first games will be played in the Los Angeles Bankers' League. This league is made up of teams from the biggest banks of the city and is sure to make the season interesting. At any event, the season will be one of the biggest ever enjoyed in the city.

ALL-STARS TO TACKLE NAVY TEAM

Submarine Base to Play Long Beach Team in Armistice Day Feature

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 6.—The football team of the Submarine Base is working hard preparing for the game on Armistice Day against the Long Beach All-Stars at Long Beach. The team returned several days ago from San Diego where they defeated the Aircraft Squadrons team at the Stadium on Navy Day, Friday, October 27th. The team is being coached by Lieut. Need, a former Annapolis player and Lieut. Sanborn, who player, and Lieut. Sanborn, who ington. Every afternoon they are sent through a stiff grind at the Sub Base.

Previous to the San Diego game the Submarine Base had defeated the U. S. S. Vestal, champions of the naval train, 18-12. The Aircraft Squadron's team is coming to San Pedro to play a return game in several weeks. A game is also scheduled with the Mare Island Marines for Nov. 25.

NO SCORE FOR TROJAN TEAM

Stanford Gridders Hurl Wild Boast Into Air

Cardinals Claim Zero Tally by Southerners

BY JOE PUNT

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 6.—If Elmer Henderson has any idea that he can put in a purely defensive team against Stanford and get anywhere next Saturday, he is a long way off in the estimation of the Cardinal cohorts. Opinion on the campus and all through the bay region is to the effect that Stanford has the greatest defensive eleven on the Coast, bar none.

Only once has Stanford's goal line been crossed by a college eleven and that was last Saturday on a fluke when Capt. Hobbs of Nevada picked up a fumble and galloped 55 yards for a touchdown. Stanford's husky line so far has proven impregnable to the attack of college evens and if U.S.C. shows no more punch than she did against California she needn't expect to cross the Stanford line.

STRONG ON DEFENSE

Stanford scouts who watched the game at Pasadena between California and U.S.C. reported that Henderson apparently had placed his entire hope on keeping the Bear score down, and the result of the game justified his choice. The general belief is that Stanford is fully as strong defensively as the Bears, but to date the Cardinals have not shown the potent attack that has earned the title of "wonder team" for the Bears.

Hence it is theorized locally that Henderson will uncork everything he has in the way of an attack when he invades thelocal campus on Saturday. Local rooters believe that Riddle, the star line-plunger, and Tiernan and Wayahan and the Galloway boys will get a chance to get into the game on the theory that a little weaker defense and a stronger offense will do the work.

The greatly improved showing of the Cardinals in their last three games has given rise to the belief that Stanford may uncork someting surprising in the way of an attack next Saturday. More cautious heads among the graduates and upper clasmen suggest that the Cardinals would be tickled to death to either tie the southerners or nose them out by the margin of a drop kick from the reliable toe of Mr. Cuddeback.

Championship Golf Tourney Carded Here

The Southern California open golf championship tournament for 1923 will be held about January 15 at either the Midwick or the Flintridge Country Club, it was decided at the annual meeting here last night of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association.

The exact time and place will be determined later, the decisions being made to suit the convenience of Gene Sarazen, American national open champion; Jock Hutchinson, former British open champion; Walter Hagen, present British open champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian open champion, who are expected to participate.

Louis Berrien of the Wilshire Country Club was re-elected president; Chick Fraser of St. Paul, Minn., who is passing the winter at the Midwick Country Club, was chosen vice-president, and D. Scott Chisholm was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

RING TILTS IN BENEFIT ARRANGED

Three Bouts Lined Up for Jess Willard Show at Hollywood

In addition to Jess Willard boxing Tom Kennedy and Joe Bonds at the boxing carnival to be staged at the Hollywood stadium on the night of November 15th, Frank Crowley has already lined up three of the six bouts which will go to make up the program, along with the appearance of Willard.

Sailor Billy Vincent will try to dispose of Billy Ketchell the tough welterweight from San Diego. These two boys have already fought a draw. Vincent floored Ketchell in the first round but he slowed up enough after that to let the tough hombre from San Diego get away with a draw.

Joe Dunn was knocked out by Sailor Ashmore about a month ago at Hollywood. Since that time Dunn has been training faithfully and he promises that Sailor Ashmore will have to pack some wallop to get even a draw with him at the Assistance League show.

Jimmy Dime and Kid Wagner have met before but this time they will show their stuff as it has never been demonstrated.

There will be three more bouts added to this list. Frank Crowley will make an announcement of the full program within the next couple of days. The show is going to be one of the best ever staged at Hollywood.

Jess Willard is donating his services and the entire profits are being turned over to the Assistance League for Christmas charities.

DANNY KRAMER FACES PURYEAR

Little Southpaw Up Against Tough Lad Tonight

Springer in Return Ring Tilt With Frankie Novey

Young George Hooks Up With Matlock at Vernon

Earl Puryear, who meets Kramer in the feature bout of the weekly card, is a legitimate featherweight. Kramer has weighed only 123 pounds for his bouts here yet he has been forced to take on boys weighing from 128 to 133 pounds in every Vernon appearance. The lone exception was his first match against "Spec" Ramies, who weighed 121 pounds. He stopped Ramies so decisively that the remainder of the local featherweight colony used a "Not Home" sign whenever Kramer's name was mentioned.

In spite of the fact that Puryear is near Kramer's weight, the little southpaw is not expected to have a walkaway. Ring history proves that Puryear has been a stumbling block for Danny in several eastern bouts. Two of their clashes resulted in draws and Puryear claims the decision in an eight-round go.

"Ringer" Springer, a little bantam, who brought the house to its feet with his gallant fight against Frankie Novey last week, will again meet Novey, tonight. The bout was so spirited that Matchmaker Wadhams sent them back in the semi-wind-up. Novey felt the worst he deserved was a draw last week. He was chagrined when Springer's hand was raised and he says he'll chance no errors of judgment this time.

Young George, who has fought more main events at Vernon than any living fighter, will return after a long absence. He boxes Leo Matlock in the feature preliminary.

Another middleweight scrap will be staged by Steve Bliss and "Salinas Jack" Robinson, known hereabouts at the "Mad Kewpie." Robinson was a prime favorite when here before.

A third pair of middleweights on the card is Billy Morrisette and Jack Moore. Great things are expected of Morrisette. He is meeting a good boxer and a game fighter in Moore, who will be remembered by the fans for his work against Jack Martin.

TILDEN LOSES FINGER JOINT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—William T. Tilden, tennis champion of the world, will lose a portion of the middle finger on his right hand as a result of blood poisoning following a cut about three weeks ago. Dr. William B. Swartley, surgeon at the Germantown Hospital, where Tilden has been for a couple of weeks, said this afternoon it was impossible to save the finger down to the first joint, but hoped the remainder would heal successfully. The tip and nail of the finger has already been removed, but the other portion of the first joint is gangrenous.

Should it reduce Tilden's ability, however, it will stop a career on the courts which was at its very peak at the time of the accident at Bridgetown, N. J., Oct. 14, which resulted in his disablement.

BEARS ON INVASION OF NORTH

Squad Twenty-five Strong Leaves Berkeley Tonight for Seattle Tilt

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—The University of California football squad of twenty-five players, Coaches Smith and Rosenthal, Trainer Charles Volz and a student manager, will leave tomorrow night for Seattle for the game with University of Washington Saturday. Besides two full teams of men, two extra backs and one end are being taken along.

The squad will arrive in Portland Thursday morning and will remain there as guests of the Multnomah Athletic Club until the afternoon when the train journey will be resumed. Seattle will be reached Thursday night. The return journey will begin Sunday morning, the team arriving back in Berkeley Monday evening.

"I expect a hard battle on account of northern weather conditions," said Andy Smith, head coach, today. "Also we will have a hard fight because Washington's work all season has been pointed toward the game with California."

SUNDODGERS IN FINE SHAPE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 6.—University of Washington's varsity football team, which meets the undefeated University of California eleven in the stadium here Armistice Day, is in better condition for the contest than at any time this season, according to football experts who have watched the last few turnouts.

Most of the men who were battered in the game with Washington State College October 30 are back in the line-up and the few injuries outstanding are only slight.

Three heavy scrimmages during the week will put a final fighting edge on the condition of his men, Coach Enoch Bagshaw believes. During the week "skull practice," including chalk talks and detailed instructions for both offensive and defensive, will be an important part of the daily routine.

"Washington will be on hand Saturday to give all they have," Coach Bagshaw said.

ANDERSON LOOKS GOOD ON THE COURT

"Norm Anderson should make one of the best basketball forwards that the University of Southern California has ever had," said Les Turner, of the Trojan institution yesterday afternoon, when commenting on the material which the season has produced for the coming sport.

Anderson was a noted basketball man at the Los Angeles High School before he thought of starting for U.S.C., but his experience in football this season should make him a most valuable man. A lot of other material turned out yesterday for the first round of the ten-day tournament which is being staged by Turner for the purpose of getting a line on the available material.

PICKS JOHNSON AS HIS FOURTH

Tennis Star Names Another in First Ten Men

Win Over Vinnie Richards Clinches Decision

Believes Wallace Good for Some Years Yet

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN II,
Tennis Champion of the World, 1920-21; Champion of America, 1920-21 and 1922

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—When I come to choosing my fourth man in the list of the first ten tennis stars of America I find three men closely grouped—Wallace Johnson, Robert Kinsey and Zenso Schimidzu. It is only after long study of their records that I place Johnson in the lead and by so doing I feel sure that the ranking committee will not agree. They never do.

It is Johnson's victory over Richards, coupled with his five-set match with me, in Philadelphia, notwithstanding his defeat at the hands of Schimidzu in five bitter sets in the national championships which takes precedence over any performance during the entire season, of either Kinsey or Schimidzu.

OPENS SEASON

Wallace Johnson opened the season in fine form, playing more tennis than is his custom, and rapidly rounding into the game which he often does not display until August. In the church cup matches at Boston he crushed Vincent Richards, 7-5 and 6-2 in the singles, and it was largely his play that carried us, paired in the doubles, to a sequence-set win over Richards and Washburn. Throughout the entire Philadelphia season Johnson met but one defeat, that at my hands in the finals of the Philadelphia and District championship, after leading me by two sets and four games all in the third set. He easily retained his Delaware and Pennsylvania state titles, numbering Stanley W. Pearson, Karl Fisher and Paul Hawke among his victims.

At the Rhode Island State championships, Wallace gained a notable victory over N. W. Niles, of Boston, after the latter led one set and point for 5-3 in the second. But he went down to crushing defeat at the hands of Vincent Richards, who gained ample revenge, 6-4, 6-4, 6-0.

AT HIS BEST

Longwood found Johnson in the semifinals against R. N. Williams, where he pressed the latter 7-5, 7-5, 6-3, in a match in which he was unfortunate enough to find the brilliant Bostonian at his best. Johnson played no singles between Longwood and the national championships, which in my opinion, accounts for a slight lack of his customary steadiness and stamina. He advanced along an easy road, not the best thing in the world for Wallace, to the last sixteen, where he was eliminated in five terrific sets by Shimidzu. The deciding factors were the Japanese star's slightly superior versatility of stroke and leg power.

One cannot call 1922 a great season for Wallace Johnson, but for almost any other player it might well be the crest of his career. Where, in the annals of tennis, except in the case of Norman Brookes, is there a man who can point to such a consistent record for more than a decade?

Johnson is a young man, far younger than many people think, having recently passed his thirty-third birthday. Physically he is in magnificent condition, while mentally he is one of the keenest students of the game and its strategy that I have ever known.

This day of the "has been" is still far in the distance for Johnson. I look to see him as good, if not better, next year than he was this. I see no reason to believe that he should start on the down grade much if any, before forty.

Hail, Wallace Johnson, perennial, perpetual, "first ten" player in American tennis. So say I after ten years' experience and 100,000 miles of chasing his famous "chop stroke," in innumberable matches—all of which I have enjoyed.

LOOKING BACK

Some Interesting Features Gleaned From the 1922 Pacific Coast League

Seattle made nineteen hits and Oakland eighteen in game of April 27th. Seattle used five pitchers and won, 10 to 9.

Sacramento made eighteen hits and Los Angeles sixteen in game of April 25th. Sacramento won, 12 to 10.

Daly, Los Angeles catcher, had five hits in five times at bat in game against Oakland May 8th. Every Los Angeles player registered one or more hits.

San Francisco had seventeen hits and Salt Lake fifteen in game of April 12th. Scott pitched entire game for San Francisco and was responsible for only two runs.

Old Sailing Terms

The terms "port" and "starboard" have been used when giving directions to the man at the helm of a ship since the sixteenth century.

This season there appears to be almost an overload of good football elevens in the East and Middle West, and to pick the real champion of the season for that large expanse beyond the Rockies would appear to be a task befitting Walter Camp and all the other Solomons of football.

It is a question whether Penn State is so weak, or the general average of football back there this year is exceedingly high. Bezdek is not the only coach of established ability experiencing his troubles. One does not feel sure that there are not half a dozen teams back there who are superior to any and all of the big three—Yale, Harvard and Princeton. Iowa defeated Yale. Eastern critics are almost a unit in declaring Centre a better eleven than Harvard, although losing to the Cambridge cohorts, while Princeton's defeat of Chicago through the latter's failure to kick three goals seems, judging by eastern articles, to have been generally attributed to the breaks.

Syracuse, Nebraska, Michigan, Cornell, Lafayette, Notre Dame, Washington and Jefferson all appear to have great football machines, and any of these probably would extend the Pacific Coast's best to the limit.

But should Penn State insist on keeping the New Year's engagement at Pasadena, the chances are that it will be a better football show than many anticipate. It would be useless, even were it desirable, to contend that the Nittany Lions are as strong and ferocious as they were in 1921. Still, I have seen enough of Hugo Bezdek, both as a baseball manager and football coach, but particularly the latter, to know that any eleven mentored by him is likely to prove dangerous, and possibly rise to surprising heights. By New Year's his team may be a 50 per cent improved eleven over that of this week or next week.

Recall how the riotbilities of many of our people were aroused by the announcement that W. and J. was to meet California last January 1. Nothing before in football had quite so appealed to their sense of humor. Several wrote to this column inquiring if Washington and Jefferson was a transfer point in our fair city.

Especially in the bay district did they discern wit and humor in the situation. One northern expert stated that California could beat Harvard with its first team, Yale with its second team and wipe out W. and J. with its third, or words to that effect. But on the night of January 1, all the merry laughter shifted to a small town in Pennsylvania.

Penn Staters, by no means the pick of a great field, might give us a playful hour at that. If a classier combination can be substituted so much the better.

• • •

Apparently there is nothing in the Northwest calculated to disrupt the University of California gridiron supremacy. University of Washington, which meets California on Saturday, defeated Washington State, 14 to 13. One week later Andy Smith's Bears crush these same Cougars, 61 to 0. The Staters are very weak this season. Conceivably the Sundodgers may have something in reserve. Comparative scores are sometimes deceptive, and Smith will hardly send his team into Saturday's game the victims of overconfidence.

• • •

It is difficult to draw from Pomona's and Occidental's games with U.S.C. and very definite conclusions as to the chances of two former colleges for the Southern California championship, provided the title hinges on their tilt, the 25th inst.

U.S.C., in the first game of the season, defeated Pomona, 53 to 13. Occidental fell before the Trojans, 46 to 0. This was Saturday, and the Trojans were a much better team than a month before when they encountered the Claremonters. Yet Occidental was much further advanced than Pomona when the latter met the Trojans.

Henderson used all his first-line men against Pomona, but the Trojans played some notoriously bad football. Against Occidental he gave several of his reserves a chance to prove their worth. Henderson's men Saturday played good football, but took no chances, and plainly were saving themselves for Stanford.

Occidental undoubtedly will play better football against their old football rivals at Claremont. Possibly not technically, but they will show more spirit. Too much had been said about the ease and certainty with which the Tigers would be beaten for their own good. They were wholly without their traditional dash. They didn't lack courage, but the thing had been painted too hopeless for them. Psychology.

JIM COFFROTH ARRIVES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6.—Exhibiting that cheery and expansive smile which has earned him the sobriquet of "Sunny Jim," and waxing enthusiastic that he was able to leave the chilling winds of the East behind him and be warmed by nature's greatest heating plant—Old Sol—President James Wood Coffroth of the Tijuana Jockey Club, arrived here today over the San Diego and Arizona Railroad. He had just completed the return trip from New York, in which city he made his headquarters this summer on his mission to exploit Southern California and the fact that the Tijuana track becomes annual the capital of winter racing in America.

A big crowd of friends, admirers, city officials and others greeted Coffroth at the station, all pleased with his early return, that his dynomic directions to his official family might speed up the work of preparing for the expected big season of racing scheduled to be begun at Tijuana November 30.

Forced to cut short some of the entertainment that had been arranged in honor of his return, Coffroth was whisked away to the Jockey Club offices where architects and engineers were awaiting a conference with him regarding the plans for the building of the $1,000,000 plant for Tijuana. This is to take the place of the present one, which will be used for this season. Racing on the old one and construction of the new one will go along at the same time, it being arranged to break ground for the new track on opening day of the coming meeting, Coffroth said.

As the plans for the new plant have been prepared for two months, and as Coffroth had previously inspected them, they were formally approved by him after some minor changes. He directed that a call be sent out to contractors who desire to bid on the work.

FOOTBALL SQUAD TO MAKE A LONG TRIP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) Nov. 6.—Headed by Coach Vincent Borleske, eighteen men, members of the Whitman football squad, will leave tomorrow evening for Seattle, where they will take the boat for San Francisco, on the first leg of their southern football trip. This is the longest athletic trip ever taken by a Whitman organization.

Armistice Day the Missionaries oppose the University of Nevada eleven at Reno. A week later University of Utah will be met at Salt Lake City. Borleske will give his men a light workout in San Francisco before boarding the train for Reno.

PFIRRMANN WINS BIG TRAP TARGET SHOOT

The opening shoot of the Los Angeles Gun Club, with the combined members of the Los Angeles and the Vernon Gun Clubs taking part, was held Sunday at the club's Griffith Park traps. The A. W. Bruner "One L. A. Gun Club" trophy was up and was won by Henry Pfirrmann, Jr. He broke ninety-seven targets.

Bob Bungay was the second high shooter with a score of ninety-three out of 100. Plans for a big shoot with trophies are being made for next Sunday it was announced yesterday by Secretary Martin.

PIONEERS TAKE TO TRACK AND COURTS

More than 200 athletes turned out at a meeting of all students of the Los Angeles High School, who were interested in track or basketball, which was held at the school yesterday afternoon.

According to Coach White, who will help with basketball as soon as the grid season is over, there is every possible reason why the Pioneers should have a good team. Glenn Whittle has almost consented to come back and take track, despite the fact that he resigned from the coaching staff early in the season. Harry Kirkpatrick will help with the track, and Bruce Kirkpatrick will do the honors with the basketball material.

HAWAIIAN SWIMMING STAR TOURS ANTIPODES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HONOLULU, Nov. 6.—W. W. Harris, one of the crack swimmers of the islands, has been invited to tour Australia and New Zealand this winter, and will leave in a few weeks for the antipodes. Harris is one of the comparatively few speed swimmers of the islands who has no Hawaiian blood in his veins. He is only a stroke or two behind the mighty Duke Kahanamoku for 100 yards, and fast for any distance from fifty yards to a quarter of a mile. He expects to be away from Honolulu until March, taking part in a considerable number of tournaments and exhibition races in the antipodes.

FISTIC TALENT IN ABUNDANCE

L.A.A.C. Card is Brimful of Classy Bouts

Galaxy of Mitt Stars to Show Their Wares

Thursday Night's Scraps Are of Gripping Kind

An unexcelled display of fistic talent will comprise the boxing program slated for Thursday night in the gymnasium of the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Eight bouts have been arranged by Matchmaker George Blake. Seldom has there been such a galaxy of mitt stars grouped together for one evening as those who will perform Thursday evening.

From the curtain-raiser to the principal attraction every match should prove a crackerjack. The evening will be opened by that mauler, Carl Paparone, and his opponent, Manuel Fujier. They weigh in the neighborhood of 128 pounds, but when their blows land they sound like a Fourth of July celebration.

PLENTY OF FIGHT

Plenty of fight will be offered four of the Athletic Club's star mitt men when sailors from the Pacific Fleet will be their opponents. The Navy lads are exceptionally popular with local boxing fans, as they always keep their hands and arms moving.

Ed Gleason will be given a rough customer in Sailor Friar. Gleason likes to sock and this type of scrapping is just to the liking of the rugged sailor. Another good bout should result when Manuel Martinez bucks up against Sailor White. Joe Schlocker and Floyd Drake will step forth in the semi-wind-up.

Charley Jenkinson, who copped the national amateur welterweight title while boxing for the L.A.A.C., has just returned from the East, and will appear against Sailor Chadwick. John Conroy and Fidel LaBarba, two classy flyweights, will meet in the main event. The card:

Carl Paparone	128	Manuel Fuller
Russel Reardon	126	C. Jewett
Ad Allegrini	154	Sailor Nemerich
Ed Gleason	128	Sailor Friar
Manuel Martinez	130	Sailor White
Joe Schlocker	142	Sailor Chadwick
Jim Schlocker	135	Floyd Drake
Bo Conroy	110	Fidel La Barba

PACIFIC COAST MEN HOLD BIG MEETING

The Pacific Coast League directors will hold a big pow-wow on November 15. Cal Ewing will feature in the discussions. His proposal is an economic one which will put the Coast League teams on a strong financial basis if carried. The action is to allow but fourteen of major league or class AA standing and six players who have had no minor league experience. This proposal will cut expenses of the clubs materially. Last season Salt Lake, Portland, Seattle, Oakland and Sacramento all went in the hole. This new plan will eliminate all such state of finances.

FLAYS POST-SEASON GAMES

Uniform Eligibility Rules Vital Need of College Football, Says "Hurry Up" Yost

BY FIELDING H. (HURRY UP) YOST,
Coach of Michigan Team

"Hurry Up" Yost, for twenty-two years the coach of the University of Michigan football team, and now Vice Director of Intercollegiate Athletics at that college, is known wherever football is played, as a lover of clean sport. He is also a prominent business man of Nashville, Tenn., where he is a director of many banks and industrial corporations.—[Editor's Note.

While I do not wish to be quoted as criticising the colleges that still have a four year playing rule, I do believe that it would be better for the game in general if the men were only allowed to play varsity football for three seasons. And I believe that the time is very nearly at hand when all colleges will require a one year's residence before they will allow men to play on their teams.

The day of the "tramp athlete" is about over. There was a time when the only requirement needed to make a man eligible for some of the teams was that he live on the campus. Often times men played three or four years on one college team and then went to another college for the same period of time. Money was spent freely in trying to get players in one college, to switch to another.

They tell a good story on one well-known coach, of twenty years ago whose name for obvious reasons I shall keep to myself. His team was being trimmed. Several of his best men were hurt and had to retire, and the substitutes were getting scarce. Finally, the captain yelled to him that the right half had been hurt and would have to leave the game. The coach looked up and down the bench. His best men were either on the field or injured beyond repair. With a groan of despair he muttered.

But to return to the question of intercollegiate football. I do believe that there should be more equality of competition. It is unfair for two colleges to meet who have different rules for their eligibility committee to work with. It is also unfair for one college to play their freshmen on the varsity team while the other does not. It is likewise unfair for one college to allow its men to have more time for practice than do others.

Then, too, take the case of opposing teams varying in the number of games played during a season. A football team with an eleven-game schedule has an advantage of over 50 per cent in experience over teams with a seven game schedule, and, if on the same team freshmen are permitted to play, the advantage is over 100 per cent, since the total number of games engaged in by one player would be forty-four, while on the other only twenty-one. No university should be permitted, or should want, any of these advantages. Uniform rules and equality of competition are essential to the future standing of college athletics and they should exist between all contestants.

AGAINST LONG TRIPS

One of the greatest menaces to the development of the sport is the tendency on the part of some institutions to have too many games and to take too much time away from home. Long trips require the students to be absent from classes for too long a period and it is unfair to pass one man for attending two classes a week while his classmates have to be present at three.

I am absolutely opposed to post season games. I think that the football season should close on the last Saturday in November. Games on the Pacific Coast and in the Orient, for the eastern teams after the regular season, will gradually develop into a competitive race across the continent. As soon as one university goes, another wants to follow. Where will it stop? Heaven only knows. But one thing is certain, unless some active force starts to check this tendency to go to the Pacific Coast, all large eastern schools will be wanting to make the trip.

Of course, I do not favor professional football. It has a very bad influence upon the college player. It tends to make him dissatisfied to play the games for its own sake. Professional football robs the great American game of many of its greatest character building qualities. The idea of generous service, loyalty, sacrifice and whole hearted devotion to a cause, are taken away and the game is robbed of the exhilarating inspiration of achievement, merely for achievement.

I have been asked what I think of the changes in the rules for the current season. Well, I'll tell you. In the first place I am not wild about this "try for a point" business. I will admit that it is an improvement over the old goal after a touch-down, but I think that it would have been better to have had the extra point eliminated entirely. No one hates tie games more than I do but I don't like to see them decided by one play either.

As far as the new rules for substition go, I think that the new rule gives the coach much more say than did the old one. According to the old rule a man had to wait until the start of a new period before going back into the game. Under present conditions, after the first half is over, a man can go into the game at any time and it does not have to be at the start of a quarter.

I suppose it is true that most of the old timers really liked the old-fashioned game much better than the new one, but as far as real worth is concerned I think the open game is better for the sport in general. It makes it much easier for those who watch the game and then, too, it puts an element of uncertainty into the contest that was not present in the old style of play.

For example: In former days Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Chicago, Michigan and several other teams always outclassed their early season rivals. The smaller colleges did not have a chance and they only served as punching bags do to boxers who are trying to get into shape for a big contest. However, with the development of the open play, the forward pass, and the lateral pass, a team with a clever passer, and a good pair of ends is always dangerous and may at any time run through the opposition for a touchdown. In the old days Centre would never have been able to come to Cambridge and defeat Harvard, as she did last season, but under the present conditions it is a thing likely to happen to any big college.

FEATURE INCLOSED CARS

Concentration of the motor car dealers exhibiting in the Tenth Annual Automobile Show, opening next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for nine days at Prager Park, on the display of inclosed types of cars, while not detracting in the slightest from open car exhibition, tells mutely the story of advance of sedan, coupe, coach, brougham, limousine and other closed cars during the past two years.

In keeping with the trend of manufacture, spelling greater success for the closed vehicle than ever before, the Los Angeles dealers will show scores of the 1923 model inclosed cars. It is predicted that at the end of the present year, production figures of the factories will show an amazing gain in closed car production, as almost 40 per cent of the manufacturing facilities in all plants are being devoted exclusively to inclosed car production.

Burt Roberts, manager of the show and executive secretary of the Motor Car Dealers' Association of Los Angeles, under whose auspices the show will be staged, declared yesterday that he expected the inclosed cars to be given a great share of attention from the thousands of visitors at the display. In California particularly, he stated, where all-year touring is one of the greatest features the State as to boast, the closed car is being looked upon with greater favor than ever, as the ideal type of automobile. Manufacturers are expending more effort than ever before along closed car refinement and the 1923 models on display will show many advances in design and appointments that indicate greater comfort and convenience of the car owner.

Mrs. Noon is Leading in Tourney

First honors in the qualifying round of the women's invitational tournament which is being staged over the course of the California Country Club, went to Mrs. P. S. Noon, yesterday, when she turned in a score of 99. Mrs. Noon was the runner-up in the recent city tourney. Due to a high wind which was blowing, none of the thirty contestants who teed off were able to make very good scores.

Mrs. J. L. Dunn found herself at home on the California course, and was expected to give Mrs. Noon a hard tussle for the first honors, but a few poor shots and the wind, took her score into the three figures class. Mrs. Noon is a resident of Chicago, and as that city is noted for its winds she played a consistent game in spite of the low score turned in. Mrs. C. J. Meyberg and Mrs. R. J. Breed tied for the low net honors, and unless some other arrangement is made the tie will be played off the last day of the tournament.

FIRST FLIGHT

Mrs. M. Wainwright vs. Mrs. R. J. Breed.
Mrs. C. J. Meyberg vs. Mrs. L. S. Collins.

Strawberries in September

Some London restaurants have been serving "morning gathered" strawberries, which are a very great novelty, for it is rare to have this fruit at that time. Christmas strawberries are somewhat common, being grown in hothouses, but these establishments do not yield September berries. This fruit comes from a hill in Buckinghamshire which was cleared of its wood during the war, and from it luscious wild strawberries are being gathered as well as blackberries.

BIG DOINGS IN SOCCER LEAGUE

Pasadena and Samson Tire Teams Unbeaten

Tiremen Take on Long Beach Sunday

Result of Game Will Decide the Leadership

At the end of three weeks of play in the local soccer league two teams only retain their undefeated certificate. They are the Samson Tire Company and Pasadena.

Next Sunday the Tiremen will meet the Long Beach United at Washington Park in one of the feature games of the week end play, starting at 3 p.m. On its outcome will depend the leadership of the league, so closely are the teams bunched.

ADD NEW TIMBER

The opener at the Washington-street lot will bring together L. A. United and Overseas. The veterans have added new timber to their line-up, and are expected to give the champions a battle royal. Kick-off will be at 1 p.m.

Another feature game will be staged at Tournament Park, where Pasadena will be hosts to the L. A. A. C. The Mercurians are stepping at a fast clip and will force the Crown City aggregation to extend themselves to maintain a clean slate.

Hazard Field will be the scene of the fourth contest, in which the L. A. Scots will test their skill against the Rangers. A week ago the latter would not have been conceded a chance, but conditions today are different.

REVELATION

The showing of the Rangers last Sunday against Pasadena was a revelation. True they were defeated 3 to 1, but they went under after holding Pasadena to a tie with but a few minutes to play. The winning counters were registered as the result of breakaways that were 50 per cent skill and 50 per cent luck.

Manager Howe of the Rangers has at last rounded out a fighting team that looks like a winner, and one that should be heard from in the future.

Trotter Says Contest Lost by Penalties

"It is hard to account for last Saturday," remarked Harry Trotter, coach of the Southern Branch eleven, when asked how he felt about the showing of his charges in their 6 to 6 tie with Whittier. "It was penalties that lost us the game. After holding the Poets for four downs on the two yard line, Southern Branch was charged with an off side, which gave Whittier four extra downs. It was only on the fourth of these that the Poets were able to score."

Although no hand to make alibies, Jimmy Cline, assistant coach of the Bruins, hinted that if Jack Frost had been able to play he would possibly have been able to convert for the Cubs by a drop kick, where White's place kick failed.

The Baby Bear coaches have outlined an intensive program of preparation for the Pomona game, and when the Sagehens meet the Cubs on November 18, Trotter promises a real battle.

DRIVERS PLAN ORGANIZATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Automobile racing drivers are planning a national organization headed by a director with authority to protect their interests such as is held by Commissioner K. M. Landis in baseball.

Barney Oldfield, former speed king, it was said today, has been mentioned as a possible head of the organization, which will be known as the Association of Auto Aces. Tommy Milton, a leading driver for several years, is said to be one of the leaders in plans for a convention of drivers early in January to effect definite organization.

Flower of the North

by James Oliver Curwood

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

Philip Whittemore, adventurer, becomes a pal to Pierre Couchee the vast hunting reserves of a Canadian wilderness which he learns of the construction of a railroad which will cut the heart of a rich country filled with lakes and rivers. Braksw, Whittemore's deceased father's business partner, obtains a provisional license to operate the industry and Whittemore goes north to take charge. Braksw warns him by letter that rival factions are planning to wreck the enterprise. Shortly after two warehouses are burned. On a certain night, Pierre Couchee and his sister Jeanne, friends of Whittemore, en route to meet him at their forest rendezvous, are attacked by unknown assailants. In the fight that ensues Pierre is wounded and Jeanne abducted. Whittemore rescues her and when Pierre overtakes them the three go to Fort o' God, the secluded home of Pierre and Jeanne, where Whittemore meets Henry d'Arcambal, Jeanne's father. In a note to Whittemore Jeanne tells him that she cannot accept the love he offers her. Later that night he sees the girl in the arms of a man unknown to him and leaves immediately for his company's camp. Arriving there he meets the camp's gang foreman, Thorpe and recognizes in him the man he had seen with Jeanne that evening. Through a ruse the camp has been stripped of most of its men and Whittemore is arresting an early attack from his foe. Several nights later Pierre goes to Thorpe's cabin and the two men clash. The sound of a shot and cries brings Whittemore and his men to the scene where they find Thorpe dead and Pierre seriously wounded.

MacDougall had studied medicine and surgery before engineering, and took the place of camp physician. Philip drew back while he ripped open Pierre's garments and bared his breast. Then he darted to his bunk for the satchel in which he kept his bandages and medicines, threwing off his coat as he went. Philip bent over Pierre. Blood was oozing slowly from the wounded man's right breast. Over his heart Philip noticed a blood-stained locket, fastened by a babiche string about his neck.

Pierre's hands groped eagerly for Philip's.

"M'sieur—you will tell me—if I must die?" he pleaded. "There are things you must know—about Jeanne—if I go. It will not hurt. I am afraid. You will tell me—"

"Yes, said Philip.

He could scarcely speak, and while MacDougall was at work, stood so that Pierre could not see his face. There was a sobbing note in Pierre's breath, and he knew what it meant. He had heard that same sound more than once when he had shot moose and caribou through the lungs. Five minutes later MacDougall straightened himself. He had done all that he could. Philip followed him to the back part of the room. Almost without sound his lips framed the words, "will he die?"

"Yes," said MacDougall. "There is no hope. He may last until morning."

Philip took a stool and sat down beside Pierre. There was no fear in the wounded man's face. His eyes were clear. His voice was a little stronger.

"I will die, M'sieur," he said calmly.

"I am afraid so, Pierre."

"It is best," he said, "and I am glad. I feel quite well. I will live for some time?"

"Perhaps for a few hours, Pierre."

"God is good to me," breathed Pierre, devoutly. "I thank Him. Are we alone?"

"Do you wish to be alone?"

"Yes."

Philip motioned to MacDougall, who went into the little office room.

"I will die," whispered Pierre, softly, as though he were achieving a triumph. "And everything would die with me, M'sieur, if I did not know that you love Jeanne, and that you will care for her when I am gone. M'sieur, I have told you that I love her. I have worshiped her, next to my God. I die happy, knowing that I am dying for her. If I had lived I would have suffered, for I love alone. She does not dream that my love is different from hers, for I have never told her. It would have given her pain. And you will never let her know. As Our Dead Lady is my witness, M'sieur, she has loved but one man, and that man is you."

Pierre gave a great breath. A warm flood seemed suddenly to engulf Philip. Did he hear right? Could be believe? He fell upon his knees beside Pierre and brushed his dark hair back from his face.

"Yes, I love her," he said softly. "But I did not know that she loved me."

"It is not strange," said Pierre, looking straight into his eyes. "But you will understand — now—M'sieur. I seem to have strength, and I will tell you all—from the beginning. Perhaps I have done wrong. You know—soon. You remember Jeanne told you the story of the baby—of the woman frozen in the snow. That was the beginning of the long fight—for me. This—what I am about to tell you —will be sacred to you, M'sieur?"

"As my life," said Philip.

Pierre was silent for a few moments. He seemed to be gathering his thoughts, so that he could tell in few words the tragedy of years. Two brilliant spots burned in his cheeks, and the hand which Philip held was hot.

"Years ago—twenty, almost—there came a man to Fort o' God," he began. "He was very young and from the south. D'Arcambal was then middle-aged, but his wife was young and beautiful. Jeanne says that you saw her picture—against the wall. D'Arcambal worshiped her. She was his life. You understand what happened. The man from the south—the young wife—they went away together."

"It broke D'Arcambal's heart," resumed Pierre. "He destroyed everything that had belonged to the woman. He turned her picture to the wall. His love turned slowly to hate. It was two years later that I came over the barrens one night and found Jeanne and her dead mother. The woman M'sieur—Jeanne's mother — was D'Arcambal's wife. She was returning to Forf o' God, and God's justice overtook her almost at its doors. I carried little Jeanne to my Indian mother, and then made ready to carry the woman to her husband. It was then that a terrible thought came to me. Jeanne was not D'Arcambal's daughter. She was a part of the man who had stolen his wife. I worshiped the little Jeanne even then, and for her sake my mother and I swore secrecy, and buried the woman. Then we took the babe to Fort o' God as a stranger. We saved her. We saved D'Arcambal. No one ever knew."

Pierre stopped for breath.

"Was it best?"

"It was glorious," said Philip, trembling.

"It would have come out right—in the end—if the father had not returned," said Pierre. "I must hurry, M'sieur, for it hurts me now to talk. He came first a year ago, and revealed himself to Jeanne. He told her everything. D'Arcambal was rich; Jeanne and I both had money. He threatened—we bought him off. We fought to keep the terrible thing from D'Arcambal. Our money sent him away for a time. Then he returned. It was news of him I brought up the river to Jeanne—from Churchill. I offered to kill him—but Jeanne would not listen to that. But the Great God willed that I should: I killed him tonight—over there!"

A great joy surged above the grief in Philip's heart. He could not speak, but pressed Pierre's hand harder, and looked into his glistening eyes.

"M'sieur, this man Thorpe—Jeanne's father—is the man whom you know as Lord Fitzhugh Lee."

He coughed violently, and with sudden fear Philip lifted his head so that it rested against his shoulder. After a moment he lowered it again. His face was as white as Pierre's after the sudden fit of coughing.

"I talked with him—alone—on the afternoon of the fight on the rock," continued Pierre, huskily. "He was hiding in the woods near Churchill, and left for Fort o' God on that same day. I did not tell Jeanne—until after what happened, and I came up with you on the river. Thorpe was waiting for us at Fort o' God. It was he whom Jeanne saw that night beside the rock, but I could not tell you the truth—then. He came often after that—two, three times a week. He tortured Jeanne. My God! he taunted her, M'sieur, and made her let him kiss her, because he was her father. We gave him money—all that we could get; we promised him more, if he would leave—five thousand dollars—in three years. He agreed to go—after he had finished his work here. And that work—M'sieur—was to destroy you. He told Jeanne, because it made her fear him more. He compelled her to come to his cabin. He thought she was his slave, that she would do anything to be free of him. He told her of his plot—how he had fooled you in the sham fight with one of his men—how those men were going to attack you a little later, and how he had intercepted your letter from Churchill and sent in its place the other letter which made your camp defenseless. He was not afried of her. She was in his power, and he laughed at her horror, and tortured her as a cat will a bird. But Jeanne—"

"My God! water—something—M'sieur," he gasped. "I must go on!"

Philip raised him again in his arms. He saw MacDougall's head appear through the door.

"You will rest easier this way, Pierre," he said.

"You must understand. I must be quick," he said. "We could not warn you of what Jeanne had discovered. That would have revealed her father. D'Arcambal would have known—every one. Thorpe plans to dress his men—like Indians. They are to attack your camp tomorrow night. Ten days ago We went to the camp of Sachigo, the Cree, who loves Jeanne as his own daughter. It was Jeanne's idea—to save you. Jeanne told him of Thorpe's plot to destroy you, and to lay the blame on Sachigo's people. Sachigo is out there—in the mountains—hiding with thirty of his tribe. Two days ago—Jeanne learned where her father's men were hiding. We had planned everything. Tomorrow night—when they move to attack—we were to start a signal fire on the big rock mountain at the end of the lake. Sachigo starts at the signal, and lays in ambush for the others in the ravine between the two mountains. None of Thorpe's men will come out alive. Sachigo and his people will destroy them, and none will ever know how it happened, for the Cree keep their secrets. But now—it is too late—for me. When it happens—I will be gone. The signal-pile is built—birch-bark—at the very top of the rock. Jeanne will wait for me out on the plain—and I will not come. You must fire the signal, M'sieur—as soon as it is dark. None will ever know. Jeanne's father is dead. You will keep the secret—of her mother—always—"

"For ever," said Philip.

MacDougall came into the room. He brought a glass, partly filled with a colored liquid, and placed it to Pierre's lips. Pierre swallowed with an effort, and with a significant hunch of his shoulders for Philip's eyes alone the engineer returned to the little room.

"Mon Dieu, how it burns!" said Pierre, as if to himself. "May I lie down again, M'sieur?"

Philip lowered him gently. He made no effort to speak in these moments. Pierre's eyes were dark and luminous as they sought his own. The draught he had taken gave him a passing strength.

TELEPHONE TRAFFIC

"Traffic" is a word of significance to the resident of Los Angeles. The increasing congestion of the streets has been perceptible almost from month to month. It is a price of the prosperity of the city.

Over the thousands and thousands of miles of wire that radiate from every telephone through twenty-nine central offices in all directions, there is a constantly increasing volume of telephone traffic. The users of 182,000 telephones are now making approximately 1,300,000 calls per day. There are "rush hours" and crowded periods in this traffic as well as in that of the streets.

The pedestrian and automobilist, with the situation before their eyes, are aware of the wishes and intentions of others. They see the trained traffic officer doing his best to promote the safety and convenience of all, and cheerfully accept rules and signals established for the common benefit. In the invisible telephone traffic not a person knows of the demands made at the same time upon the service. There is no hand of authority to periodically divide the facilities of the voice highways. Every telephone user expects the right-of-way, but this right may be temporarily in the possession of others.

With 1,300,000 calls per day, varying greatly with the hours, there will be some calls not completed to the satisfaction of company and subscriber. Sometimes it will be the fault of the company—delicately adjusted apparatus will fail—as in every human activity, operators will make mistakes. Sometimes it will be the fault of the patron—delay in answering, excessive use of the lines—improper use or care of the telephone.

The telephone company maintains its traffic officers—inspectors and supervisors — arranging and re-arranging apparatus and operating forces to best meet developing needs. The company is constantly widening and extending its "streets"—in adding switchboard capacity and larger cables. In Los Angeles today, the equipment and attendance through which telephone service is given are being increased in far greater proportion than the number of telephone subscribers.

Question: How can nuts be cracked so that the meats will come out whole? C. R. T.

Answer: Putting the nuts in boiling water for three to five minutes makes it possible to crack them when cool and remove the meats whole.

A.: Allspice is a single spice which has a flavor resembling a mixture of cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves. It is obtained by crushing the dry unripe berry of the pimento, a small evergreen tree cultivated in the West Indies.

Q.: What is a dealer in foreign moneys called? J. F. U.

A.: A dealer in, or manual on, moneys of foreign countries or bills of exchange is a cambist. A numismatist is one who studies the science of coins and makes collections of them.

Q.: What is the food value of pickles? C. J. S.

Q.: Is there any connection between forest fires and the extermination of fish? D. H.

A.: The practical extinction of trout followed a great forest fire in the White Mountains. It is thought that the leaching out of ash left by the fire increased the alkalinity of the water in the mountain streams until fish could not live in it.

Q.: What is the log of a ship? F. A.

A.: An instrument towed by the vessel by which the distance traveled is ascertained is called the log. The record of the ship's speed is, therefore, called the log and this report is often extended to a full nautical report of the voyage.

Q.: What are the primary colors? W. O.

A.: The primary colors are those colors into which the spectrum of light is separated, according to the scheme invented by Sir Isaac Newton. They are red, yellow, orange, green, blue, indigo and violet.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Seems to Like Us

GLENDALE, Nov. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have your advance announcement of Henry Ford's prospective story to be published in The Times Magazine and am eagerly awaiting the first issue of that scoop story, and that it will be rich reading goes without saying.

I have been a constant subscriber of The Times ever since my arrival in Glendale, more than seventeen years ago, and flatter myself as being a good critic of a good up-to-date newspaper. When I lived in Chicago for a period of nearly thirty-one years I was a constant subscriber of the dear old Chicago Tribune and always considered that paper high class for honest publication of news, not filled up with a lot of sensational slush, like the Examiner and some of the other newspapers publish, and filled with misleading reading matter that had to be denied in subsequent issues.

Today I consider The Times as the foremost newspaper for good, substantial and reliable news published in the United States. As a news gatherer from all quarters of the globe it has no equal.

During the life of Gen. Otis I always admired his fearless courage of standing, undaunted, behind his guns, and it is highly gratifying to know that the general left his paper in reliable hands to forge ahead, increasing the power of this wonderful publication, and as long as I live I will be a constant reader of The Times.

Please accept my congratulations for continued success of the greatest newspaper in what is destined to be the greatest city in these United States, and continued boosting will accomplish the desired end. Very truly,

CHARLES E. STANLEY.

Too Much Muddle

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] One of the "innocent bystanders" would like space for a few lines that seem to him and others pertinent. After delving into the mess of things on the ballot I am forced to several conclusions: That they are so many and obscure that 60 per cent of the voters are hopeless in the matter of a decision; the women chiefly don't vote at all or vote wild. That if we were advised as to who is the instigator of a referendum we could better decide as to merit and motive. That if we required 15 per cent of signatures to a petition there would be a satisfactory reduction of the menace. Any large influence, either business or political, can easily secure the signatures required, and if it is made as obscure as usual a small part of the common voters will vote, their vote will be divided at random, and with the whole vote small the promoters can easily swing the majority the way they want to. Witness, for obscurity, the question of taxing public works, local taxation, judges' salaries and housing. A superior judge told me of more than one of these, that they are obscure, that he could not be certain about the effect of them and one had better not vote. Just here, I am American enough to assert that one should know the merits of a measure, and if it is bad vote against it, to do his whole duty; but how can he know? The housing measure certainly is a menace, and this fact is clearly shown in its language. I am a man of some experience in this line, and before I got half through I was entirely at sea except as to the fact of its demerit in its obscurity. I asked a bright attorney how I should vote on the ward issue. He said he did not know, as he had given it no thought. How can the rest of us know, pray?

J. B. MACKIN.

It's Un-American

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It seems that ever so often some disgruntled individual takes it upon himself to vent his spleen on some helpless animal, usually the dog or cat.

This sort of thing has been carried to such extremes that, unhappily, the public takes little notice of it any more. It seems a pity, however, that human beings cannot find some better way to kill time than by teaching and encouraging cruelty. The greatest souls, both men and women, now and in times past, have been animal lovers and have given of their time and talent to promote the humane and kindly treatment of these creatures so dependent on man. Not so the "John Smiths" who seem bent on undoing the work.

Why this mania to kill and destroy? It smacks of the foreign—it is un-American.

N. H. DUNNING.

Says It's Piffle

THREE RIVERS, Nov. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have read with interest, and a certain measure of disgust, the article, "Save the Wild Life," by Emerson Hough, on your editorial page, October 21.

It is rare that a newspaper like The Times publishes such a collection of piffle and poppycock.

The wild fauna of the parks are not doomed to early extinction. I speak for Sequoia and Gen. Grant, but the same statement is true for the other parks.

The original wild fauna of these parks have been preserved and are increasing under the national park service.

The burden of Mr. Hough's complaint is that certain regions of the parks have been made popular and accessible, while accommodations have been provided for visitors. However, in all the parks vast areas, by far the greater area, remain in natural condition; and he who seeks to rough it on foot or horse lacks no opportunity.

We, in the park service, are between two sets of extremists. There are those who would commercialize and exploit the parks in the same way as other mountain resorts; and there are those whom it vastly annoys to see others than themselves enjoying the scenery, the fishing and the wild life.

There are not lacking visionary enthusiasts who would close the parks to the "common people," permitting therein only those who had read the visionary enthusiast's nature books and who subscribed to his particular plan for administering the universe and the national parks.

JOHN R. WHITE,

PLANS FOR BRANCH LIBRARY ACCEPTED

At the last meeting of the Library Board, the plans of C. E. Noerenberg were accepted for the new Branch Library, to be known as the Figueroa Branch, to be erected at the corner of Figueroa and Eightieth streets. This new library will serve this growing section of the city, and the plans of Mr. Noerenberg are very pleasing and attractive. As soon as these plans are approved by the Art Commission, the branch will be set under way.

WOOLWINE IS ARTFUL DODGER

"Wet" Candidate Fails to Address City Club

Women Ready With Barrage of Questions

President Denies Substitute Speaking Privilege

BY MYRA NYE

Simulated groans, prolonged "ahs" and the exclamation from many lips "I told you so," greeted Mrs. William P. Cunningham, president of the Woman's City Club, yesterday when at the regular session she announced that Thomas Lee Woolwine, Democratic nominee for Governor, had failed to make his appearance as promised. Mrs. Cunningham further electrified the audience by stating that she refused to allow the substitute who had come in his place to speak.

"I have already been asked in no kindly manner why I have never allowed Mr. Woolwine to appear before the club," said Mrs. Cunningham, "and I take this opportunity to tell you that the program committee has asked Woolwine since the primaries and he chose this date. But as you see, he does not come. Before the primaries Woolwine was not eligible to speak before the club. He was being questioned by the grand jury. This club has great respect for the grand jury. It is also in the habit of asking questions itself. If would not do to have our questions interfere with those of the grand jury.

"As to the substitute whom, he has sent at the last moment, we cannot allow this audience to suffer vicariously. Besides I have already refused to allow Upton Sinclair to speak in behalf of the Socialistic candidate for Governor, Alexander Horr. He said he was too busy writing a book to speak for himself as candidate for the United States Senate." [Laughter.]

Walker Theater was crowded and stringent measures were taken to clear the aisles. A woman from the upper balcony inquired if those who were not members might not be ejected in favor of those who were, but the president ruled that those standing in and obstructing the passageways must leave.

The great number had come to witness the encounter they anticipated when the candidate well known to be "wet" should meet the usual questions of the club: "Are you for any modification of the eighteenth Amendment?" and "Do you believe in allowing light wines and beer in California?"

The identity of the substitute

who came to the platform to speak for Woolwine remained a mystery. Much questioning did not reveal his name, and even Mrs. Cunningham, when asked, replied: "I did not catch his name, and I never saw him before. He wasn't invited."

Nonpartisanship has long been the no man's land of politics. It is fast becoming the no woman's land as well. Often during the campaign that ends today women have been told that partisanship is dying out, that women are not lining up. But a survey of the situation does not bear this out. Republican women in Los Angeles county have registered three to one Democrat.

Nationally, however, more Democratic women are running for office than Republican, but the only woman in this campaign to sacrifice her millinery on the race track, will be settled today. At first she wanted to appear on the ballot as Mrs. Anna D. Oleson, but the matter was carried to the courts and it was decided by men judges that if she went before the electorate, it would have to be with her husband's name. Word comes from the northwestern State that she has a little less than an even chance to beat Senator Kellogg.

Mrs. Oleson's neighboring State of Wisconsin furnishes another Democratic woman ambitious to change her tailor-made suit for a Senatorial toga, Mrs. Ben Hooper of Oshkosh, who comes up against Robert M. La Follette. Her chance of winning is as remote as Thomas Lee Woolwine's chances to become president of the Friday Morning Club, opposing Mrs. Andrew S. Lobingier.

Mrs. Rachael Robinson is running for the Senate from Pennsylvania. Mrs. Robinson is a Prohibitionist and wishes the seat once held by Philander C. Knox. Mrs. Ellen Duane Davis had her eyes upon the same seat, but her husband persuaded her to turn her eyes elsewhere — homeward, perhaps. But her eyes were not glued there for long, because she won the Democratic nomination for the House in the Second District of that State. She is the great granddaughter of Benjamin Franklin, and is well known in that part of Pennsylvania.

In New York it does not appear from eastern reports that Mrs. Ella L. Boole has a look-in. Her platform is better enforcement of the Volstead law, and she has the backing of the State W.C.T.U., but in spite of the popularity of that issue with women, the great number of them still retain their allegiance to the two big parties and the contest is between Senator Calder of Brooklyn and Dr. Royal Copeland.

Mrs. Winifred Mason Huck, Republican nominee for representative-at-large from Illinois, is the only candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her father, and has a remarkable chance, outstanding among all other women candidates for election. Mrs. Adeline Otero-Warren of New Mexico is the only woman Congressional candidate who beat in the primaries a present member of Congress, Nester Montoya. Mrs. Warren has been Superintendent of Schools in Santa Fe county for several years, and has insisted that English be the only language taught, although fully three-fourths of the people speak Spanish or a Mexican patois. She is a Republican.

Mrs. Lucy B. Patterson of North Carolina is engaged in an interesting fight which will be decided today. She is a Republican and wants he seat in the House now held by Representative Stedman, who is he only Confederate soldier in Congress. It is said by those who know the situation that her chances are about fifty-fifty. She promises to seek to make women eligible to appointments in the United States Consular Service.

Miss Alice Lorraine Daly of South Dakota is the only woman running for Governor of a State. At first directly after her nomination there was considerable sentiment in her favor but the tide turned and now there is little doubt but that her Republican rival will be successful. She is running as a candidate of the ultra-radical Non-Partisan League. Her political history evidences more than that of any other woman perhaps the futility of non-partisanship in actual practical politics.

As Mrs. Florence Riddick Boys, a local Republican of Indiana, said recently: "As a free lance no woman can hope to accomplish anything. Our country is sure to be governed by one or the other of our two great political parties. Our greatest service to government can be only by helping to build up that political party which we feel is most able to direct its affairs wisely. Giving allegiance to no party we have influence with neither and only by whole-hearted loyalty will we earn the right to help shape politics. To be non-partisan is to be a nonentity."

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Seventy-five years ago, May 5, 1847, there was founded an organization, the purpose of which, as outlined in its constitution, was as follows:

"For cultivating and advancing medical knowledge; for elevating the standard of the medical profession; for promoting the usefulness, honor, and interests of the medical profession; for enlightening and directing public opinion in regard to the duties, responsibilities, and requirements of medical men; for exciting and encouraging emulation and concert of action in the profession, and for facilitating and fostering friendly intercourse between those engaged in it."

That organization was our American Medical Association. The question of raising the standard of education was the chief point of dissention in founding the association. Three to four months a year for two years was the curriculum at that time and it was thought that the terms should be increased from four to six months. Those opposing raising the standards said that this was an aristocratic feature of the worst omen; that it would cripple the medical colleges, and that it would prevent the young men of limited means who otherwise might be of benefit to humanity and a credit to themselves, from taking a medical course.

However, it was decided that the young men who had not mental energy and perseverance sufficient to comply with the new standard, had not enough of these qualities to enable them to do justice to a profession so extensive, intricate and arduous as the medical profession; so the point was carried and the educational requirements were raised.

Since the inception of the American Medical Association 75 years ago, its standards have been raised again and again, until the preliminary or fundamental educational requirements consist of four years high school and two years collegiate work: the professional or medical training is four years, with eight months' study each year, and one year in an accredited hospital; making 11 years' training after the grammar school for the minimum training.

When this standard was accepted by the American Medical Association (the so-called "Medical Trust") a few years ago; quite a number of medical colleges that did not come up to the standards had to cease to exist as medical colleges. Many men and women who wanted to become doctors, and did not have the education required, flocked to the different cults that had no standards of education whatever as a preliminary to entrance and no standard professional course, many of them offering correspondence courses.

In some States these cults are given a license to practice if they pass the examination with a grade of 75 per cent in the subjects they teach—if they have a high school education. But there is the rub. Very few of them have, so now some of them are trying to get boards of their own so they can all be licensed.

If it is a question of life or death to you or your children and you call a doctor, do you not want your State to assure you that this "doctor" shall have at least a mind trained as much as a high school graduate?

The relation of the physician to the public is comparable to no other profession. No trust is so sacred as the health and life of the individual and of the community. I believe the time will come, and should come, when the standards for the fundamental education and for the professional training of all those who desire to assume this grave trust will be the same. Then the graduate can take special training if he desires to specialize in mechanico-therapeutics, mental therapeutics, surgery or any other branch.

What do you think of this question. More boards or more education?

MEXICANS .. TO .. DISPLAY .. ART

THE ancient Aztec sculptors laid the foundation for what probably is the most realistic reproduction of natural life which is found in its modern-day perfection in the wax statuettes made by the Indians of South-Central Mexico. There are hundreds of these little models at the exposition of Mexican arts and crafts that will open Saturday for two weeks at 801 West Seventh street, near Figueroa street. The exhibit was sent here by the Mexican government, and will be free to the public.

The wax statuettes, while only a few inches high, show in perfect detail the Mexican Indian and peon at work and at play. The collection depicts Mexican rural life in all its details. The figures are modeled from wax in almost perfect imagery to life, with all the flesh tints. Then the little wax dolls are dressed in garments of cloth and the whole dipped in wax to complete the finish. The result is a statuette of almost photographic realism, only with all the natural colors.

One of the most extraordinary pieces in the exhibit shows a Mexican vaquero dragging a steer by the tail. The metal and leather working of his saddle and bridle and richly silvered charro suit and hat are perfectly reproduced in the natural materials. Other pieces show Indians in all occupations, bull fighters, rurales of the Diaz regime in cavalry combat, etc.

The collection is of some 5000 pieces—pottery and leather work, jewelry and textiles, all the work of the Mexican Indian of the present day. It is the finest collection of its kind ever assembled, and probably will be the last, for machinery in another two decades will obliterate handiwork in Mexico.

In addition to the Indian work there will be a small collection of paintings by Xavier Guerrero and Adolfo Best Maugard, young Mexican artists. Mr. Guerrero is accompanying the exhibit and will be in charge of it, under the general direction of Leandro Garza Leal, Mexican Consul at El Paso.

This same collection was sent here for the Pageant of Progress at Exposition Park, but arrived too late because of railroad difficulties at El Paso. Having promised it for Los Angeles people Mr. Garza Leal insisted that it be shown in a large space rented for the purpose. Schools and clubs will use the exhibit for purposes of study. The public will be admitted daily, including Sunday, from 2 to 10 a.m.

FITTS, INJURED, OPERATED UPON

Buron R. Fitts, past State commander of the American Legion, was operated upon yesterday at the California Hospital in Los Angeles, as a result of injuries received two weeks ago when an Army airplane in which he was a passenger crashed on the beach at Carpinteria.

Fitts's right knee was shattered by shrapnel in the Battle of the Argonne, and was again badly injured when he was pinned beneath the plane. Drs. Anton, Carling and Decker said last night that the operation was a final attempt to obviate the necessity of an amputation.

Fitts has been campaign director for several months for legislation in behalf of California ex-service men which appears as the first and third propositions on tomorrow's State ballot. Before submitting to the anesthetic he dictated a statement to all American Legion post commanders, asking them to "provide a detail at all polling places in the interest of the legislation for veterans."

Andy Gump, Esq. Gives Voters an Eye and Earful

"Gump for Congress, the people's choice." This was the banner that draped the machine in which the illustrious Andy Gump rode up and down Broadway last night. Several campaign speeches were made during the course of the evening by Andy, and a great many people hailed him as the most popular candidate.

The campaign stunt was arranged by his manager and carried out by the Alpha Rho Chi fraternity of the University of Southern California.

LOSES ROLL IN HOLD-UP

SLAIN MAN'S ASHES ARE SENT NORTH

Investigation of Oakland Cafe Proprietor's Death Suspended Here

The ashes of Nick F. Dabelich, whose body was found last Thursday under a bridge on Mesa Drive, were taken to Oakland last night by his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Dabelich.

Investigation of the mystery surrounding the cafe proprietor's death will be conducted from Oakland in the belief that he met the persons responsible for his death there, it was announced yesterday. Detective Sergt. Herman Cline having turned over all information to the police of the northern city.

Peter Dabelich, the dead man's brother and partner, will be questioned in an effort to determine whether any motive other than robbery may have been responsible for the murder.

Local authorities have suspended their investigation until further advices from the police of Oakland.

PORTER'S STORY TICKLES COURT

Laughter by judge, jury, court attaches and spectators temporarily halted the trial yesterday of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, when R. J. Sanderson, negro porter on the Golden State Limited, told of a search on the train for an elusive dollar.

Sanderson had been called to testify regarding meeting Burch on the train from Chicago to Los Angeles. He was asked by Paul Schenck, defense counsel, if Mrs. Sophie Root, another passenger on the train, had handed him a $5 bill and asked him to get change?

"Yes, sir, I did," replied the porter.

"When you got the change," continued Schenck, "she dropped a dollar and you rescued it for her, did you not?"

"No, sir, I rescued it for myself," was the quick response.

Other witnesses who testified were Milton Carlson, handwriting expert, who stated that Burch's writing was similar to that of the man who rented automobiles on nights prior to the murder, A. M. Rochlen, Times reporter, who told of Burch's refusal to put on glasses to assist in identification by one Summer, who believed Burch to have been the man who crowded him off the road near Beverly Glen on the night of the murder; A. L. Manning, Milton G. Cummings, Undersheriff Biscailuz and N. P. Brown.

The case was continued until Wednesday morning. It is expected that the prosecution will rest its case Wednesday or Thursday.

The prosecution is hampered by the apparent disappearance of Dr. J. J. Finley, formerly surgeon at the County Jail, who removed a thorn from Burch's knee. Finley testified at the two previous trials and was in the District Attorney's office last Thursday. Since then he has not been seen and efforts to get in touch with him have failed.

Coroner's Jury Holds Radical as Murderer

Admitting that he shot Patrolman O. V. Dinsmore, but asserting that the shot was fired during a scuffle, George Edwards, I.W.W. who is charged with having killed the officer, was found by a Coroner's jury to have been responsible for the death.

The inquest was held yesterday at Armstrong's undertaking establishment. When placed on the stand Edwards admitted having shot the patrolman, declaring that the act took place during a struggle.

Isaac Wolfgang, alias Fred Edwards, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice Follette and charged with the murder of Patrolman Oliver Dinsmore on Saturday. The accused was held without bail and his hearing set for November 16.

PACHYDERMS BATHE

Pacific Coast motion-picture bathing beauties are to have some real competition next season. George Power, trainer of the New York Hippodrome elephants, has completed a series of test films in which his big pachyderms perform a burlesque upon the motion-picture beauties and the making of real comedy pictures presenting his elephants will begin next summer. During the off months the elephants are learning the secrets of a bathing beauty from Miss Marie Mack, formerly one of Mack Sennet's girls who is now a member of the cast of "Better Times."

Melodrama and Jazz Band on Pantages Bill

Everyone is entitled to an individual opinion as to what constitutes a good photoplay. No amount of reputation in players or producers, and no amount of publicity will make an audience like a picture, though either may draw crowds to see it. The screen revival of "More to Be Pitied Than Scorned," once-popular melodrama, has all the sentiment and thrills of the original play, and a few additional quivers in both categories. It is a story of stage and home in which men's fists and women's sobs are the chief components, and the audience at Pantages reacted strongly to both.

Whence come all the jazz bands, and why? Rumor has it that jazz is dying in the East, and that the jazz bands are all traveling West two jumps ahead of starvation. Be it thus or no, vaudeville has lately had more than its share of this class of headline. Now that we have heard Earl Fuller, who put jazz on the phonograph records, the rest, if there are any more back East, may as well stay there. After so many jazz bands, the Pantages Monday audience was case-hardened. So it sat back in its seat and refused to enthuse when Earl led off into the weird harmonics that jazz entwines about popular melodies. Not for long, however. Earl got 'em—and he got 'em good. Then he evened up the score by refusing to play encores until they simply begged for them.

Maurice Barrett and Frederick Clayton capitalize mysticism in a playlet entitled "Fate," which is aimless, purposeless and resultless.

Comedy of the hilarious kind is the reason for the presence of Shirli Rives and Bill Arnold. Arnold is the comedian. He has a monologue that needs a helper, in which part Miss Rives fits perfectly. He comes out and tries to sell rubber balloons, a starting point for a line of comedy that demands concentration from the audience, which is sufficiently unusual in vaudeville comedy to demand special mention.

Beck and Stone are also laughmakers, as funny though not as witty as Rives and Arnold.

CLUB ROYALE WILL HONOR "ROBIN HOOD"

Tomorrow night it not only will be "Robin Hood in Hollywood," but "Robin Hood in Culver City" as well, for Max Fisher, by special arrangement with Sid Grauman, is staging a fiesta as a compliment to the far-famed outlaw of Merrie England at his Club Royale on Washington Boulevard. It will be known as "Robin Hood Night" at the wayside tavern.

A notable feature of the evening's entertainment will be the appearance of principals in "Robin Hood" who are taking part in the Nottingham Castle pageant at Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian Theater. These performers will wear the original costumes used in filming the famous photodrama and the Club Royale has arranged a special program for the banquet to be tendered the theater magnate.

STUDENTS TO RALLY ON CAMPUS AT U.S.C.

Several hundred students are expected to attend the great rally which is being planned for Thursday night at the University of Southern California, in preparation for the game with Stanford University next Saturday afternoon at Palo Alto.

About 300 of the students are going north on the special train which will leave here Friday afternoon, and as a result of this the rally has been put one day ahead of the regular schedule. The great Trojan band of 100 pieces, which made such a sensational debut at the U.S.C.-California game a few weeks ago, is to have one section of the train, as it is going north en masse.

PACE IS HASTENED AT THE ORPHEUM

The good ship Orpheum's log showed her doing a spanking pace yesterday, with the spotlight shining bright on the niftiest cargo she has carried in many a long day, and with no snags or foul weather gumming up the trip.

So with a yo-heave-ho and a bottle of ginger ale, we will now drop highbrow metaphor for the good old lingo. The whole show is a sweep, with every act a headline contender, and the acts in opening and closing spots there only because no room for them elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Washburn, late of the movies, won an applause in a snappy little satire by Monte Bell, entitled, "Just An Advertised," proving with droll whimsicality, but without the slightest hint of reverence just how weary we might become of unalloyed bliss.

The story centers around a man who finds himself in heaven. At least he thinks he is in heaven, until the end, when—but don't let me spoil it for you. The lines sparkle with epigram, which it's a shame not to have room to print here.

The stars, even after these years of absence from the stage, put over every point in skillful fashion, and give a fine account of themselves in impressing not only with good looks, good breeding and other attributes of class, but with real dramatic distinction. Bryant Washburn plays with finesse, and Mabel Washburn is a beauty, who holds the audience in the palm of her small hand.

Pity we haven't some more space for Karyl Norman again this week, for he deserves highest praise on account of new numbers and costumes. He continues to lure them to fetch him out for a speech.

The rompings and patter of Ralph Bevan and Beatrice Flint page the laughs from everybody—cliffdwellers to first-row flappers. They are a riot, with really smart talk, and their travesty stepping is a pippin off the top of the barrel.

And while we're broadcasting the bouquets, don't let's forget Harry Watson's wow as "The Young Kid Battling Dugan," and in the telephone booth. This is vintage stuff, truly, but improves with age.

"Working for the Railroad," done by Glenn and Jenkins in blackface, reveals two unctuous colored boys, with the humor, kidding and dancing just right and in character. Must have acquired this material off the New Orleans levees.

High on the bill, but deserving a brighter spot are Fannie Simpson and Earl Dean. These are vaudeville face cards, with their comic dancing and talk. Fannie Simpson is that rare thing, a real comedienne.

Nigger heaven loved its harp yesterday, and whistled right along with Harpist Lo Rocca. In fact, he had us all going.

DE MILLE'S "CLARENCE"

ENTERTAINING VERSION OF SMART STAGE PLAY

By Edwin Schallert

Lots of science, no little art, a flapper, a saxophone and Wallace Reid are the ingredients which go to make a rather pleasant picture prescription for the indigoes this week at Grauman's Theater. Go there, if you want to be lightly entertained by William De Mille's version of "Clarence," which isn't just the same thing as the stage play "Clarence," but which amounts to something almost, if not quite, as delightful.

The science part is the theme of the picture, discipline and harmony; the art, that of Mr. De Mille; the flapper, May McAvoy; the saxophone, presumably Wallie's, as we know that he has one, and Reid himself is Clarence. That's one of the best parts of the whole thing, Reid's performance during the first four reels. After that he takes a little topple, but it doesn't destroy the generally good effect.

Of course, "Clarence" on the stage was much cleverer as a satire on the inefficiency of the idle rich than it is on the screen. It had all the brisk Booth Tarkington dialogue. We didn't bother with digressions to explain the logic of Clarence's attainment or his post as doctor for disjointed dispositions.

But at that, I don't recall that any episode was lacking in interest, even though occasionally deficient in pungency. To me less is the fault of a good many incidents.

Anyway, it is a satisfaction to see the story played in a resilient fashion by the members of the cast. They succeed in getting over quite as much of its happy content, and a little more, perhaps, than does the itinerant stage organization.

Miss McAvoy, in particular, should have a big bouquet of American beauties or something for her zephyrous—also sulphurous—little flapper. She's a veritable little demon of adolescent determination. We always have been rather partial to her talents, but this picture does her bright special credit. I think really hers is in even brightness the best portrait in the production.

The other young un—that is the Bobby Wheeler of Robert Agnew, is also pleasingly played, although hardly with enough sophistication.

Kathlyn Williams never misses being convincingly dramatic. She is all of that again as the mother, Agnes Ayres prays very nicely and singsongily the important role of the Secretary. Ed Martindel adds to his prominence by a very real interpretation as the father. Adolphe Menjou and Dorothy Gordon may be gently applauded. And as before said, Wallie Reid, especially in the Clarence hornrima, frolics in with the classically classic honors.

At last—a Sheik satire. Or did we have one ere this. Anyway, Christie's "Son of the Sheik" has a lot of good burlesquy humor, and is played with gusto by the costumed troupers of the gayety brigade.

As Lloyd Lead

Word from the East is that Pathe have just about decided to confer on Johnna Ralston the honor of being haloed Lloyd's next leading lady "Job," as she is called around the studio, has lots of zip, and looks like the real class on the screen. She has been appearing in Paul Parrot's comedies, but, of course, what Lloyd says goes, and so she'll have to leave her present starring partner.

Loew Theater Transferred

The Loew Theater in Long Beach has been sold by Ackerman & Harris to Johnson and Fay, who will continue the present policy of vaudeville and pictures. The deal was closed yesterday. W. J. Johnson has been operating the Palace Theater in the beach city.

Bull Has Big Cast

Bull Montana has what might be called a strong cast in his new picture, "Rob 'Em Good," and he, himself, promises to be a knockout.

The players include "Chuck" Reisner, who portrays the role of King Richard; Dot Farley, who is Lady Marian; Sidney Dalbrook, as Sir Guy of Gisbourne; James Quinn, as Prince John; Bill Elmer as Little John, and "Spike" Robinson and Vincent Bryant as the henchmen of Prince John.

MISFORTUNES COME THREE AT A TIME

Last week they had a regular calamity day with William A. Seiter Company shooting "The Little Church Around the Corner" at the Warner Brothers' studio. First, Director Seiter appeared on the set with a brand new cold and an ample headache for accompaniment. Then Assistant Frank Kingsley fell from a twenty-foot platform, spraining an ankle and wrenching his back. Now he is wearing a crutch.

"It always comes in threes," remarked Seiter, "so get the emergency chest ready, somebody's sure to get hurt."

Half an hour later Homer Scott, the cameraman, tripped over a floor cable and crashed into a live wire switchboard which gave him a nasty burn on the wrist, but fortunately it was not his "crank hand," so he wears the left arm in a bandage and apparently the unwelcome jinx is past.

SLEEPS; SHOPS; SHOWS!

PAT LIKED THAT!

Winston Miller, 12-year-old brother of Patsy Ruth Miller, Goldwyn ingenue, is a picture actor now. Winston has been engaged by Universal for a part in "The Power of a Lie." It is the boy's first role, but he feels confident of success. "Acting can't be very hard," he explained, "Pat gets away with it."

FLASHES

TRIUMPH IN SPARKLING NEW ROLE; LADY BILLY

By Grace Kingsley

Of course, I mean Mitzi.

You'll all rush around and buy your tickets. Still the professional reviewer has to earn his bread and butter and bevo, so she has to tear herself away at the end of the first act of "Lady Billy." Mitzi's new piece, to write something about it at all, whether you read it or not.

It doesn't, of course, matter a hang whether said reviewer says "Lady Billy" is good or bad, but as a matter of fact "Lady Billy" is good. Or at any rate that little witch of a Mitzi makes us think it is.

Anyway, good or bad, you know you'd go to see Mitzi whatever she played from Camille to Katzenjammer. And when she wears the Fauntleroy scenery—oh, there's just no holding you, that's all.

Mitzi is more bubbling, more delightful, more hugable, squeezeable, hold-on-his-knees-able, than ever. Or, maybe it's because it has been so long since we saw her that it only seems she is more adorable. She romps, and warbles and pouts and ad libs bits of self-made business into the show, just as of yore.

"Lady Billy"—if you'll pause to listen a minute—is all about an insolvent countess with a big castle on her hands, and no source of revenue except an ancestral, thread-bare old echo and an undependable ghost.

Everybody who comes to visit the castle leaves money for the poor, on account of said ghostly assets; but a bombardment busts the echo rock, so there's nothing left for Lady Billy except to come to America and sing for her supper. Lady Billy, being in poverty-stricken overalls at the beginning, is mistaken for a boy, and travels through two acts incognito. Then, when about to lose the American she has fallen in love with, and becoming involved in a jealous row with a Spaniard, she lets down her back hair and bids fate do her worst!

Oh, yes, there really is a capital story, all musical comedy tradition to the contrary notwithstanding. Zelda Sears wrote the book and lyrics, and did a good job of it, even for her. Strange to say, the words are worth listening to in all the songs. Harold Levey's music is not only tuneful and fascinating but distinctive. And praise be there's not a single ode to the great Joes Jazz! Likewise there is a male chorus, which can sing.

A capital cast unwinds the theme for you. A cast that can sing as well as comedy. Mark Smith hacks a monogram for himself in your memory as the faithful old butler, and you won't forget his truly comic "The Worm's Revenge." Also there is the lady teaser, Boyd Marshall, with his tragedy baritone and his matinee idol personality.

Fan Burke, too, claims a word as Anastasia Kosiankowsky, while Edward Ciannelli has only to turn on the native Latin fireworks to make a delightful Senor Manuel. He has a voice, and gives you a chance to hear him in a number of songs.

"SILVER WINGS" STORY OF MOTHER LOVE

The sorrows and the joys of the mother picture never cease, and with Mary Carr of "Over the Hill" fame, appearing in "Silver Wings," they are being unfolded poignantly once again this week at Loew's State Theater. If mother pictures still hold their popularity, and mayhap they still do, this particular one should reach and touch the feelings of the beholders.

Of course, we've had somewhat the same story in "Over the Hill" and "The Old Nest," but in some ways "Silver Wings" seems more sincere than either of the others, although it is by no means as sorrowful as "Over the Hill." I think that it is Mary Carr's acting which is responsible for the somewhat deeper feelings, because as a play "Silver Wings" resorts to some rather commonplace tricks of plot.

What you like about the feature are the human touches (some of them very unhuman perhaps) that show the love of the mother for the wayward son as something more vital than her love even for her other children. The little episode, too, where the grandchild appears before her brings the tears with its pathos. So does the reconciliation between the brothers, and the meeting between the mother and her lazy, spendthrift boy.

Maybe there are not the theatrical thrills that there were in "Over the Hill" in this new picture, but somehow it seems to me just a little bit more real. And this I believe I must attribute to something intangible and wonderful in the personality of Mary Carr, which is like the depth and the riches of mother love itself. And, perhaps, really is just that.

"FAST PONIES" SEEN ON BURBANK STAGE

It's a speedy show at the Burbank this week—"Fast Ponies" is its name—and it has all the glamour and excitement of the race track. The latest Hi Jinks Revue's musical comedy show is a winner. There is a plot which has to do with a couple of gamblers who decide to clean up at the races, and who find that they themselves are systematically being vacuumed.

Lee Bud Harrison, the blackface comedian, and George Clark, Hebrew comic, are the duo of gamblers who decide that the track will make their fortune. Just how their supposition works out furnishes the principal source of amusement.

The production, carefully staged by Walter Vap, who also takes a prominent part in the cast, is peppy and furnishes no dull moments. Dolly Daye, Mae McCrea, Ben Dix, George Crump, George Kemper, Marie Celestine and other favorites lead the musical numbers. The beauty chorus is captivating in a number of dance numbers.

Comedian and Athlete Hits at Hillstreet

It's a toss-up this week, folks, between Snowy Baker, the athlete from Australia, and Senator Ford from Michigan. Speaking of the new Hillstreet bill, of course. And of the two, it seems, the audience would like to have a little more of the senator.

The senator's remarks are familiar to those who visited the Orpheum a week or two ago. His line hasn't changed any but it is good, and it is worth seeing and hearing again.

As for Snowy Baker, he is more or less familiar to us through his work in the films and his reputation. You will be interested in this gentleman, who cracks twenty-four-foot whips with exceeding skill and ease, boxes like a champ, and fences with the best of them. There is but one of his accomplishments that he does not display to us in person—his swimming ability—but that is shown on the screen, so it's all right.

Coming as rather a surprise from one apparently so young, the voice of Vincent O'Donnell, billed "The Miniature McCormack," offers a pleasant change from the ordinary. Although the young man cannot actually be termed a McCormack, his vocalizing has its quality and is pleasing to listen to.

Swartz and Clifford offer some of the usual nonsense patter and late songs and seem to get across fine; the Girton Girls present something novel in the way of a cycling act; and the Koroli Brothers entertain with feats of balancing.

Dustin Farnum in the screen feature, "Oathbound," makes good use of his famed speed-boat, Miss Los Angeles II, and a lot of serial devices, with the result that until the last half reel or so of film the audience is in absolute ignorance as to the identity of the villian. "Oathbound" doesn't register much in the drama column, but as entertainment it is quite sufficient.

In "The Man of the Ages," the fifth chapter of the Buffalo Bill chapter play, action is confined chiefly to events in our national history, the assassination of Lincoln being the climax of the episodes.

Carey's "Kick Back" Shows at the Alhambra

For excitement, border romance and one of the best staged barroom fights you ever saw, you want to view "The Kick Back," which isn't a football story at all, but Harry Carey's first Robertson-Cole production showing at the Alhambra this week. In other words, if you want real western drammer, "The Kick Back" is "it."

There was a time when the sight of the villain calmly drinking buttermilk or soda pop in the "pool hall" would cause considerable amusement, but as the present-day humorists say, "them days is gone forever." From all indications, a villain these days, can evolve just as deadly and villainous deeds with a quart of buttermilk under his belt as ever he could under the influence of the deadliest dago red.

And speaking of villains, Henry B. Walthall is right there in that capacity. To see him on the Alhambra screen with that sinister look in his eye you would never think for a moment that Henry had ever done anything else. There's but one objection. He has so many henchmen to do his work that there is very little opportunity to see what the real Walthall could do in the villainy line if once he had a chance.

Outside of the villain and Harry, there's just one character left that amounts to very much, and that is the girl. In "The Kick Back" she's Ethel Grey Terry, waitress in the best restaurant in town, and fiancee of Harry Bedding, the hero.

The story, which is very well told, deals with the attempts of the villain to double-cross the hero in order to get the hero out of the way so he can jump the claim and get the only water hole on the great American desert. Of course, he doesn't do it, so that's all right.

Pasadena Woman Angered at Bail Money

Jailed as Speeder on Wager With Husband

Much Coaxing Required by Contrite Spouse

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Nov. 6.—After accepting a ten-day jail sentence for speed, in lieu of a fine, to win a bet from her husband, Mrs. Lulu Mangold, 207 North Pasadena avenue, refused today to leave her cell when her fine was paid by her contrite spouse.

She insisted that she would serve the balance of her sentence as a matter of principle, but the authorities refused to allow her to do so after her fine was paid. It took the combined persuasion of jail officials and her husband to induce her to leave, which she finally did, protesting.

Mrs. Mangold was arrested on Friday for traveling thirty-one miles an hour on Orange Grove avenue. Arraigned before Justice Dunham this morning, she declared that after paying Federal and State licenses, buying tires, oil and gasoline, she couldn't afford the $10 fine levied by the judge.

She was placed in a cell with Nora Hall, held there on a burglary charge after having been transferred from the County Jail for excessive turbulence. When three-quarters of an of her sentence had been served Mr. Mangold dashed to the rescue and paid his wife's fine. It developed then that her acceptance of the jail sentence was due to a bet between them.

Although the winner of the wager, Mrs. Mangold wanted to stay with her cellmate for the full sentence, purely as a matter of principle. She was dissuaded by her husband's pleading and left with all the honors.

McNab Suit Against Clara Stocker to be Tried in Bay City

The trial of the suit instigated by Gavin McNab, prominent San Francisco lawyer, against Clara Baldwin Stocker to recover $77,466.61 for professional services, which was filed in Los Angeles county, has been transferred to the northern city for trial. The change of venue asked for by Mr. McNab was granted by Judge Crail yesterday after a stipulation had been filed.

Mrs. Stocker denies that any such sum is due Mr. McNab from her. She stated that Mr. McNab was employed by her as attorney and confidential legal and business adviser and agent, particularly relating to sales and collections of personal property, investments and loans and collections of dividends.

San Pedro Woman, Seeking Divorce, Admits Plaintive Letter to "Darling Daddy"

An intercepted letter to her "darling daddy," may cost Winifred M. Burgess the verdict in her suit for divorce against Sidney Burgess of San Pedro, for hubby and daddy were two different persons, it developed yesterday in Judge Summerfield's court.

Mrs. Burgess charges cruelty in her suit. Attorney Baldwin, for the defense, introduced a letter which Mrs. Burgess admitted she had written. The letter, in part, follows:

"My Darling Daddy—Oh, what a shock I had! I would give almost anything I possess if I could only come down to you. All night I could see my daddy laying white and still on a hospital cot with his head all bandaged up and groaning and calling for his baby. Oh, it is so hard for me to stay here and still it would be worse for me to come.

"Is there anything I can do for you here? I am so afraid, dear, you won't understand why I don't throw up everything here and come to you. You know I would. It is just tearing my heart out of me. Rest good now, daddy darling, and try to think that I am right there by your side, because I really am. I love, I love you, daddy, darling boy.

"Please, baby, do not let a tear come to your eye. It is torture, I know. If there ever was a hell, it is on earth. I love you, daddy, and you need me, but be brave. Please do not die, for it would kill me."

The letter was signed "Your Baby."

Burgess was ordered to pay his wife $30 a month pending the divorce suit. He announced that he would file a cross-complaint on the strength of the letter, asking that the divorce be given to him.

MUST FACE HIS ACCUSERS

Arizona Man, Who Posed as Clairvoyant in Prescott, to be Returned There for Trial

William E. Garland, a stolid, burgher-looking party who is wanted in Arizona as a fugitive from justice, will be returned to Phoenix today to answer an indictment charging him with using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Garland, while operating in his private parlors over the St. Regis Hotel in Prescott, is said to have posed as Prof. Masters, the Master Mind, clairvoyant, psahychic, etc.

It is stated in the indictment that Garland, or Masters, promised entirely too much to his patrons, among whom was Maude W. Simonds of Salem, Or. The representations asserted to have been made in a letter to that lady formed the basis of the Federal charge against the defendant.

Garland, it is said, offered to tell all about the past, present and future, could locate mines and treasures, find absent people, tell whom the patron should marry, locate oil wells, knew all about law, love and marriage, with an intimate knowledge of divorces, what business to go into, and how to cause a speedy marriage with the one of your choice.

But it is evident that one of the promises made by the professor was too much for the recipient of the Oregon letter to believe. Among other things that he would do if the proper amount of silver or its equivalent was placed in his hands, was that he could tell whether a wife, husband or sweetheart was true to the man or woman with the coin. That broke the professional back of "Prof. Masters," for it was figured out that such information was beyond his occult powers.

It was quite evident that "Prof. Masters" had not taken his own advice about how to get rich, for he could not furnish bond before Commissioner Long, saying he had spent his money burying his mother and sister.

INVESTORS WILL GET CASH BACK

Approximately $640,000 will be returned to stockholders who invested in the Rellimeo Film Syndicate, a venture promoted by Dr. Orlando E. Miller of Los Angeles, as a result of an order yesterday by the State Corporation Department. The order directed that the money be returned to stockholders upon demand because of the failure of the company to meet the provisions of its permit.

The estimate of $640,000 was made by the Los Angeles Better Business Bureau yesterday. Dr. Miller's permit to sell stock, it was said, provided that the money subscribed, less 20 per cent for promotion of the enterprise, was to be deposited in escrow in a local bank, the escrow not to be released until the funds totaled $1,000,000 with a time limit of August, 10, last.

CITE WIFE ON DIVORCE CASE

On the grounds that she was unable to understand the questions asked her, Mrs. Ethel M. Jackson explained her refusal to sign a deposition in divorce proceedings yesterday after she had been ordered to appear before Judge Crail to show cause for not signing it.

She also advanced ill health as a plea. The court ordered her to sign the deposition, which is to be used in the trial of Mrs. Jackson's action against her husband, Harry M. Jackson, contractor. She charges desertion on February 5, last.

Jackson left her in possession of a home and furniture at 939 South Ardmore street, valued at $10,000. After the separation Mrs. Jackson charges that he called upon her and threatened to "put her in the gutter where she belonged," and to "throw her out of the house and sell the furniture."

Deed to Burns Home Site Gets Court Airing

A demurrer to the complaint of Marguerite A. Graham against Mrs. Adeline Burns was off the calendar of Judge Crail's court yesterday. The complaint sought to set aside a deed to the home site of the late Matthew P. Burns whose will was recently broken by a jury in Judge Rive's court.

Mrs. Graham, a sister of Mr. Burns, contended that at the time the deed was given to Mrs. Burns her husband was incompetent. Mrs. Burns is the mother of Gloria Swanson, motion picture actress. If the will had been sustained Mrs. Burns would have received the bulk of Mr. Burns' $100,000 estate. She will now get half of the community property.

KILLED WIFE BECAUSE OF HER POPULARITY

POLICEMAN TESTIFIES ACCUSED MURDERER GAVE REASON FOR ACT

"She had too many men hanging around her," is the way John Cargano explained why he shot and killed his wife, according to Patrolman Craig yesterday in Justice Baird's court. Cargano is said to have made a statement to the officers shortly after the shooting.

Cargano was held to answer on a charge of murder of his wife, Carlotta Cargano. He was lodged in the County Jail without bail.

HUBBY LOAFED; ASSERTS WIFE

In a note to his wife in which he confessed that he is the "victim of belated wild oats," Leo Berry stated that "a man never has any sense until he is 40 years old," according to testimony given by the wife in Judge Toland's court, where she is seeking a divorce.

Mrs. Berry will be awarded a decree, the court indicated, when she proves that she has resided here for a sufficient period to conform to the State requirements.

Mrs. Berry testified that her husband has not worked since he came here from Cincinnati. The real reason he did not work, Mrs. Berry said, was to make it so unpleasant for her that she would be forced to desert him.

Attorney David Sallee, testifying in behalf of the wife, declared that Berry told him he did not intend to work and that he was drunk half the time.

In his message to his wife, Mr. Berry said he had not mixed with the right men.

"I was the victim of belated wild oats," he said, adding that now he had found himself as "the result of self-analysis."

"If you want to do a big thing and a thing worth while," he wrote further, "help me up again. I have been like a six-cylinder car trying to go up hill with only three cylinders working," he concluded.

Another Jail Required for Bootleggers

The Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Orange county jails having become so thickly populated with bootleggers that their legs, it is related, are sticking out of the windows, it has become necessary for the local Federal Court to designate another place for their confinement, and Riverside county has been so named. The standing-room capacity of the three first-named jails has been exhausted.

With the Riverside institution filled, it will be necessary to utilize the Imperial and San Diego county jails later on.

CIGARETTE FAST IS UNREWARDED

Chauffeur's Suit for $500 Against Employer Dismissed

To please his employer, Mrs. Alice E. Conklin, elderly and wealthy, and also with the hope of winning $500, Charles E. Fackrell agreed to stop smoking cigarettes. When Mrs. Conklin failed to pay him him the reward, Mr. Fackrell, employed by her as chauffeur, brought suit.

The case was called in Presiding Judge Willis's court yesterday and dismissed when Mr. Fackrell failed to appear and prosecute it.

In her answer Mrs. Conklin denied the verbal agreement. She contended that Mr. Fackrell had not stopped smoking, as she was informed. Furthermore, she set up that the terms of the purported agreement could not be legally carried out in less than a year.

ONE WET VOTE GOES TO JAIL

Plea That Sentence be Postponed Falls on Deaf Ears

Judge Bledsoe cut off one "wet" vote to be cast to-day when he refused to give John W. Morgan, who pleaded guilty to a violation of the liquor laws a stay of execution to give him a chance to vote. Morgan was anxious to vote for Woolwine. The Court denied the prayer of the accused bootlegger, saying that a man who had no more regard for the government and its laws than he had shown ought not to be allowed to vote.

Morgan was given four months in the county jail at Riverside and fined $250. His partner, Russell Ward, was given four months in the same place. The Court added something on account of the fact that both men had refused to plead guilty until the last moment. "You knew you were guilty," said the court.

NUN'S DECISION SAVES PUPILS

LONG BEACH, Nov. 6.—Exceptional coolness on the part of Sister Madonna of the St. Anthony Parochial School and her ability to act quickly and effectively in an emergency, probably averted a panic among the 700 children at the school, with a consequent loss of life.

Shortly after 1 p.m. today, Sister Madonna discovered smoke issuing from behind the blackboard in one of the school rooms. A hasty examination revealed that a fire had broken out behind the board and was making rapid headway along the wall.

Without a moment's hesitation, Sister Madonna left the room and notified the other teachers in the building of the fire. The children were marshaled into line and marched out of the building as if on parade. None of them learned of the fire until they were in the school yard.

Firemen extinguished the blaze in a short time with little property loss. As a result of the fire, it was announced by officials of the school that a new fireproof structure would be erected at once to house the parochial school. The school is at Sixth street and Olive avenue.

Second Street Terminal Plans Again Upheld

Another victory for the Second street tunnel improvement was scored yesterday, in the United States District Court.

A bill was brought by Willard H. and Charles W. Stimson against Ned T. Powell, Treasurer of the city of Los Angeles, and the city to restrain Powell from issuing a bond for $7306.05, executed on the property of the defendants, within the Second street tunnel assessment district. Judge Bledsoe dismissed the bill.

It was asserted that there was a want of equity in the proceedings, that there was want of jurisdiction, and that the facts stated in the complaint did not constitute a cause of action.

An assignment of error was filed by counsel for the plaintiffs, and the statement made that the case would be carried to the United States Supreme Court.

"Missing Man" Returns Safely After "Holiday"

When Woestman did not return his wife concluded that he had met with foul play and made out a missing report last Sunday at Central Police Station.

FIGHT REMOVAL OF TRAFFIC REGULATOR

Additional protests were received by the City Council yesterday against the removal of the "magic circle," or traffic regulator, at Wilshire Boulevard and Western avenue, but these communications were ordered filed, the Councilmen saying: "Too late," as the circle had already been removed.

Councilmen Mallard and Sparks said that traffic had been speeded up at the intersection since the removal of the circle and that condition there had improved. This statement was challeged by President Criswell, who voted against the order made several weeks ago instructing the city workmen to remove the circle.
